University Governance

Western Connecticut State University embraces a commitment to shared governance to support open dialogue, input from all parties, and adequate deliberation of all decisions affecting the University. Members of AAUP, SUOAF, and WCSU Administration endorse the description offered in the CSU-AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement:

Collegiality in academic governance...can best be accomplished through Senates selected by representatives of the appropriate university constituencies in accordance with each institution's constitution and tradition. Matters of concern to the Senate include: (a) curriculum policy and curricular structure, (b) requirements for degrees and granting of degrees, (c) policies for recruitment, admission and retention of students, (d) academic policies relating to students, and (e) other matters of campus concern.

In support of these goals, a robust set of Senate committees contribute to decision-making processes at WCSU. The bylaws to all such committees are included in this section.

In addition to all committees that flow from the University Senate, school-level committee bylaws are included here for convenience and as a comprehensive record of all university governance.

- A. To run elections every Spring and Fall to fill those vacancies which occur on University committees. Spring Election procedures will be initiated at the beginning of the Spring term. Spring elections will be completed by the last day in April. Fall elections will be held as appropriate to fill committee vacancies, and will be completed by the last day in November.
- B. To run special elections as requested by the University Senate President.

II. Areas of Responsibility

- A. To survey the university community for willingness to serve on the various committees.
- B. To determine eligibility of people willing to serve on specific committees.
- C. To prepare, distribute, collect, and process ballots at the various stages of the nomination and election process.
- D. To coordinate with University administration in updating the Senate roster.

III. Membership

- A. Total membership: 3
- B. University Senate Vice President and two (2) teaching faculty members elected by the Senate for overlapping two-year terms.

IV. Conduct of Business

A. Meetings

- 1. The first meeting of each academic year shall be convened as the need arises by the previous year's chairperson if that individual still serves on the committee. In his/her absence, the President of the University Senate will designate a committee member to convene the committee.
- 2. A second meeting in the Spring will be convened by the committee chairperson no later than the last week in February to ensure appropriate time for willingness to serve, elections, review of results, and finalization of committee formation. As stated in 1A, this process must be completed by the last day of April.
- 3. A quorum consists of two members.
- 4. Meetings may be conducted electronically.

B. Officers

- 1. The committee chairperson shall be elected at the first meeting of the next academic year following the Spring election.

C. Reports

- 1. Committee records and reports from the current and previous academic years are maintained on file with the committee chair. The tallies from each stage of the election are kept, and ballots are destroyed.

2. At the conclusion of each election, results are sent to the University Senate President, the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs, and are distributed to the general faculty.
3. The Committee will generate an annual report for submission to the University Senate each year.

D. Amendments

1. These Bylaws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present at any regularly scheduled meeting at which there is a quorum, and the subsequent approval of the amendment(s) by the University Senate, and the President of the University.

E. Procedures for elections

1. In order to run elections, the Committee must be provided by the University Senate with the membership rules for each committee. Any question about the interpretation of these rules will be settled by the University Senate President.
2. Election requests and instructions for special elections and referenda may come from the University Senate President.
3. The Committee shall conduct elections in the following manner:
 - a. A notice shall be circulated to all faculty members informing them of an approaching election. If the Faculty Handbook does not contain a description of the function of any committee for which elections are to be held, then the Nominations and Elections Committee shall publicize such committee's function;
 - b. There shall be no distinction in rank and tenure status of faculty for eligibility for committee service, with the exception of any committee in whose establishment rank and tenure were expressly stated to be a requirement for membership.
 - c. The election shall be conducted in three steps:
 - a. The Committee shall first request faculty members inform them of those committees on which they are interested in serving. See Step 1, Willingness to Serve.
 - b. For those committees where the number of candidates is more than double the elective vacancies, the committee shall hold a preferential primary. In each such case, voters may select no more than twice as many candidates as there are elective vacancies. See Step 2, First Ballot.
 - c. For each committee to which members are to be elected, the Committee shall provide the faculty with a final list of candidates containing approximately twice as many candidates for each committee as there are elective vacancies, if possible.

Step 1 Willingness to Serve (not an election)

The purpose of this stage is to find who is willing to serve on which committee.

Step 2 First Ballot (vote from willingness to serve candidates)

This ballot determines the composition of a committee, unless, perhaps, there is a tie. This vote must contain the names of the delegates from the willingness to serve and an abstain elective. This determination is made as follows: The person (or persons, in the case of positions voted for as a group) with the highest number of votes is the winner.

Step 3 Runoff Ballot

This ballot determines the composition of a committee in the case of a tie. The person with the highest number of votes in the runoff election is the winner.

Special case a

If the runoff ballot contains another tie, there are two options:

1. One person may accede to the other,
2. If no one accedes, the winner can be determined by the flip of a coin by the Nomination & Elections Committee.

F. Filling Vacancies

1. A vacancy arising in an elective position on any committee shall be filled by the available candidate with the next highest number of votes in the previous Spring/Fall election. The balance of the vacant term shall be filled by election at the next regular election.
2. If it is necessary for a committee with a vacancy to meet prior to the completion of the elections process, and committee members feel the vacancy should be filled because it cannot meet quorum, then the Senate President may appoint interim committee members to serve until an election is held.
3. Appointed faculty will serve only until the completion of the next regularly scheduled election.

- 4. Decisions of the committee shall be made by majority vote of those members present.
- 5. When a committee member is absent from a meeting which presents a candidate's file for discussion, that member shall not vote in the recommendation on the candidate
- 6. In the event of a "tie vote" on a candidate, the committee shall discuss that candidate's file at a subsequent meeting and vote again. A second "tie vote” result shall represent a negative recommendation since a positive recommendation is based on a majority vote. (See also E.1. below)

7. Scheduling committee meetings for the purpose of discussing candidacies shall allow for a final meeting to conduct any necessary reconsiderations of the candidates.
8. When the Chair of the Promotion and Tenure Committee communicates in writing to anyone outside the committee regarding committee business, copies of the communication shall be given to all members of the committee.

B. Officers

1. The chairperson for the following year shall be elected by a majority vote at the May meeting of each year, after the election of new members.

D. Amendments

These Bylaws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present at any regularly scheduled meeting at which there is a quorum and with the approval of the University Senate and the University President.

E. Procedures and Considerations

1. Any member of the Committee who has participated in a recommendation (e.g., DEC) which is before the committee shall not vote again on the recommendation and shall not participate in the discussion on the recommendation unless asked to do so by other committee members. The only exception to this shall be a “tie vote” caused by the member not voting. Following such a “tie vote” the member, if present, shall vote on the recommendation (see also A.6. above). Members do not function as advocates for their schools or departments.
2. The University President or designee shall make available to the committee the personnel files and all materials submitted to and considered by the DEC and the Dean of those candidates to be evaluated.
3. If the committee wishes to interview a candidate being considered for tenure or promotion or others on matters relevant to the consideration, the committee may request such an interview. If someone other than the affected candidate is called before the committee, the candidate must be informed in writing prior to the meeting and shall have the right to participate in the interview. Such an interview is not an adversarial situation.

4. If the candidate being considered wishes, they may appear before the committee, alone, or with others of their choice. All persons coming before the committee, at the request of the candidate, must speak from a prepared text and must leave a signed and dated copy of the text with the committee. (Additional information can be submitted within 48 hours of the appearance). Such a hearing is not an adversarial situation. Moreover, if the candidate wishes to appear before the committee prior to its recommendation, the candidate must inform the committee chairperson no later than January 15th, or if it is a tenure consideration in the Fall semester, no later than November 17, to facilitate scheduling.
5. The criterion used by the committee in its evaluations and recommendations of candidates shall be the quality of activity, including keeping current in one's field, within each of the categories listed in Article 4.11.9 (for teaching faculty), Article 8.3.1 (for librarians), Article 7.3.1 (for Counselors), Article 6.8 (for Coaches), and Article 6.9 (for Non-Instructional Athletic Trainers) in the AAUP contract. The committee shall weigh these categories in the order listed. Any special conditions in the candidate's letter of appointment or subsequent extensions or modifications and the expectations for tenure and promotion established by the candidate's department in its bylaws shall also be considered.
6. The committee shall make a recommendation to the Provost after considering all previously submitted material and recommendations. In addition to the Dean's recommendation, the only material not seen by the DEC that the committee will consider is additional information with supporting evidence, given to the committee if the candidate appears before the committee. All materials will be transmitted to the Provost for their consideration.
7. A copy of the committee's recommendation shall be sent to the candidate at the time that the committee sends its recommendations to the Provost.
8. In accordance with bylaws approved by the University President and the University Senate, the committee shall rank the candidates for promotion using the following two categories: Recommended, and Not Recommended. In the event of a unanimous vote in the recommended category, the committee shall so inform the Provost and the candidate. The standard statement (see Appendix A) will be sent to each candidate each year by the committee.
9. In accordance with bylaws approved by the University President and the University Senate, the Promotion and Tenure Committee ranks the candidates for promotion using the following two categories: Recommended and Not Recommended. In the event of a unanimous vote in the Recommended category, the Committee shall so inform Provost and the candidate. The standard statement (see Appendix A) will be sent to each candidate each year by the committee.
10. In addition to the standard statements of Appendix A of these bylaws, and using the formats in the aforementioned Appendix, the committee shall give feedback on its decisions to candidates who are not recommended for:
 - a. tenure, or
 - b. promotion.

- F. In the event that members are replaced mid-term and this results in more than five members up for re-election, the committee shall choose the appropriate number of members by lot and request the University Senate President to extend the terms of those members by one year to restore the system to five and four.

Strategic Planning Process

I. Definition and Recognition of Base Units

A base unit, a term used for institutional strategic planning purposes only in the process monitored by the University Planning and Budgeting Committee, is defined as the smallest unit, which receives any support from the University and is, therefore, included in the strategic planning process. The following are base units:

- A. Academic Departments;
- B. Subdivisions of Student Affairs; Academic Affairs; Finance & Administration; Institutional Advancement; and Office of Human Resources.
- C. Organizations such as centers, institutes and clinics seeking permanent University status. Organizations such as centers, institutes, and clinics may receive University support for up to one year for the purpose of planning and development. The organizational unit that is sponsoring a new center, institute, or clinic shall report to the UPBC that the planning process has begun. After one year, the new center, institute, or clinic shall seek formal approval from the UPBC. After the one-year planning period, receipt of support such as personnel, space, and/or financial resources, will be contingent upon formal administrative recognition.

II. Base units are granted formal recognition by the President after he has received recommendations from:

- A. The department(s) or administrative unit(s) involved.
- B. The University Planning & Budgeting Committee.
- C. The University Senate.
- D. Organizations such as centers, institutes, and clinics must have bylaws reviewed by the University Senate before the Senate makes a recommendation to the President.
- E. Existing center shall also have their bylaws reviewed by the Senate, which shall make recommendations to the University.
- F. The President may then request formal approval by the Board of Trustees.

III. Procedure for Recognizing Base Units

- A. The department(s) or administrative unit(s) involved would submit reports to the University Planning and Budget Committee (UPBC), which would study the matter. The UPBC would then report to the University Senate, which would examine all aspects of the matter and make a recommendation to the University President.

IV. Role of Governance and Strategic Planning

- A. Identical terminology will be used to describe budgetary units and strategic planning units, such as base units and organizational units.
- B. Base unit budget requests will be appended to organizational unit budgets and both will reflect the Strategic Plan.
- C. Both the budget and the Strategic Plan will be divided by categories (personnel, other expenses, equipment, etc.)

- D. The base unit budgets and the organization unit budgets will be forwarded to the University and Budgeting Committee for information purposes only at the same time that they are forwarded to the University vice presidents and the University Senate.

V. Definition of a Strategic Plan

Strategic Planning is the process by which an organization determines what it wants to become and the means by which it achieves those ends. George Keller, in his seminal book entitled Academic Strategy: The Management Revolution in Higher Education (1983) provides some thoughtful comments on the nature of strategic planning in higher education. His observations are useful as the University begins the process of constructing a strategic plan. Keller argues that:

“Academic strategic decision making means that a college, school, or university and its leaders are active rather than passive about their position in history. To think strategically is to look intensely at contemporary history and your institution’s position in it and work on the planning process that actively confronts the historical movement, overcomes it, gets on top of it, or seizes opportunities latent in it. A campus with an academic strategy has a battle plan to get stronger and better in the teeth of historical conditions...Strategic thinking leads one into being an active defender, analyzer, or prospector, rather than a passive reactor.”

