Eiza
Acoustic Soul

"Eiza is one of the best and sexiest live performers I've seen in a long while." Walter Yetnikoff, CEO, Commotion Records.
"She has the pipes to spare on her independently released 'Eiza,' which sounds like a blend of Joni Mitchell and Paula Cole. The songs are catchy, melodic and radio friendly." The Post and Courier, Charleston, SC. www.eizamusic.com

Led by coordinator of jazz studies area Jamie Began, the group features alumni Jonathan Blanck on tenor saxophone, Jamie Began on guitar, alumni/faculty Chris DeAngelis on bass and alumni Tim Walsh on drums.

Don Lowe is a singer/songwriter who explores the world around him with arcane songs that are at turns witty, profane, sad, and sometimes downright silly. Don has opened for Little Toby Walker and David Jacob Strains, and he has been featured at the famed Town Crier in Pawling, NY in addition to a variety of other venues throughout Connecticut and New York. A former actor, he now teaches writing at WCSU and NCC.
