Re: Change of Name for the Foreign Language Department
From: Foreign Language Department

Overview: This Department proposes to change its name to "Department of World Languages and Literatures."

- Rationale:
1. The languages taught by this Department are no longer foreign in the United States. In fact, one of the languages taught, Spanish, is spoken by forty million of its citizens.
 2. During its recent review of the program offered by the Foreign Language Department, NCATE stated that the preferred name of such departments was that of Department of World Languages.