Strategic planning and management, others observe, has been defined as:

- A. Setting goals that match institutional activities, competencies, and resources with the external environment’s present and future opportunities, demands, and risks, and formulating alternative courses of short-term and long-term action for achieving goals.
- B. Selecting and implementing a best course of action.
- C. Directing and coordinating resources and activities to help assure successful performances.
- D. Evaluating results to ensure that goals are met; and
- E. Monitoring the appropriateness of the course of action and the necessity for modifications.³

Such a process provides an excellent framework for re-engineering the management environment. Strategic planning models call for periodic analyses of the external environment, institutional strengths and weaknesses, and institutional values. Matching opportunities/constraints, strengths/weaknesses, and values enhances a university’s ability to develop more responsible mission and goals statements and more appropriately, to link planning and budgeting. This institutional strategy is reinforced with a functional approach delineated in tactical plans, e.g., academic plan, financial plan, computing plan, etc. Finally, operational strategy is presented in unit plans, which define actions to be taken within a budget cycle, which, over time, result in the accomplishment of institutional goals.⁴

³ Mark Meredith, Robert G. Cope, and Oscar T. Lenning, “Differentiating bona fide Strategic Planning from Other Planning,” a study paper, May 1987, p.3

VI. Assumptions

- A. The strategic plan at Western Connecticut State University is firmly anchored in the priorities, values, and aspirations defined in the current Statement of Mission.

VII. Strategic Planning Process

- A. The five-year strategic plan is biennially cyclic, and reflects the following process.
 - 1. Campus-wide discussions about the nature of strategic planning and the specific assumptions, which underscore the development of the plan.
 - 2. Significant involvement of the University Planning and Budget Committee, the Academic Council, and the University Cabinet in the development of the plan.

VIII. The Role of the University Planning and Budget Committee (UPBC)

- A. The University Planning and Budget Committee plays a critical role in the development and ongoing refinement of the University's strategic plan. The committee's responsibilities include:
- B. The provision of a forum for discussion and debate about the assumptions of the Plan and the process by which it is developed.
- C. The monitoring and review of the plan's execution in consultation with the President, the Vice Presidents, the Deans, the departments, and appropriate governance committees.
- D. The provision of data, which result from the University's ongoing assessment program.
- E. Constant review and updating of the University's priorities.
- F. The provision of a mechanism for evaluating whether or not the University should pursue new ideas or programs in light of its mission and priorities.

- B. To run special elections as requested by the Dean of the MSAS.

II. Areas of Responsibility

- A. To survey the general faculty for willingness to serve on the various MSAS committees.
- B. To determine eligibility of people willing to serve on specific MSAS committees.
- C. To prepare, distribute, collect, and process ballots at the various stages of the nomination and election process.

III. Membership

- A. Total membership: 3, one from each area of Math, Science, CS; Social & Behavioral Sciences; and Humanities
- B. Three (3) faculty members, elected by the MSA&S faculty for overlapping two-year terms.

IV. Conduct Of Business

- A. Meetings
 - 1. The first meeting of each academic year shall be convened by the previous year's chairperson if that individual still serves on the committee. In his/her absence, he or she will designate a committee member to convene the committee.
 - 2. A quorum consists of two members.
- B. Officers
 - 1. The chairperson is the elected general faculty member serving in his/her second year. If two members are eligible to be chair, the chair will be decided by coin toss.
- C. Reports
 - 1. Committee records and reports from the current and previous academic years are maintained on file with the committee chair, specifically the tallies from each stage of the election are kept, and ballots are destroyed.
 - 2. In order to run elections, the committee must be provided by the MSAS with the membership rules for each committee. Any question about the interpretation of these rules will be settled by the Dean of the MSAS.

3. Reports of election results are sent to the Dean of the MSAS. Election requests and instructions come from the chair of the Nominations and Elections Committee.

D. Amendments

1. These Bylaws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of members present at any regularly scheduled meeting at which there is a quorum, with the approval of the Dean of the MSAS.

E. Procedures for elections

1. There are, at most, four stages to the election procedure.

Stage 1 Willingness to Serve

- The purpose of this stage is to find who is willing to serve on what committee. A copy of those results is sent to the entire Nominations and Elections committee.
- Special case a
- If the number of people willing to serve on a committee is fewer than or equal to the number of vacancies on that committee, then those people expressing a willingness to serve will automatically become members of that committee.

Stage 2 First Ballot

- The purpose of this stage is to reduce the number of people running for an elected position to no more than two, except in the case of a tie.
Special case b
- If, before stage 2, the number of people willing to serve on a committee is already fewer than or equal to twice the number of vacancies, then this ballot determines the composition of the committee, and no further balloting need be held, except in the case of a tie.
Special case c
- This ballot may also determine the composition of a committee in the following circumstance. Suppose v is the number of vacancies on a committee. If exactly v people get a majority then they become members of the committee and consequently no more balloting is needed. Here majority is defined as greater than 50% of the votes cast for a position.

Stage 3 Final Ballot

- This ballot determines the composition of a committee unless, perhaps, there is a tie. This determination is made as follows. If there are positions voted for as a group, then the people with the highest votes are elected, unless there is a tie.

Special case d

- If there is a tie, there shall be a runoff election

Stage 4 Runoff Ballot

F. Early Vacancy:

1. If a vacancy results from a resignation, the position is filled by the person with the next highest number of votes in the most recent election for that position, provided that person is still willing to serve.

Academic Policy and Procedures

Policies Pertaining to Instructional Departments and Teaching

Department Bylaws

Each department has its own bylaws, which are on file in the department offices.

Department Chairperson Selection

Each academic department is located within an appropriate school and has a Chairperson who is the official spokesperson for the department members. The Chairperson shall, under most circumstances, assume office on the first day of the academic year.

Selection Procedures

A. Preamble

The department has the primary responsibility for selecting the individual who will serve as Chairperson because of the role the Chairperson has in the Department. The position interfaces with both the academic and administrative spheres of the University so that the Administration also has a right to be involved in the selection process.

The Department has the role of selecting the nominee and no individual may be appointed as Department Chairperson unless that person has been approved by the Department. The Departments must therefore exercise care and responsibility in their selection.

The Administration has the right to appointment and no individual may serve as Department Chairperson unless appointed by the Administration. However, because of the responsibility exercised by the Department in making its selection, it is expected that the individual nominated will be appointed except for compelling reasons.

Careful consideration by those who are involved should be given to the nomination and appointment of the Department Chairperson.

The individual who is Chairperson should have ability and interest in working effectively with and having concern for the faculty of the Department and students who utilize the Department; in curriculum development and review; in the Department functioning smoothly as an entity in itself and as a part of the University; in representing the Department to the profession at large.

The eligibility requirements, such as academic credentials, years of experience, etc., and the term of office will be contained in the Department bylaws.

1. The Department, using the procedures and rules of eligibility as in its bylaws, elects one nominee.
2. The Department submits to the School Dean, in writing, the name of the nominee and specifies the term of office.
3. If the Dean and Department agree on the nominee, the Dean, as the designee of the President, appoints.
4. If the Dean disagrees with the Department's recommendation, the name is returned to the Department with an explanation, in writing, of the reasons for the disagreement. A mutually agreeable date is set at which time the Dean and Department meet to discuss and resolve the differences.

- a. If the Dean and the Department resolve in favor of the nominee, the Dean, as designee of the President, appoints.
 - b. If the Dean and Department resolve in favor of a new election, the process goes back to Step 1.
 - c. In case of impasse, the process continues to Step 5.
5. In the event that an impasse arises and further discussion appears counterproductive, the following steps shall be taken:
 - a. The name of the nominee shall be forwarded by the Department to the President of the University.

Faculty and Department Teaching Assignments

Instructional Load

Course Assignments

- A. Prior to the start of the spring semester, each Department Chair will submit to the appropriate School Dean a proposed four- semester rotation listing of all courses recommended as offerings in the next two academic years. In turn the Dean will submit that portion of the proposed offerings list which apply to the Graduate School and the Evening baccalaureate program to the Registrar's Office.
- B. The Dean will review the proposed offerings in relation to (1) the various student populations to be served, (2) the program demands of the various populations, and (3) the resources of the Department to support the proposed offering, and (4) catalog identification of schedule for offering.
The Dean will consult with each Department Chair concerning any needed additions or deletions in the four-semester projection and will, after such consultation, return to each Department an approved four-semester course projection.
- C. On or before the date specified by the appropriate Dean, each Chairperson shall submit to the Dean the proposed semester program including number of sections of each course and individual faculty assignments to support the proposed program. The School Dean will receive the total proposed program. The Dean of Graduate Studies and the Registrar will receive that portion which pertains to graduate and evening offerings.

- D. The Deans will review the proposed semester offering and staffing using the same criteria as in B above and will consult with each Department Chair concerning any needed additions or deletions. The Dean will, after consultation, provide to the department and to the Registrar the final approved section and staffing list on which individual faculty schedules will be based.
 - 1. Any problems arising between undergraduate and graduate course offerings and staffing will be resolved by the School Dean and the Graduate Dean in consultation with the Department Chairperson.

 - 3. Faculty members may be assigned to Saturday or evening classes.
 - 4. Special requests for scheduling from faculty members.
 - 5. Any faculty member who is involved in graduate study may request that a particular time be left free to attend classes or meet with his/her advisor.

6. All requests are sent to the Academic Deans by the concerned Department Chair. The Academic Deans transmit approved requests to the Registrar to be incorporated into the total schedule, if possible.
- F. Individual Faculty Schedule
1. Schedules are sent to the faculty member by the Registrar upon approval by the Academic Dean and Graduate Dean.
 2. No changes may be made in the schedule without authorization of the Department Chair and the appropriate Dean.
 3. After receipt of schedule the faculty member shall, at the start of the semester, provide to the appropriate Academic Dean or secretary copies showing teaching assignments, office hours, and any regularly scheduled graduate study commitments of his/her own. These are used to determine meeting times and to facilitate communication with faculty members.

Procedures and Policies Governing Class Meetings, Size, Cancellation, and the Like

- A. Classes will meet at times scheduled. Neither students nor faculty may revise the schedule. Faculty may not schedule make-up classes for periods for which the faculty member has been absent nor may students expect faculty members to hold make-up classes resulting from student absences.
- B. Faculty members must notify their Department Chair or secretary in the event of inability to meet classes due to illness or emergency.
- C. From time-to-time the University schedule may be altered or suspended for special reasons. Such changes are administratively determined, and, except in emergencies, announced well in advance. These changes are binding on all faculty.
- D. A faculty member may permit a student who does not meet specific course prerequisites to enroll in a given class when he/she is convinced the student can do the work. A faculty member cannot deny any student who meets prerequisite requirements the right of enrollment.
- E. Class size limits shall be determined on sound educational principles by the appropriate Academic Dean in consultation with the Department (see CSU-AAUP contract).
- F. Cancellation of classes due to insufficient enrollment is administratively determined, whenever possible, in consultation with the Department Chair (see CSU-AAUP contract 10.7). Discussion of potential cancellations will be initiated by the Registrar, Academic Dean, or the Department Chair when enrollments are fewer than 10 students or below 50% capacity (depending on the scheduled class size), whichever is less. The Ensuing discussion will include consideration of the following:
 1. Impact on progress toward degree completion, particularly for major requirements or critical pre-requisite courses,
 2. Program integrity, and
 3. Available seats in comparable courses, as indicated by the curriculum.

Cancellations must be posted to open/close no later than two-weeks prior to the start of the semester so that students have sufficient time to find alternatives.

- G. When maximum class size has been reached, no additional students may be enrolled without the consent of the instructor of the class and the permission of the Department Chairperson. Such override that generates additional load credit for the instructor requires the written approval of the Dean of the School.
- H. A student may register for a class after the beginning of the second week of the class only with the approval of the instructor of the course and the appropriate Dean.

