Both sunny and soulful, Gelman sang a series of original songs, many of which are sure to become classics. Her original song "Some People" ought to generate its own slew of covers. It is a classic in the making, capturing the essence of America and the globe's current "Gilded Age", with its chorus that "some people are so poor...all they have is money".

Christian Mortera

Opening Act: Dear Samson

Christian is a singer-songwriter from Newtown, CT who is also a student at WCSU studying music and audio productions. His genre is a mix of soul, jazz, R&B, pop and his influences range from Allen Stone, Amy Winehouse, Brian McKnight to the old greats like Donny Hathaway, Marvin Gaye, Tower of Power & Bobby Caldwell. He wants his music to impact those listening and have them feel "a stirring in their soul".

P.I.B.E. is a group of 14-16 students - both music and non-music majors - who have performed the rich A Cappella sounds extensively on and around campus. Play It By Ear has a great following on campus and voices that will surely have you wanting more. Come check them out this Thursday!
