A college degree can make a big difference in your lifetime earnings, but college is also a unique opportunity to try new things and challenge your mind. It is not just with academics but new skills, habits and experiences.

Challenge

Watch this video “8 Habits of Highly Successful Students” by Thomas Frank. Choose one or two skills you’d like to build and get going!

I want more...

Cultivate a forward-thinking attitude. Learn the basic skills of adulting along with your new professional skills. Become solution oriented so that when a problem comes up, you can work through it.

Take responsibility for your future and take pride in what you learn and what you accomplish.