Faculty and Department Responsibility for Student Advisement

A. Definition of Academic Advising

Academic advising is a “decision-making process during which students realize their maximum educational potential through communication and information exchanges with an advisor.” (Thomas J. Grites) “It is the primary means of helping students benefit from an array of programs. It is always a process composed of timely responses in areas relevant to student education.” (IDEA Paper No.3) Advising provides the student with assistance for optimum progression through the University experience with opportunities for continued personal and professional growth and fulfillment.” (Wichita Report)

B. Responsibility for Academic Advising

The responsibility for appropriate and effective academic advisement rests with the faculty and the students. The faculty member is responsible for communicating accurate and up-to-date academic information. The student is responsible for implementing decisions derived from the advising process in order to fulfill the requirements necessary for graduation. Both the faculty member and the student must make a commitment to the advising process to enable it to be efficient and effective. Without a shared responsibility, academic advising will fail to achieve the goal of optimum progression through the University experience.

Senate Approval: May 15, 1985

C. Responsibilities of Faculty Advisors

1. Faculty members will each have a group of students assigned by their department for whose academic advisement they are responsible. The responsibilities of an advisor are:
2. To know the program requirements and University regulations with which the student must comply.
3. To assist each student in planning his/her sequence of courses to meet graduation requirements.
4. To approve, semester by semester, the specific program of courses, which the student takes.
5. To refer students to appropriate University staff in matters which are outside the area of the faculty member's competence (e.g., Health Services, Counseling, Academic Deans, Graduate Dean, etc.)
6. To recommend to the Department Chair and to the appropriate dean any waivers or exceptions to the program requirements which he/she judges to be essential for the student's best academic interests.
7. To advise the department on the status of each advisee as he/she reaches various stages in his/her program (e.g., admission to standing as upper class major, approval of application for independent Study or Student Developed Study, etc.).

Revised R-07-03-03 Admin. Approval 10/26/07

D. Academic Advisement Duties

1. Students should meet an advisor appropriate to his/her major at least once a semester prior to registration academic interests.
2. Each Department Chair (or his/her designee) should coordinate academic advising procedures for his/her Department.
3. The advisor should be responsible for reviewing prerequisites, core requirements, and program requirements with the student.

Admin. Approval: Dec. 5, 1985*

*Updated July, 2005 Revised R-07-03-03
Admin. Approval 10/26/07*

E. Procedures

1. Each Department Chair should receive a list of majors by week 2 of the current semester (from the Computer Center via the Dean).
2. Each Department Chair should receive a student activity report for each major by week 3 of the current semester (from the Computer Center via the Dean).
3. All Departments have computer access to student transcripts. At such time, the score received by each student on the English and math placement exam should be included in the student's record, along with the required math and English course noted based upon these scores, and the Departments have access to that computerized record.
4. Departments should determine how individual students will be assigned to advisors and Chairs should be sure that all advisors are aware of advisement policies.
5. Advisor's responsibilities are included in the Recommendations of the Committee on Academic Advisement accepted by the Senate, November 1985, and approved by the University President.
6. The Office of Admissions should send the appropriate Department a program sheet with credits transferred clearly noted for each transfer student admitted.
7. If a student transfers from one Department to another, the new Department should be responsible for obtaining the student's file from the former Department.
8. Up-to-date Department program sheets should be available as University/School/Department requirements are changed.
9. Information to faculty about curriculum changes will be disseminated through appropriate channels.
10. Faculty workshop(s) on advisement should be offered.
11. Departments should begin registration advisement as early as possible each semester, and no later than the first day following the publication of semester schedules.

Senate Approval: Feb. 19, 1986

Course Responsibilities

I. Department Responsibilities

- A. Approval of course outlines bearing their label and assurance that content identified is included in courses taught.
- B. Adoption where department deems appropriate of basic texts for multi-section courses.
- C. Determination of appropriate standards for grading of multi-section courses.
- D. Determination of standards for approval of student enrollment in Student Developed Study and Independent Study programs.
- E. Determination where department deems appropriate of departmental attendance policy (see federal Guidelines for Grading and Privacy of Grades).

II. Instructor's Responsibilities

The core of the academic program is the student-teacher relationship in the individual classroom. The teacher is free to develop his/her assigned courses as he/she deems best, recognizing that he/she must include the content identified in the official course outline. The individual faculty member:

- A. Meets all assigned classes regularly and in the event of absence arranges coverage through the department chair.
- B. Follows the content of the official department outline.
- C. Selects the methodology and sequence most appropriate to the content.
- D. Selects the textbook for those courses not bound by a department decision.

Bookstore orders for the upcoming semesters are completed by faculty members and forwarded to the Department Chairperson for approval. The Department Chairperson forwards the order to the Bookstore. In the absence of an instructor, the Department Chairperson completes the book request order

- 1. Faculty assigning their own texts are subject to the following policy:
Consistent with Section 1-84 of the Connecticut General Statutes and the State of Connecticut Ethics Commission's requirements in Advisory Opinion 2001-7, WCSU Respires that all faculty utilizing their own published works are required or recommended readings in a course not profit from that use. See Faculty Authored Textbook form in the Appendices of this handbook.
- 2. Per Federal Guidelines (Higher Education Opportunity Act 2010) students should have access to information regarding the cost of textbooks for courses at the point of registration. To the extent possible, faculty should include ISBN numbers with those orders.
(<https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/20/1015b#>)
- E. Has at least five (5) office hours weekly, "on three teaching days, at times reasonably convenient for students" (CBA 10.9)
- F. Secures permission through the department chairperson for field trips in conjunction with courses. (Forms for this purpose are available in department offices or from the Deans' offices).

- I. Gathers evaluative data systematically throughout the course on which to base midterm and final grades. These data must be recorded and kept for a reasonable length of time in the event of any challenge of grade assigned. (See Policy on Retention of Course Materials).
- J. Files midterm and final grades according to the directions specified by the Registrar's Office.

III. Examination and Grading Procedures and Policies

A. Final Examinations

- 1. All final examinations may be given only during the final examination week. (Reaffirmed by the Senate, December 15, 1982, and April 26, 1989.)
- 2. The schedule for undergraduate day course examinations is set by the Registrar.
- 3. Final examinations should not be the total basis for a student's grade.
- 4. When faculty include final exams in their courses, they must be given during the scheduled final exam period. (Senate review of this language is pending).

B. Responsibility of Faculty Member

- 1. Prepares final examinations.
- 2. Proctors own examinations and, when assigned, other faculty members' examinations.
- 3. Briefs proctor assigned to assist him/her.

- 7. Maintains records of exams, as per the Policy on the Retention of Course Materials.

Grading System-Undergraduate

Regular Grades

A	Excellent: Q.P. (Quality Point) value 4
A-	Q.P. value 3.67
B+	Q.P. value 3.33
B	Above Average: Q.P. value 3.00
B-	Q.P. value 2.67
C+	Q.P. value 2.33
C	Acceptable for college standards: Q.P. value 2.0
C-	Q.P. Value 1.67
D+	Q.P. Value 1.33
D	Barely acceptable for degree credit: 1.0
F	Failure: Q.P. value: 0.0
I	Incomplete- a purely quantitative measure with no quality point involvement for student. This should be applied only when a passing grade is possible for student when missing data are completed. *
X	Audit

* Assigning an Incomplete: Incomplete grades may be awarded when a faculty member determines that circumstances warrant an extension of the typical deadline. The student will have made significant progress in the class, such that he or she may complete the final assignment(s) independently and within the time allotted.

Incomplete grades may be awarded in Banner, but faculty will be prompted to set the date of anticipated completion, and a default grade, should the work not be completed. If faculty do not enter this information, the default date will be six weeks from the original due date, and the default grade will be F.

Selective Grades

Pass/Fail	A grade option carrying no quality points. Some courses are approved to use this grade for all students enrolled. In other courses, a student may secure permission to carry a course under this option. Faculty members are notified of any students exercising this option and grade them accordingly
P	Passing grade in a pass/fail option course
FP	Failing grade in a pass/fail course
RM or RP*	This grade is a qualitative grade available for use only in the following courses: CHE100, WRT098, WRT101, MAT098, PHY110/111, SPA161/162 This grade is used in courses "where the student must demonstrate a level of skill or competence in addition to the formal requirements of the course."

*Assigning RM (Remediate) or RP (Repeat) grade

Rationale for a student who has been doing all the assigned course work but whose academic deficiencies would need more than the usual time to achieve competence, the RM or RP grade makes it possible for the student to continue improving competence without being penalized for prior weakness.

The instructor arranges with the student for:

- The type and extent of additional work required to meet the acceptable level of competence, and
- The time limits within which the work is to be completed.

Remediate or Repeat

- RM: Remediate. Requirement may include self-directed practice, review, or supplementary assignments administered by the same instructor or another instructor.
- RP: Repeat. Requirement is repeating the course with the same or different instructor. This is no limit to the number of times a student may repeat the same course when assigned RP.

When level of competence has been achieved

- RM: Remediate. Instructor submits a "Change of Grade Request Form" to change the RM to a C or better.
- RP: Repeat. Original RP remains on record (same as W and grade is submitted by instructor of the repeated course for credit.)

Administrative Grades

W	Withdrawal without penalty. The student may withdraw without penalty through the deadline set by the Registrar. After that deadline, the instructor may give the student written permission to withdraw without penalty.
WF	Withdrawal with penalty. This grade is normally given to the student who withdraws after the withdrawal deadline or fails to withdraw officially.
NA	Never attended grades are submitted by the faculty member during the third week of classes (the census date). Faculty should review their course rosters during the third week of classes, to provide an accurate report of course enrollment. NOTE: Never attended should not be used in lieu of a W. Students must initiate a W.
SA	Stopped attending grades may be submitted during midterm and final grading periods. This grade should have a date of last attendance with it. It will become a W on the student record. Note: Stopped attending should not be used in lieu of a W. Students must initiate a W.

Grading System – Graduate

Grades available for use are:

A	Q.P. value 4.0
A-	Q.P. value 3.67
B+	Q.P. value 3.33
B	Q.P. value 3.00
B-	Q.P. value 2.67
C+	Q.P. value 2.33
C	Q.P. value 2.0
C-	Q.P. value 1.67
D+	Q.P. value 1.33
D	No credit awarded – Q.P. value 1.0
F	No credit awarded Q.P. value: 0.0
I	Incomplete
W	Withdrawn
X	Audit

Generally, all procedures outlined above for undergraduate grading apply to graduate grades except that:

- All referrals are to the Graduate Director.
- Incomplete grades must be made up within a semester of the time the incomplete mark was recorded. If not completed within that time, the grade becomes an “F” unless the instructor concerned has recommended an extension of time for justifiable cause. An extension of time for justifiable cause may not exceed one additional semester (Fall, Spring, Summer semesters). The only exception to this policy will be for those students making satisfactory progress while involved in a thesis or research project. Such students are limited only by the time allowed to complete the degree.
- No mid-semester grades are issued.
- For the purpose of improvement of instruction, an evaluative instrument is used in each graduate course to obtain student reaction to instructors, course content, course procedures, and to general policies and procedures.

See also the Graduate Catalog.

Implementation of Grading System

- I. The department and/or instructor is responsible for determining and explaining at the beginning of the semester the standard to be met to receive a given letter grade. He/she is also responsible for being sure that students understand these standards and course expectations.

II. Reporting Grades

- A. Finals – All students receive grades on the official grade form provided online. These are completed according to the directions provided by the Registrar. A student who has never attended should be given a “W” as a final grade. A student who has stopped attending should be given either a “W” or “WF” and the last date of attendance should be entered.
- B. Midterms – All first-year students and all others receiving D’s, I’s, or F’s in any course must receive midterm grades. Because of the large number of transfer students, faculty are encouraged to record midterm grades for all enrolled in their classes. Students may check their grades in Banner. They should regard any grade of D or F at midterm as an academic warning, affecting their GPA for possible probation.

III. Change of Grade

- A. Faculty are advised to retain at least two (and preferably three or four) items of evidence (e.g., tests, term papers) of each student’s course work, in the event the student requests a change of grade. It is also advisable to notify students in writing--and well in advance--if the grading system in any course will deviate from the general norm for grading.
- B. If a faculty member wishes to request a change of grade after the grade has been recorded, such request is sent to the appropriate Academic Dean with an explanation as to why a change of grade is requested. (An official form is available from each Dean’s office for this purpose.) Changes of grade from incomplete may be sent directly to the Registrar’s Office for processing.

Senate approval: Oct. 16, 1991(R91-10-4)

Admin. Approval: Revised Feb. 20, 1992

IV. The Dean may:

- A. Approve the change and forward it to the Registrar for implementation.
- B. Disapprove the change and return it to the concerned faculty member.
- C. Refer the request to the appropriate School’s standing committee for recommended action on the request.
- D. If the Dean disapproved, the faculty member may refer the matter to the appropriate standing committee.
- E. The School Dean will establish or designate an existing committee to serve in the case of need to act on grade change requests. Such committee will report its decision to the Dean and faculty member concerned.
- F. In the event the faculty member involved is unavailable (when grade change is requested and found to be proper, the appropriate Academic Dean and Department Chairperson may jointly resolve a needed change of grade.) Both signatures are required before the Registrar may honor the change of grade request, including a change from incomplete to a letter grade.

Federal Guidelines for Grading and Privacy of Grades

- I. Faculty must comply with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 to ensure that information on grades, class standing or the like of any student may in no way be shared by the faculty member with any other student. This means that the following practices will not be utilized.
 - A. Posting course, exam, or term paper grades even if names are omitted and codes are used.
 - B. Giving the paper or test of one student to another for delivery unless there is a signed request to do so.
 - C. Putting papers, tests, etc., in a common place for student pick up.
 - D. Recent confidentiality laws prohibit anyone from divulging the grades of any student to the student's parents or any other individual.
 - E. Attendance requirements as related to grades awarded: Supreme Court rulings indicate that grades may be lowered for nonattendance only when a direct relationship between academic progress and attendance can be demonstrated. The arbitrary lowering of an earned grade for given numbers of class absences did not meet the Court's legal tests.

Policy on Retention of Course Materials

- A. Examination materials are any materials used by an instructor to evaluate a student's knowledge and mastery of course topics for the purpose of assigning grades. Examination materials may include term papers, homework, computer assignments, quizzes, tests, lab write-ups, and any other tangible items deemed appropriate by the instructor for use in assigning grades. Intangible grading items such as recitals, juries, and physical skills tests are beyond the scope of this policy. All examination materials are confidential and are protected by applicable State and Federal law.

All examination materials are the personal property of the instructor. As used throughout this policy statement, the term "personal property" is meant in a physical sense only. It is like buying a magazine at a newsstand. The buyer owns the physical ink, paper, and other tangible materials out of which the magazine is made, but not the original expressions of others presented within (see 17 U.S. C. Par. 302, 303). Faculty are advised to retain at least two items of evidence (e.g., tests, term papers) of each student's course work, in the event the student requests a change of grade. The instructor should retain them until the end of the semester in which the grade appeals deadline expires (see Faculty Handbook section on Palpable Injustice). In keeping with the primary purpose of retaining these items, reasonable student access to them shall not be denied. In the unusual case of perishable materials, the instructor should properly dispose of the materials and need not retain them.

- B. A grade book is the record kept by an instructor detailing the examination scores or other performance measures used to assign student grades. The grade book may be in any form the instructor wishes to use (e.g., steno pad, notebook, computer spreadsheet). Grade books are confidential and are protected by applicable State and Federal law.

Grade books are the personal property of the instructor. They will be retained by the instructor until the end of the semester in which the grade appeals deadline expires. This responsibility may not be avoided by giving the grade book to the student.

- C. The Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs shall retain copies of course outlines.

Process for Selecting Faculty to Participate in Graduate Programs

All faculty members who participate in graduate programs must meet the following university and departmental criteria:

I. University Criteria

- A. Qualifications: Earned terminal degree appropriate to the faculty member's discipline and to the graduate courses to be taught, or Achieved, significant, and highly recognized accomplishment in the field relevant to the graduate courses to be taught.
- B. Faculty Status: Both full-time and part-time faculty may participate in graduate programs, provided they meet the relevant university and departmental criteria.
- C. Demonstrated Competence: ` Scholarly, research, creative, or professional activities appropriately published and/or reviewed, on a regular basis in the relevant field of study.

II. Departmental Criteria

- A. Each department offering graduate courses will create, maintain, and enforce its own specific criteria for selecting faculty who participate in graduate programs.

Policies Pertaining to Students

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

Western Connecticut State University accords all the rights under the law to students. No one outside the university shall have access to, nor will the university disclose information from, a student's educational records without his/her written consent except to personnel within the university, to officials of other institutions in which students seek to enroll, to persons or organizations providing students financial aid, to accreditation groups, to persons in compliance with a judicial order, and to persons in an emergency in order to protect the health or safety of students or other persons or to parents of a student who is officially documented as their dependent for income tax purposes. All these exceptions are permitted under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. The university will maintain a record of all requests for and/or disclosure of information from a student's educational records. The record will indicate the name of the party making the request, any additional party to whom it may be re-disclosed, and the legitimate interest the party had in requesting or obtaining the information. The record may be reviewed by the eligible student.

Within the Western Connecticut State University community, only those university officials, acting in the student's educational interest are allowed access to student education records. A university official is any person employed by the university in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support-staff position; any person appointed to the Board of Trustees for the Connecticut State University, and any person employed by or under contract to the university or the State of Connecticut to perform a special task, such as an attorney or auditor. A university official has a legitimate educational interest if the official is: performing a task that is specified in his or her position description or by contract agreement; performing a task related to a student's education; performing a task relating to the discipline of a student; or providing a service or benefit relating to the student or student's family, such as health care, counseling, job placement or financial aid.

At its discretion the university may provide directory information in accordance with the provisions of the act to include: student name, address, telephone number, photo ID, date of birth, major field of study, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, and weight and height of members of athletic teams. Students may withhold directory information by notifying the Office of the Dean of Students in writing. Such a request would be honored until such time students requested in writing that their directory information again be made public.

The law provides students the right to inspect and review information contained in their education records, to challenge the contents of their education records and to have a hearing on the matter. The Vice President for Student Affairs or his designee at Western Connecticut State University has been designated to coordinate the inspection and review procedures for student educational records, which include admissions, personal, academic, financial, disciplinary, cooperative education, and placement records. Students wishing to review their educational records must make requests to the Registrar listing the item of interest. Only records covered by the Act will be made available within 45 days of the request. Students may have copies made of their records with certain exceptions (e.g., a copy of their academic record for which a financial "hold" exists, or a transcript of an original or source document which exists elsewhere). Educational records do not include: records of instructional, administrative and educational personnel, which are the sole possession of the maker and are not accessible or revealed to any individual except a temporary substitute; records of a law enforcement unit; student health records; employment records or alumni records. Health records, however, may be reviewed by the physician of the student's choosing.

Students may not inspect and/or review the following as outlined by the Act: financial information submitted by their parents; confidential letters and recommendations associated with admissions, employment or job placement, or honors to which they have waived their rights of inspection and review; or education records containing information about more than one student. In this last case, the university will permit access only to that part of the record which pertains to the inquiring student. The university is not required to permit students to inspect and/or review confidential letters and recommendations placed in their files prior to January 1, 1975, provided these letters were collected under established policies of confidentiality and were used only for the purpose for which they were collected.

Students who believe that their education records contain information that is inaccurate or misleading, or is otherwise in violation of their privacy or other rights may discuss their problems informally with the Office of Student Affairs.

In the event the student's request, either to have access to a record or to amend information in a file has been denied, the student may ask for a formal hearing. The student must submit a written request for the hearing to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The hearing panel will consist of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Academic Dean of his/her school. Decisions of the hearing panel are final. Any alteration to the student's record will be in accordance with the decision of the hearing panel and will become a permanent part of that record. The student has a right to add a statement to a challenged record if the panel's decision is not to amend the record in accordance with the student's request.

Students who believe that the adjudications of their challenges were unfair or not in keeping with the provisions of the Act may request, in writing, assistance from the Vice President for Student Affairs to aid them in filing complaints with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), U.S. Department of Education, Washington, D.C. 20202.

Academic Honesty Policy

This is Western Connecticut State University's (WCSU) policy on Academic Honesty

I. Policy

- A. Principles: Academic Honesty Code: As stated in the university catalogs, "A student has an obligation to demonstrate honesty in carrying out his/her academic assignments" (page 38, 2005-2006 Undergraduate Catalog; p. 31, 2006-07 Graduate Catalog)
- B. Faculty Responsibility: Faculty members are responsible for knowing the principles and procedures of the Academic Honesty Policy, and for enforcing the policy when academic honesty violations occur. Faculty members must also remind students of the Academic Honesty Policy and help them comply with it.
- C. Student Responsibility: Students are responsible for maintaining the academic integrity of the University by following the Academic Honesty Policy. Students are responsible for doing their own work and avoiding all forms of academic dishonesty.

II. Academic Honesty Violation

- A. The most common academic honesty violations are cheating and plagiarism. Cheating and plagiarism are complex issues, therefore we offer the following definitions.
 - 1. Cheating includes, but is not limited to:
 - 2. Submitting material that is not one's own
 - 3. Using information or devices that are not allowed by the faculty member.
 - 4. Obtaining and/or using unauthorized material.
 - 5. Fabricating information.
 - 6. Violating procedures prescribed to protect the integrity of a test, or other evaluation exercise.
 - 7. Collaborating with others on assignments without the faculty member's consent (not to be confused with tutoring in the university learning centers).
 - 8. Cooperating with or helping another student to cheat.
 - 9. Having another person take an examination in the student's place.
 - 10. Altering exam answers and requesting that the exam be re-graded.
 - 11. Communicating with any person during an exam, other than the faculty member or exam proctor.
- B. Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to:
 - 1. Directly quoting others without using quotation marks or indented format to identify them.
 - 2. Using sources of information (published or unpublished) without identifying them. This can be one's own past work.

3. Paraphrasing materials or ideas of others without identifying the sources.
 4. Resolution of Academic Honesty Violations
- III. A student involved in an academic honesty proceeding may continue to attend all classes until the matter is resolved.
- A. Action Initiated by the Faculty member
 1. If a faculty member believes a student has committed an academic honesty violation, the faculty member should complete the Academic Honesty Report (Appendix A). The faculty members will request a meeting with the student within five university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays) to attempt to resolve the incident. As a result of this meeting, if the faculty member determines a violation has occurred, he or she should give the student a copy of two things: (a) this policy statement, and (b) the completed Academic Honesty Report (Appendix A).
 2. The faculty member retains a copy of the Academic Honesty Report of this incident, and forwards a copy of the Academic Honesty Report to the faculty member's department chair, school dean, graduate dean (if applicable), and dean of students. The faculty member may assign a penalty; see section 2.5 below. If the faculty member is unable to contact the student, or if the student fails to meet with the faculty member, the faculty member may assign the penalty. If a penalty is assigned, the faculty member will send the student a copy of this policy statement and a completed Academic Honesty Report (Appendix A). The faculty member will send these documents by registered mail to the student's current mailing address on file with the University, and provide a copy to the faculty member's department chair, school dean, graduate dean (if applicable), and dean of students. The final grade for the course will not be recorded in the Registrar's Office until all of the student's rights to appeal have been exhausted.
 - B. Appeal Procedures
 - C. If the student does not admit responsibility for the incident or does not accept the penalty proposed by the faculty member, the student may appeal first to the faculty member's department chair, then to the dean of the faculty member's school, and then to the Senate Ad Hoc Committee on Grade Appeals. If the student does not appeal, the decision of the faculty member stands and a copy of the Academic Honesty Report will be forwarded by the faculty member's department chair, school dean, graduate dean (if applicable), and dean of students, where it will be filed for future reference.
 1. Department Hearing

Within five university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays) of the faculty member's notification to the student that a penalty has been assigned, the student may request a meeting with the faculty member and his/her department chair. This meeting should take place within five university calendar days of the student's request. As a result of this meeting, the department chair will complete an Academic Honesty Report (Appendix A) and with the consent of the faculty member, affirm, deny, or modify the original penalty assigned by the faculty member. Within five university calendar days of the meeting, the department chair will forward copies of the completed Academic Honesty Report to the student, the faculty member, and the school dean, the graduate dean (if applicable), and the Dean of students. Copies of the report will be sent by registered mail (with return receipt) to his/her current mailing address on file with the University. Within ten university calendar days of the department chair's decision, the student or the faculty member may appeal the department chair's decision to the dean of the faculty member's school. If the decision is not appealed, the department chair will send a copy of the Academic Honesty Report to the faculty member's school dean, the graduate dean (if applicable), and to the Office of the Dean of Students, where it will be filed for future reference.

2. Dean's Review

Within five university calendar days an academic long semester (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays) of the department chair's notification to the student that a penalty has been assigned, the student or the faculty member may submit a written appeal to the dean of the faculty member's school. This written appeal should ask the dean to review the department chair's decision and explain why the student or faculty member believes that the department chair's decision was wrong. Within ten university calendar days from the time the written appeal is received in the dean's office, the dean will determine if the department chair's action should be upheld or overturned and will communicate his/her decision in writing to the student by registered mail, and inform the faculty member, the department chair, the graduate dean (if applicable), and the dean of students. Within ten university calendar days of the dean's decision, the student or the faculty member may appeal the dean's decision to the Senate Ad Hoc Committee on Grade Appeals (see page 37 of the 2005-2006 Undergraduate Catalog). If the decision is not appealed, the dean will send a copy of the Academic Honesty Report along with the results of the dean's review of the report to the student, the faculty member, graduate dean (if applicable), and the office of the dean of students, where it will be filed for future reference. Students may still be subject to further disciplinary action by the university through the student code of conduct, administered by the dean of students (or his/her designee).

3. Senate Ad Hoc Committee on Grade Appeals

If the student or faculty member is not satisfied, he/she may ask, within five (5) university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays) of receiving the school dean's decision, that the school dean contact the president of the university senate to convene the Ad Hoc Committee on Grade Appeals. The school dean shall forward the request (along with all relevant materials) to the senate president within five (5) university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays) of receipt. The dean also shall notify the provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs, in writing, that the senate is being asked to convene an ad hoc committee.

4. The Ad Hoc Committee on Grade Appeals shall be composed of three members of the instructional faculty in the ranks of tenured professors or tenured associate professors presently serving on the senate, selected in alphabetical order each time the committee is appointed.

The senate president shall appoint the ad hoc committee within five (5) university calendar days and shall notify the student and the faculty member of that fact. The senate president shall not discuss the details of the case with the ad hoc committee. The ad hoc committee will convene within five (5) university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays).

The committee shall consider the case and reach a decision within fifteen (15) university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays) of its convening by the senate president. Following its deliberations, the committee may deny, affirm or modify the appeal. The committee shall then forward its recommendation to the Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs, who will implement the recommendation of the committee within five (5) university calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays). The action of the Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs shall be final and binding upon all parties, and shall be communicated by the Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs to the student and the faculty member (with copies to the department chair, school dean, graduate dean (if applicable), and dean of students).

IV. Maintenance of Academic Honesty Reports

- A. The Office of the Dean of Students will maintain a copy of each Academic Honesty Report filed on a student until that student's graduation or permanent suspension of studies. Students will be assumed to have permanently suspended their studies at WCSU if they go five years without enrolling for any coursework. Faculty members or administrators investigating allegations of academic honesty violations may request that the Office of the Dean of Students release them any previous reports that have been filed on the student against whom the current allegations are being made.

V. Penalties

- A. The penalty for an academic honesty violation on a significant course requirement such as a final copy of a term paper/project or final examination shall be an "F" for the course. The penalty for academic honesty violations in other coursework will be left to the discretion of the faculty member and may be modified upon appeal. When an academic honesty violation includes flagrant behavior, such as having a substitute take an exam or stealing an exam, the faculty member also shall refer the matter to the Office of the Dean of Students for disciplinary action pursuant to the CSU Student Code of Conduct. The Office of the Dean of Students also may initiate disciplinary action against a student with repeated academic honesty violations.

VI. Review and Responsibilities

- A. Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs and V.P. for Student Affairs
- B. University Senate President
- C. Review: Every three years (and as needed) President

Grade Appeals: Palpable Injustice

Academic grading reflects careful and deliberate judgment of the course instructor. Academic evaluation of student performance requires expert consideration of cumulative information and is to some extent subjective.

The University recognizes that in rare instances there may be “palpable injustice(s)” in the determination of a final grade. Students may use the appeals process when they believe there is evidence to show that a) a final grade was determined by methods and criteria different from those used for determining final grades for others in the same class or 2) the evaluation was made as the result of bias or caprice. The student shall first confer with the instructor who awarded the grade no later than the end of the fourth week of the next regular semester. In the case of half semester courses, students shall have the right to begin the appeal process at the conclusion of the course.

If no amicable settlement is reached, the student shall present the instructor with a WRITTEN copy of his/her grievance along with any supporting documentation, which shall be considered confidential. The instructor shall respond in writing to the student within five (5) working days. (It is suggested that students prepare a packet of information for the instructor, the chairperson and the Dean).

Students, if they wish, shall have the right to choose a mentor/advisor for the purpose of guiding them through the appeal process. Students shall have the right to present their case at each stage of the appeal process. At the student's request, the mentor/advisor may accompany the student to meetings related to the appeals process as an observer.

If the student is not satisfied, the student, within five (5) working days of receipt of the instructor's response, may present the case in writing to the appropriate department chairperson who may effect a mutually agreed upon settlement with the instructor. The department chairperson shall respond in writing to the student within five (5) working days with a copy sent to the instructor.

If the student is not satisfied, the student may, within five (5) working days of receipt of the department chairperson's response, present the case in writing to the appropriate Academic Dean who may effect a mutually agreed upon settlement with the instructor and department chairperson. The Academic Dean shall respond in writing to the student within ten (10) working days with copies of the decision sent to the instructor and the department chairperson.

If the student is not satisfied, the student may ask, within five (5) working days of receiving the Dean's decision, that the dean contact the President of the University Senate to convene the ad hoc Committee on Grade Appeals. The Dean shall forward the request to the Senate President within five (5) working days of receipt. The Dean shall also notify the Provost/Academic Vice President, in writing, that the Senate is being asked to convene an ad hoc Committee.

The ad hoc Committee on Grade Appeals shall be composed of three members of the instructional faculty in the ranks of tenured professors or tenured associate professors presently serving on the senate, selected in alphabetical order each time the committee is appointed.

The Senate President shall appoint the ad hoc Committee within five (5) working days and shall notify the student and the instructor of that fact. The Senate President shall not discuss the details of the case with the ad hoc Committee. The ad hoc Committee will convene within five (5) working days. It is the responsibility of the student to present three copies of all material, including any additional material submitted later in the process and relevant to the case to the chair of the ad hoc Committee.

The instructor shall submit such materials as requested by the Committee and shall have the right to present their case at any stage of the appeal process. The Committee shall consider the case and reach a decision within fifteen (15) working days of its convening by the Senate President. Following its deliberations, the Committee may deny the appeal in which case the matter shall be closed. If the Committee finds that the grading constituted a palpable injustice, as defined above, the case shall be remanded to the instructor for reconsideration. If the instructor disagrees with the finding of the Committee, the instructor shall inform the Committee and the student within five (5) working days of that fact.

The instructor shall submit such materials as requested by the Committee and shall have the right to present their case at any stage of the appeal process. The Committee shall consider the case and reach a decision within fifteen (15) working days of its convening by the Senate President. Following its deliberations, the Committee may deny the appeal in which case the matter shall be closed. If the Committee finds that the grading constituted a palpable injustice, as defined above, the case shall be remanded to the instructor for reconsideration. If the instructor disagrees with the finding of the Committee, the instructor shall inform the Committee and the student within five (5) working days of that fact.

If either the student or the instructor has disagreed, the Committee shall then forward its recommendation for a grade to the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs who will implement the recommendation of the Committee within five (5) working days. The action of the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs shall be final and binding upon all parties and shall be communicated by the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs to the student and the instructor.

Guidelines on Classes Missed Because of University Sponsored Events

It is the responsibility of all students to recognize that meeting the requirements of all classes is their first priority. It is the students' responsibility to communicate with their professors before a conflict occurs to ensure that all classroom work is properly completed per the terms established with the professor. It is also the students' responsibility to make up all required work as well as to become familiar with the material presented in the class that was missed.

Faculty are encouraged to make accommodations for a student who will miss class for any of the following circumstances, providing documentation from an appropriate third party (police, medical professional, religious leader, etc.):

1. Medical absence
2. Student or family emergency
3. Observance of a religious holiday (accommodations mandated by CT law⁵)
4. Participation in a university-sponsored event*
5. Other circumstances deemed appropriate by the faculty member (e.g. jury duty, etc.)

*By definition university-sponsored events are legitimate, co-curricular events which are scheduled through a university department or entity, with adequate notice to all parties. For example, participation in a sports contest or a museum trip for the university would be such an event, but attending a practice session would not. It is requested that faculty members understand the depth of the students' commitment, allow reasonable accommodation of student activities, and permit work missed because of legitimate university events to be made up.

The form related to Missed Classes due to University Events is in the appendices to this handbook.

⁵ CT Law regarding accommodations for observance of a religious holiday:

Sec. 10a-50. (Formerly Sec. 10-334g). Absence of students due to religious beliefs. No person shall be expelled from or refused admission as a student to an institution of higher education for the reason that he is unable, because the tenets of his religion forbid secular activity on a particular day or days or at a particular time of day, to attend classes or to participate in any examination, study or work requirements on such particular day or days or at such time of day. Any student in an institution of higher education who is unable, because of such reason, to attend classes on a particular day or days or at a particular time of day shall be excused from any examination or any study or work assignments on such particular day or days or at such particular time of day. It shall be the responsibility of the faculty and of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to make available to each student who is absent from school because of such reason an equivalent opportunity to make up any examination, study or work requirements which he has missed because of such absence on any particular day or days or at any particular time of day. No special fees of any kind shall be charged to the student for making available to such student such equivalent opportunity. No adverse or prejudicial effects shall result to any student because of his availing himself of the provisions of this section. For the purposes of this section, "institution of higher education" means any of the schools comprising the state system of higher education, as defined in section 10a-1. Curriculum and Academic Standards

Degree Definitions

Undergraduate	Credit Parameters for Majors
Bachelor of Arts	30-48 credit hours in one subject, (25-40% of all coursework), language required in all disciplines
Bachelor of Arts (Interdisciplinary)	48-66 credit hours in two or more subject areas (40-55% of all coursework), language required in all disciplines
Bachelor of Science Bachelor of Business Administration	48-66 credit hours within one subject area (40-55% of all coursework), language required in some disciplines.
Bachelor of Science (Interdisciplinary)	66-80 credit hours across two or more disciplines (55-66% of all coursework), language required in some disciplines.
Bachelor of Music Bachelor of Fine Arts	More than 70 credit hours within one subject (65-75% of all coursework), language required in some disciplines

Interdisciplinary Majors: The interdisciplinary major weaves together two or more disciplines to create a coherent whole. Examples include BS in Meteorology, BA in Biochemistry, or any Secondary or Elementary Education degree. Up to 18 credits from the secondary major disciplines and/or cognate courses may be used to satisfy the breadth requirement in general education. A further reduction would not allow students to have a reasonable expectation of meeting all competency requirements within the credits allotted. There is no reduction in the number of competencies.

Cognate Courses: A cognate course is a non-major course deemed essential to supporting the major discipline. Examples include economics for the BBA degrees or calculus for Computer Science. Cognate courses should only be assigned if they are essential to success in the major or reflect national norms for the degree. Up to 18 credits of cognate courses may be applied to the breadth requirement in general education. A further reduction would not allow students to have a reasonable expectation of meeting all competency requirements within the credits allotted. There is no reduction in the number of competencies.

Language Requirements: The Bachelor of Arts degree requires students to study a language other than English to at least an elementary level II. The BS, BBA, BM, and BFA vary in their language requirements which are determined by the departments.

Certificate and Graduate Program Definitions

Undergraduate Certificate-Non degree	No more than 30 semester hours of credit which fall within an approved program.
Graduate Degree Programs	A minimum of 30 semester hours
Option within a graduate degree	No more than 12 semester hours for credit within and
Graduate Certificate- Non Degree	No more than 12 semester hours of credit within an approved program

Major, Minors, and Options

The Major: A major refers to the discipline, or combination of disciplines, in which a student will develop a measure of expertise appropriate to undergraduate education. Majors offer a balance of introductory to advanced courses, including at least one course focused on the modes of inquiry appropriate to the discipline and a capstone experience. While most majors are within a single discipline (e.g., Art, Biology, or Social Work), some are interdisciplinary and draw curricula from multiple departments (e.g., Digital and Interactive Media Arts or Elementary Education: Interdisciplinary Major). Semester hour requirements for majors range from 33-75 or more. (For more details about semester hour requirements, see degree definitions.)

Options: Some majors require the completion of an option. Options are areas of focus within a discipline, allowing students to pursue a particular aspect of their major. For example, Writing Majors must select from one of three options--Business and Technical Writing, Creative Writing, or Journalism and Public Relations to complete the degree. Students may decide to complete two options within their major, which will be reflected on their transcripts. This is not the same as a double major, which may not be completed within a single discipline. Option requirements range from 6-18 semester hours.

The Minor: The minor allows students to explore a subject separate from their major, pursuing a secondary interest and/or enhancing their major discipline. Minors range from 18-21 credits (most are 18) and generally require introductory level courses (100-200 levels), but may offer options at higher levels. Students may not complete a minor within the major discipline (e.g., Musical Theatre majors may not minor in theatre). For interdisciplinary degrees, no major requirements may count toward the minor. General education, cognate, and elective courses may count toward a minor. Students must complete at least 9 semester hours of the minor at WCSU.

Double Majors: Any WCSU student who wishes to fulfill the requirements for more than one academic major may do so. Students must satisfy the requirements for both majors. Double majors may only be declared in two distinct disciplines, e.g., English and Theatre. Double majors may not be declared within a discipline, e.g., Applied Computing and Computer Science. In the case of interdisciplinary degrees (BBA all majors, BA DIMA and BA Interdisciplinary Studies, etc.) students must complete at least 18 semester hours of course work unique to the second major. Both majors will be listed on the student's transcript.

If a student qualifies for more than one degree, e.g., both a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Science, the student must notify the Registrar's Office as to which degree to receive at commencement. Only one degree will be listed in the commencement program. Two diplomas will be issued to the student after commencement.

Students are advised to exercise caution in selecting more than one major because the requirements to meet two majors will limit the ability to take elective courses.

Students are responsible for fulfilling the requirements of both majors as well as any special general education requirements in the majors. Minimum residency requirements apply to both majors. Different GPA requirements may apply.

Course Level Definitions

100-level: Course with no prerequisites, survey courses, course defining basic concepts, or a course presenting the terminology of a discipline. These courses may require skills measured by university entry requirements for writing, math and/or the discipline.

200-level: Course of intermediate college-level difficulty, course with 100-level course(s) as prerequisite(s) or survey courses devoted to particular areas or fields within a discipline. These courses may require skills obtained by first-year experience and writing intensive competencies.

300-level: Course of advanced college-level difficulty taken by majors and/or upper division students. These are often considered to be courses in the major, or offered to students with sufficient skill and expertise to find success through completion of a major creative, experimental or research project.

400-level: Advanced upper-division courses, seminars or tutorials designed as culminating experiences where students have the capacity to work independently, while under the guidance of an instructor.

Course Type Definitions

Online Course: Defined as one in which course content is delivered online via the University's web-based course management system, whether synchronously or asynchronously. Students submit course work and participate in discussions with faculty and other students via the Internet. Many online courses contain media-rich presentations that reinforce important concepts. Students in these courses communicate with faculty and fellow students using e-mail, discussion boards, and submit assignments to faculty through the University's web-based course management system.

Hybrid Course: Defined as one in which a course is comprised of both face-to-face meetings and online learning, where the online component does not exceed 50% of the designated instructional time. All face-to-face meetings for a hybrid course will be announced prior to registration. The online component is delivered via the University's web-based course management system.

Online and Hybrid course definitions were approved as part of the WCSU Online Course Policy.

Senate Approval December 14, 2016

Dual Label Course: Course in which two (2) or more subjects share the label; the originating department is responsible for scheduling, outline, etc., but changes in the course must be approved by both departments.

Faculty Developed Study: Course offered by a department for one semester only to determine its value to the total departmental program or in response to a particular request from a group of students. (See form in appendix to this handbook).

Cooperative Education and Internships

Cooperative Education is an additional component of the undergraduate program at Western. Combining formal classroom work with meaningful on-the-job experience in cooperation with business, industry, governmental agencies and other employers provides professional development, academic achievement and personal growth. Students interested in cooperative education may register for CED 297 as a free elective or through an individual department where direct approval of the student's major academic adviser and/or department chairperson is also required.

1. Students must have at least 45 semester hours in good standing and have attained upper sophomore status at the time they register for CED 297.
2. One academic credit shall be awarded for every 50 hours of work experience.

Minimum Student Preparation Hours

The Faculty and Administration of the University endorse the concept of issued guidelines to students of a minimum expectation of two hours preparation per hour of class time. This guideline will be stated at Student Orientation and be printed in both the Student Handbook and the Catalog.

Student Academic Standing

Eligibility for Dean's List

An appropriate academic standard for eligibility for Dean's List should be a minimum of 12 graded (standard option) credits satisfactorily completed with an average of 3.5. The only exception is for those students whose minimum of 12 credits includes course work required in his/her program of student that must be taken on a pass/fail basis, excluding course credits that do not count toward graduation and whose semester average and cumulative are both at least 3.5.

Senate Approval: May 26, 1989

Admin. Approval: June 18, 1989

Eligibility for Dean's List for Part-Time Undergraduates

The academic standard for the Dean's List for part-time undergraduate students is a minimum of 12 semester hour credits satisfactorily completed within one academic year (fall and spring semesters) with a grade point average of at least 3.5. The only exception is for students whose minimum of 12 credits includes course work (a) that is required in a program of study, taken on a pass/fail basis, and (b) that does not count toward graduation. For such students, both the academic year average and the cumulative GPA must both be at least 3.5.

Senate Approved R-07-09-03

Administrative Approval 10/26/07

Academic Probation Policy

Academic probation letters from the Dean are sent concurrently with end-of-semester grade reports to each first semester freshman with a grade point average below 1.7 and to all other students with averages below 2.0. Students on probation must meet with their advisors to review their program requirements, course selections, credit loads, and other pertinent information.

The probationary period will commence the semester following the one for which the letter of probation was initially issued. The Dean will review the student's activities during the period of probation.

Probation shall be limited to one semester only, i.e., probation may not be extended to a consecutive semester.

Should the student not meet the required average, the student shall be suspended for academic deficiency. Students on probation should consider a semester course load of 12 credit hours and limit their participation in co-curricular activities. Appeals to these policies should be made to the appropriate Dean who, for extenuating circumstances only, may waive the policy.

*Admin. Approval: April 18, 1986

Clarification of President: Of course, individual schools or programs may have standards for probation and dismissal from that school or program that are higher than the University standards. A student can be on probation or be dismissed from a school or program and still be in good standing at the University.*

Approval Process for Curriculum, Centers, Institutes and Policies

Western Connecticut State University uses an online platform for all curriculum and policy approvals. This platform can be found in WestConnduit, under the faculty resources tab. The portal is called the Curriculum Proposal Process (CPP) but is frequently referred to as Sharepoint. Diagrams of the workflows (map of committees who need to sign off) for each type of approval are available when you log into CPP.

General Guidance

Curriculum, Center/Institute, and Policy approvals are subject to rigorous review by the campus community. You should anticipate questions about the content of a proposal and how it may interact with other university programs, policies, or centers. You should also be prepared to discuss anticipated costs, staffing, and the overall benefits to the university. Note: the BOR requires that all Centers and Institutes be self-funded.

New items require the most approval, to include your department, your school program review committee (PRC), the University Planning and Budgeting Committee (UPBC), the Committee on General Education (if the new item is to be included in Gen-Ed), either the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards (CUCAS) or the Graduate Council (depending on the level of the proposal), University Senate (for everything above the level of a course), the Provost/VPAA, and in the Connecticut Board of Regents.

For revisions to majors, options, minors, and certificates you will follow most of the above, but may be exempt from UPBC if there is no change in the number of credits offered and there are no other budgetary implications, as well as exemptions depending on the number of credits to be changed (see approval charts for the numbers).

For revisions to courses, there is a fast-track process from department to Provost, except in cases where a course may impact General Education, if a course dual listed, or if the course is a requirement for another degree program (cognate or major), then Gen-Ed, and/or the other department(s) must be consulted.

For changes to course designations (lab, lecture, or studio), you must proceed through the review process as a new course because there are likely to be budget implications.

Program discontinuation follows the same process as the establishment of a new program, with review from all committee levels.

Academic policy and procedure changes vary depending on the point of origin and scope. Department policies stay at the department level, school policies are approved by the school, General Education, CUCAS, and Graduate Council will bring their policy changes to the University Senate, which must then be approved by the Senate and the University President.

All materials must be submitted electronically, through the Curriculum Proposal Process (Sharepoint). No paper copies are required. For General Education, there is a cover sheet that should accompany your proposal. (It is included in the appendix to this handbook).

Department chairs must include minutes of the meeting in which a proposal was approved as part of the proposal. While it is permissible to submit a pdf of your proposal in Sharepoint, you should also fill out all fields so the registrar can easily post changes in Banner.

Summaries of the curriculum approval processes are included in the three tables below.

General Education Designation Approval Process

In order for a course to be considered for a General Education designation, the submitting department must provide a copy of the Application for General Education Course Approval and they must make clear the components of the course that make it a general education course and not just a course from a given content area. In particular, proposals should specifically address the ways in which the course addresses the learning outcomes for the relevant competency (ies). All course outlines must include the learning outcomes of the general education competency designation sought. General Education competencies will be assessed on a rotating five-year schedule. Faculty should expect to submit samples of student work relevant to the competency during assessment years. Per our bylaws this would apply to all course proposals seeking a general education designation including Honors, FDS, SIS, and Guided Readings. Follow the routing instructions in the Curriculum Proposal Process (Sharepoint).

Definitions and Learning Outcomes have been developed for the following areas:

- First Year Navigation (FY)
- Creative Process (CP)
- Critical Thinking (CT)
- Health and Wellness (HW)
- Information Literacy (IL)
- Intercultural Competency (IC)
- Oral Communication (OC)
- Quantitative Reasoning (QR)
- Scientific Inquiry (SI)
- Writing Tier 1 (W1)
- Writing Tier 2 (W2)
- Writing Tier 3 (W3)

¹⁴ Dual or triple labeled courses must have approvals from all relevant departments.

¹⁵ All departments requiring the course must be informed of the deletion. For program/major/certificate deletions, see full process here.

Program Sheet Revision Procedures

Approved program changes that occur throughout the year via the Curriculum Approval Process are to be reflected in both the University Catalogs and on the program sheets. Program changes must be approved no later than January 30, to be included in the next year's catalog. Approved program changes are recorded in the Curriculum Proposal Process (Sharepoint) and are available for reference by all departments and deans. The Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs will initiate all University-wide changes, i.e., changes in literal prefix, common core revision, etc.

Program sheets are updated annually before the Summer New Student Orientation program, and are dated to coincide with corresponding catalog years. Updates to the program sheet are managed by the Registrar's Office.

Program sheets must be consistent with the University Catalogs. Current and four years of archived program sheets are posted on the university's website.

Program Discontinuance Procedures

- I. A department, the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards (CUCAS), the Graduate Council, the University Senate, or the University President may initiate a recommendation for program discontinuance.
- II. For functional purposes at this institution and for the term of the current CUS-AAUP contract, the term "program" shall refer to those programs for which program sheets exist, and any program sheets subsequently approved; discontinuance of minors in departments which do not have majors (e.g., Philosophy and Humanistic Studies) shall also follow the procedure outlined below.
- III. Any recommendation for program discontinuance shall be first reviewed by CUCAS or the Graduate Council to determine specific courses which would be affected and the effect of those discontinued courses on the other University programs. For the purposes of evaluating discontinuance, elimination of individual courses shall not be viewed as discontinuance. Only the request to eliminate groups of related courses, which would de facto force the discontinuance of any group, shall be viewed as discontinuance.
- IV. CUCAS OR the Graduate Council shall:

- A. List all courses in the program that might be discontinued.
 - B. Note those courses that are part of general education.
 - C. Note those courses which are required in other programs and list the departments and programs so affected.
 - D. State the current status of the accreditation or licensure of the program.
 - E. Develop a timetable (within the framework noted in 6. and 8. Below) both for other committees and groups to report back to CUCAS or the Graduate Council and for the relevant committee to complete its own report and recommendations to the University Senate.
 - F. Send copies of the initial statement of the impact of program discontinuance on all courses and departments affected along with the timetable for completing all reports and recommendations to the following:
 - 1. The University Planning and Budgeting Committee (UPBC).
 - 2. Schools concerned.
 - 3. Department(s) concerned.
 - 4. The Student Government Association (SGA).
 - G. Send a cover letter and copies of the initial statement of the impact of program discontinuance on all courses and departments affected, along with the timetable for completing all reports and recommendations to the University President and the University Senate President.
- V. Within a period of time specified by CUCAS or the Graduate Council, the above mentioned groups shall examine the proposal for program discontinuance and determine if it is based on bona fide educational considerations. The reports submitted to CUCAS or the Graduate Council by the various groups shall include the following:
- A. UPBC
 - 1. Institutional funding and support with reference to: faculty positions, student recruitment procedures, equipment budget, library budget, funding for program advertising.
 - 2. Alternative arrangements for some program continuance and faculty (i.e., liaison with one of the other units of the Connecticut State University, etc.).
 - 3. Effect on accreditation, certification or licensure.
 - 4. The effect on any students currently enrolled.
 - 5. The effect on any other programs if courses are discontinued.
 - 6. Recommendations for ways in which the program could continue.
 - B. Schools
 - 1. The effect on any students currently enrolled.
 - 2. The effect on any other programs if courses are discontinued.
 - 3. Recommendations for ways in which the program could continue.
 - C. Department(s)
 - 1. The effect on faculty status.
 - 2. The effect on any students currently enrolled.

3. Recommendations for ways in which the program could continue.

- D. Graduate Council
 - 1. The effect on any students currently enrolled.
 - 2. The effect on accreditation, certification or licensure.
 - 3. Impact on students.
 - 4. Recommendations for ways in which the program could continue.
- E. SGA
 - 1. Impact on students.
- VI. In the event that discontinuance involves a graduate program, information from V A, B and C above should be sent to the Graduate Council, which will then report and make its recommendation to the Senate.
- VII. The CUCAS or Graduate Council report to the University Senate shall include:
 - A. Source of the recommendation for program discontinuance.
 - B. The material listed in in 4. And 5. Above
 - C. Analysis of reports received.
 - D. Recommendation for or against program discontinuance, if necessary.
 - 1. Recommendation for program discontinuance timing.
 - 2. Basis and validity for discontinuance.
 - 3. Possible alternative arraignments for program continuance.
- VIII. The University Senate shall review the CUCAS or Graduate Council's recommendations to determine if these have been based on bona fide educational considerations. Within 60 calendar days of the initiation of a request for program discontinuance, the University Senate shall have completed its review and shall pass on its recommendations and the Committee report to the University President for appropriate action.
- IX. The President shall be requested to inform the State of his/her decision.

Adopted: Nov. 25, 1980

Amended: Mar. 31, 1981

Procedure for Planning of the Undergraduate or Graduate Curriculum

- I. Planning
 - A. This procedure is to be used for: a) programs (options, etc.) or courses with additional equipment and/or staff required, b) programs (options, etc.) where no CIP number exists, and c) programs (options, etc.) with additional equipment and/or staff not required and program CIP number exists.
 - B. The department prepares and approves a proposal for planning approval of not more than two (2) pages. The proposal should include answers to the following:
 - 1. What are the educational equipment needs?
 - 2. What are the staffing needs? (over a 4-year period)
 - 3. What is the rationale for the proposal?
 - 4. Are there any special room or facility needs (e.g., computer time, etc.)?

5. When would degrees be granted?
 6. How does the program (course, etc.) meet the University strategic planning assumptions?
 7. How much library material is already available on the campus/how much more library material is needed?
 8. What is the implementation schedule?
- C. The proposal is sent to the chairperson of the University Planning & Budgeting Committee to determine whether the proposal fits into the strategic planning of the institution and what the possibilities are for staff, equipment, facilities, etc.
 - D. The University Planning & Budgeting Committee recommendation, either approval for planning or disapproval with reasons, comments or recommendations is sent to the University President for administrative review. A copy of the committee's recommendation is also sent simultaneously to the department chairperson.
 - E. The University President will review the proposal and send his/her approval for planning or disapproval with reasons, comments or recommendations to the department chairperson and the chairperson of the University Planning & Budgeting Committee simultaneously. If approved, the chairperson of the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards or the Graduate Council should also be notified.
 - F. If the proposal is approved, the department may proceed with PHASE II.

II. Curriculum Development

- A. The department prepares and approves the full proposal for the new program, course, etc., including the original proposal with administrative planning approval. The proposal should include the course designation (lecture, lab, studio), level, title, description, prerequisite(s), level, outline and any other information required by the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards or the Graduate Council. Departmental approval indicates that all other affected departments have been notified.
- B. Undergraduate and graduate course material or undergraduate program proposals will be routed to the chairperson of the school curriculum committee. If the school curriculum committee approves, the proposal is sent to the chairperson of the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards or the Graduate Council. The school curriculum committee is responsible for the complete contents of the proposal when it is sent for review. If the school curriculum committee disapproves, the proposal, with reasons, comments or recommendations, is rejected in the CPP and the department chairperson is notified.
- C. Graduate program proposals are sent, via the CPP, to the chairperson of the school curriculum committee. If the school curriculum committee approves, the proposal is forwarded to the chairperson of the Graduate Council. The Graduate Council reviews the proposal. If approved, the proposal is sent to the Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs. If disapproved, the proposal with reasons, comments, or recommendations, is rejected and returned to the department chairperson.
- D. The Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards reviews undergraduate proposals. If approved, the proposal is sent for administrative - review. If disapproved, the proposal, with reasons, comments or recommendations, is rejected in the CPP and comments are sent back to the chairperson of the school curriculum committee and the department chairperson. The Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards may consult with the department and/or school curriculum committee for clarification throughout the process.

- E. The chairperson of the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards, the department chairperson and the appropriate Dean are notified simultaneously of the administrative approval or disapproval with reasons, comments or recommendations.
 - F. The office of Academic Affairs is responsible for initiating and overseeing the off-campus approval process required for licensure of new programs after they have been approved on campus. The off-campus process may include the BOR, CTDOE, and NECHE. Inquiries about this process should be directed to the office of Academic Affairs.

The steps above offer guidance on the planning and approval of new curriculum. It is also recommended that you look at the templates required by the CT Board of Regents before you begin. The questions posed there are helpful for campus-based planning and will be required for all new degrees, options, certificates, or centers and institutes, as well as significant revisions to existing programs. The templates can be found here: <http://www.ct.edu/academics/approval>

Approval of Programs at the Connecticut Board of Regents for Higher Education¹⁶

Board of Regents Approval Processes

All of the processes of program approval, revision, and closure at the Board of Regents mirror those of WCSU. You should anticipate a minimum of four months at the BOR and then another six weeks for approval to offer Title IV Funds for new programs. As a general rule, planning for BOR review will include:

1. Development of documentation to conform with BOR guidelines. The Provost/VPAA will review prior to moving the proposal forward to the Academic Council.
2. Academic Council will review first a Concept Paper, then a Proposal. Plan for a minimum of two visits as you incorporate feedback from the Concept Paper into the Proposal. If approved, it moves to Academic and Student Affairs.
3. Academic and Student Affairs will review the Proposal approved by Academic Council. If approved, it moves to the full Board of Regents as part of the Consent Agenda votes.
4. At each stage, representatives of the program must be available to answer questions.

If approved by the full board, WCSU will then need approval from the federal government to offer financial aid (Title 4 funds). This frequently takes up to four months. Some degrees also require review at the Office of Higher Education.

Appropriate forms for the BOR can be found here: <http://www.ct.edu/academics/approval>

The Academic Council is composed of the Principal Academic Officers from all institutions under the BOR: the College Deans at CC System, the Provosts/AVPs at the CSUS and COSC. Meetings are planned and facilitated by BOR Academic and Student Affairs Staff.

Constituent Units of Higher Education are: the Connecticut Community College System, the Connecticut State University System, Charter Oak State College, and the University of Connecticut. Administrative processes within these units may require additional information and review beyond what is outlined or required in this document and related process forms. For example, any certificate program created at a CC System institution, even if below threshold for BOR approval, requires an administrative review and entry of such program and its courses in the of system-level operated programmatic database.

(NEW) (Effective July 1, 2011) Notwithstanding sections 10a-34 to 10a-35, inclusive, of the general statutes, as amended by this act, the Board of Regents for Higher Education shall have the authority, in accordance with the provisions of said sections 10a-34 to 10a-35, inclusive, as amended by this act, over academic degrees awarded by public institutions of higher education, including the (1) operation of public institutions of higher education and the programs offered by such public institutions of higher education, (2) licensure and accreditation of public institutions of higher education and programs offered by such public institutions of higher education, (3) evaluation and approval of applications to confer academic degrees made by public institutions of higher education, and (4) assessment of any violation by a public institution of higher education of the authority of said board as described in subdivisions (1) to (3), inclusive, of this section and the imposition of a penalty for such violation.

CONNECTICUT BOARD OF REGENTS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION
Connecticut State Colleges & Universities
Academic Programs Requiring Action by Board of Regents

a) New Programs:

CSCU institutions must seek approval to establish an academic program that has not been previously approved by either the Board of Regents or one of its predecessor governing bodies. New programs are:

- a) A new academic major
- b) A new degree program
- c) A new stand-alone certificate program that is Title IV eligible

Institutions shall seek approval of new degree and/or certificate programs either as Licensure or simultaneous Licensure and Accreditation:

- a) Licensure, normally granted for a period of three years, authorizing the enrollment of students and their advancement toward the completion of degree requirements; or
- b) Licensure and Accreditation, simultaneously authorizing the enrollment and award of credentials to students. The accreditation action is considered renewed with each regional accreditation of the institution. Simultaneous licensure and accreditation is generally sought for new degree and certificate programs that are closely related to a set of already existing programs and aligned with institutional strengths.

New degree programs are normally submitted for licensure only, to be accredited after three years. Certificates normally are licensed and accredited simultaneously.

b) Modification of Accredited Program:

A program modification is the substantive change to an academic program previously approved by either the Board of Regents or a predecessor. CSCU institutions must seek approval for the following instances as program modifications:

1. Creation of a new undergraduate certificate program of more than 30 course credit hours belonging to a previously approved baccalaureate major;
2. Creation of a new undergraduate certificate program of more than 30 course credit hours belonging to a previously approved associate degree program;
3. Creation of a new baccalaureate minor of more than 18 course credit hours;
4. Creation of a new undergraduate option or certificate program of more than 15 course credit hours not falling within a previously approved program;
5. Creation of a new graduate option or certificate program of more than 12 course credit hours not falling within a previously approved program;
6. Significant modifications in courses or course substitutions of more than 15 credits in a previously approved undergraduate degree program;
7. Significant modifications in courses or course substitutions of more than 12 credits in a previously approved graduate degree program;

8. Authorization for an approved program to be offered at an off-campus location or using an alternative modality (e.g. on ground to online); and
9. A change in the title of a degree or title of program

Modification below the thresholds of items a) through g) above may also require approval if the respective credential is required by existing state regulations for a licensed profession or work area.

c) Accreditation of Licensed Program

CSCU institutions must seek approval for the accreditation of a licensed program in a timely fashion – prior to the expiration of the initial three-year licensure period and/or the inaugural awarding of the program's credential.

d) Discontinuation of Existing Program

CSCU institutions must seek approval to discontinue an existing academic program previously approved by either the Board of Regents or a predecessor. Program discontinuation consists of a Phase Out period during which time students in the program graduate and a Termination Step in which the program is taken off the official list of existing academic programs maintained by the Office of Higher Education (OHE). Program discontinuation should:

- a) Occur in the context of a related academic improvement (e.g., the merging of programs with declining enrollments/completions into a new program that effectively addresses relevant state needs and students' interest);
- b) Emerge as a result of the periodic Academic Program Review process at the institution in compliance with existing Board of Regents policy and procedures;
- c) Other institutional considerations such as redirecting capacity, adoption of a new mission, strategic planning, etc.

Program discontinuation should not impact state priorities for workforce preparation.

e) Suspension of Existing Program

CSCU institutions must seek approval to suspend an existing academic program previously approved by either the Board of Regents or a predecessor. The application for a suspension requires a rationale for the suspension and follow-up plans. Program suspension consists of a Phase Out/Teach Out period during which time the institution ensures that students currently enrolled will be provided opportunities to complete the program and a projection as to when the program is to be reinstated or deleted.

Academic Programs that are Information Item Only

The following non-substantive instances require that CSCU institutions submit a Below-Threshold New Academic Offering Information Report Form to the CSCU System Office of the Provost for inclusion in the agendas of the CSCU Academic Council, the Board of Regents' Academic and Student Affairs Committee and the Board of Regents as an information item. These instances do not require a Board resolution:

- I. New minors, concentrations, options, specializations or certificate programs not classified in the categories requiring Board of Regents action; i.e.:
 - A. An undergraduate certificate or program of 30 course credit hours or fewer that falls within an approved program;
 - B. A new baccalaureate minor of 18 or fewer course credit hours;

- C. A new undergraduate option or certificate program of 15 or fewer course credit hours;
- D. A new graduate option or certificate program of 12 or fewer course credit hours
- E. Programs that do not qualify students to become eligible for federal student financial aid.

Academic Program Review Process

I. Purpose and Rationale

As mandated by the BOR, all WCSU undergraduate and graduate degree programs approved by the Connecticut Board of Regents for Higher Education and all BOR approved Centers will undergo review every seven years*. Scheduled program reviews are an integral part of the University's strategic planning process. They support ongoing efforts to demonstrate institutional effectiveness and maintain accreditation by the New England Commission on Higher Education (NECHE). The program review is intended to be a rigorous, collegial, and supportive process. It is a peer review process including Department faculty, external evaluators, deans, appropriate governance bodies, and the provost.

*For programs with specialized accreditation, the most recent self-study or mid-cycle report may be submitted as the program self-study and action plan. However, care must be taken to align that report with the criteria described hereafter. A summary of that alignment should be included in the Program Review Materials.

II. Contents of Program Review Self Study

- A. Purposes (Mission, Goals, Objectives, Vision): The Departmental Program Review Committee (DPRC) should examine and when necessary suggest revisions of the program's mission, goals, and/or objectives to ensure congruence with the University's mission and Strategic Plan. Documents to be consulted include: The University Mission, Vision, Values, and Strategic Plan, the Program Mission and Vision, Program Mission and Strategic Plan (where applicable), Program Annual Reports, Accreditation Standards (NEASC or discipline specific).
- B. Evaluation of Curriculum: The DPRC should evaluate the curriculum from internal and external perspectives.
- C. Internal perspectives should focus on the organization of curriculum, the relevance and communication of the program learning outcomes. To do this the DPRC should review:
 1. The organization of the curriculum to ensure that courses are clearly aligned with the program learning outcomes. Evidence for this alignment will be found in course outlines and syllabi, which should include relevant program learning outcomes.
 2. The sequencing of requirements and course pre-requisites to ensure that they are logical and support student success.
 3. A review of any requirements outside of the major (cognates) and a description of their relevance to success in the major. Examples of such relevance may include syllabi from the major that build on the knowledge from the cognate, e.g., nursing syllabi assume knowledge of anatomy and physiology, meteorology syllabi assume knowledge of calculus.
- D. External perspectives may include comparisons with peer programs at other universities, comparisons with national or international standards or guidelines, advisory committee reports, and specialized accreditation standards where applicable.
- E. Assessment of Student Learning Outcomes: The DPRC should review direct and indirect assessments of the program learning outcomes as part of the evaluation of the program's effectiveness.

1. For direct assessment, the DPRC should examine the full program assessment plan and results of the last five years to see that the plans are appropriate to the kinds of evaluation needed and that the results are used to improve curriculum. Materials to be consulted are: a complete assessment plan and description of the protocol, assessment results for the last five years, records of any changes to curriculum or pedagogy that resulted from the review of assessment results. All of the above should be documented on the NEASC E Series (now NECHE) forms as a summary.
 2. For indirect assessment, the DPRC should examine any documents that reflect external assessments of the program or student success after graduation. Materials to be consulted may include: employment rates (overall and/or in field) one or more years after graduation, rates of graduate/professional school applications and acceptances, surveys of supervisors of student teachers and/or interns/co-op/practicum students, surveys of recent graduates and/or other alumni, assessments of co-curricular activities relevant to the program, and descriptions of any changes made based on this data.
- F. Student Enrollment, Retention, Satisfactory Progress and Graduation Rates (See NEASC Data First forms – Now NECHE): The DPRC should review the baseline program data for the last 5 years to determine the health of the program in its current state. Baseline Program data includes five year data on the following: FTE in the major, Retention rates, Six Year Graduation rates, Demographic information (gender, ethnicity, first generation). Additional data may include: percent of students on academic probation and on the Dean's list, evaluation of gateway courses and their impact on student progress to degree completion, impact of program specific recruiting efforts, and assessment of any department-wide advising efforts where applicable.
- G. Assessment of Resource Needs: The DPRC should examine the program resources (human, physical and fiscal) in terms of their adequacy in supporting the program in its effort to meet its mission, goals and objectives.
1. For faculty and staff, the DPRC should review faculty credentials to determine if they are appropriate to discipline and determine sufficiency of current staffing to support the program. Consider the ability to staff regular course rotations, faculty-student ratio, advising loads, and adjunct ratios.
 2. For facilities, the DPRC should describe the spaces and technologies allocated to this program, and determine if they are sufficient for current needs and if there a need to expand facilities in the next 7 years based on your enrollment and curriculum plans.
- H. Public Disclosure and Integrity: The DPRC should review the program's compliance with Federal and NEASC standards with regard to public disclosure and integrity. This includes all communication about the program in the university catalog (print and electronic versions), websites, Facebook and other social media.
- I. Evaluation, Planning and Projections: The DPRC should review all information in the report to develop an overall assessment of the program's quality and viability. From this information, the DPRC should develop an action plan for the next seven (7) years to address any curriculum, enrollment, or staffing challenges, or opportunities for growth. The plan should describe the aspects of the program that will be maintained, deleted, and/or modified and those changes should be discussed in relation to program quality, enrollment projections, and resource implications. In the event that program closure is recommended, a plan to accommodate existing students in the program should be developed.

J. Required Appendices

1. Baseline Program Data from the past five years (Data First Forms)
2. Assessment Plans, NEASC Forms E Series, Assessment Reports and Data from the past five years.
3. For programs with discipline specific accreditation, a map of how NEASC and the discipline standards are aligned.
4. Report from External Evaluators

III. Role and Selection of External Evaluators

The program review process includes an external evaluation to provide feedback and guidance from qualified faculty and/or professionals in the discipline. For programs with specialized accreditation, the selection process and format of such a report will conform to the accrediting body's guidelines. For those programs with NEASC accreditation only, the following guidelines should be followed:

- A. The DPRC will suggest to the Dean up to six (6) potential candidates to serve as external evaluators. Candidates shall include individuals from NEASC institutions and/or practitioners in the field and/or members of professional associations related to the discipline.
- B. The Dean will review the curriculum vitae of potential external evaluators with the Provost before approving the team of evaluators. A team will usually include two (2) evaluators. In case of a disagreement in the selection of candidates, the Dean and DPRC will meet to resolve the issue.
- C. The Dean will contact the recommended individuals and make arrangements concerning duties, timeline, and compensation (travel, honoraria, and additional stipend for writing the final report).

IV. Program Review Timeline

A. Year 1

1. Notification of the start of a program review from the Provost by May 1.
2. Selection of Departmental Program Review Committee (DPRC) at the first department meeting in September.
3. Collection of self-study data by the committee, facilitated by the office of Institutional Research and Assessment completed by January 30.

WCSU Online Policy

I. INSTITUTIONAL POLICY ISSUES

A. Purpose:

1. The purpose of Western Connecticut State University (WCSU) Online Learning Policy is to assure high quality in online/distance learning with regard to instruction, procedures, and support. Unless otherwise stated all academic policies and procedures apply to both on-campus and online courses. Nevertheless, the particular nature and circumstances of online learning necessitate a clear explication of policies and procedures on key areas. All Online Learning policies are generated and executed in accordance with the mission of WCSU.

B. Principles of Good Practice for Electronically Offered Academic Degree And Certificate Programs:

1. Distance learning activities at WCSU comply with the NEASC Guidelines for the Evaluation of Distance Education & On-line Learning and with the Guidelines of other accrediting bodies.
2. See: See: Guidelines for the Evaluation of Distance Education (On-line Learning) Now NECHE
3. WCSU's goal is to ensure that online courses meet the same quality standards as courses taught on campus. Additionally, some online learning may address the needs or topic in ways that on-campus classes cannot.

C. Definition

1. Online Course: Defined as one in which course content is delivered online via the University's web-based course management system, whether synchronously or asynchronously. Students submit course work and participate in discussions with faculty and other students via the Internet. Many online courses contain media-rich presentations that reinforce important concepts. Students in these courses communicate with faculty and fellow students using e-mail, discussion boards, and submit assignments to faculty through the University' web-based course management system.
2. Hybrid Course: Defined as one in which a course is comprised of both face-to-face meetings and online learning, where the online component does not exceed 50% of the designated instructional time. All face-to-face meetings for a hybrid course will be announced prior to registration. The online component is delivered via the University's web-based course management system.

D. Review of Distance Learning Policy:

1. The responsibility for evaluating and revising the Online Learning Policy resides with the Senate Distance Learning Committee, as specified by NECHE.

II. CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

A. Academic Integrity of Online Learning Courses:

1. Online learning courses are comparable to campus-based courses in terms of:
 - a. Syllabi
 - b. Office Hours
 - c. Expected learning outcomes
 - d. Readings and assignments
 - e. Grading
 - f. Methods of evaluation
 - g. Student Opinion Survey
 2. Online learning courses are subject to the same policies as stated in the Graduate and Undergraduate Catalogs for campus-based courses. Faculty members must also follow the regulations described in the Collective Bargaining Agreement and the guidelines in the Faculty Handbook.
- B. Oversight of Courses:
1. Like all academic activities, online learning at WCSU operates under the purview of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, CUCAS and Grad Council. WCSU adheres to the policy that all courses of the same prefix and number are equivalent, regardless of mode of delivery and/or period of delivery. It is the responsibility of the faculty to ensure that the rigor of programs and quality of instruction are maintained within their courses.
- C. Online Learning Course Offering Process
1. For new online offerings, the faculty member must complete the Online Education at WCSU course offering form. Form approval must be provided by the Department Chair, Academic Dean, and Provost. This process should be done as expediently as possible.
- D. Instructional Review: Quality of Instruction Issues
1. Instruction in all courses, whether campus-based or online is reviewed by the same criteria set forth in the AAUP-CBA, the Faculty Handbook and Departmental Bylaws.
 2. Criteria will include, but will not be limited to, evaluation of teaching effectiveness and student opinion surveys. Evaluators may need special training and support to adequately review online instruction due to the distinct pedagogical implications that must be considered when looking at online teaching and learning strategies and processes.
 3. See: DEC Written Evaluation and Recommendation Report for Teaching Faculty Members.
 4. Faculty Interaction with Students:
 5. As in all classes, best practices in online learning necessitate clear guidelines on faculty student interaction. Online and hybrid courses require strong instructor presence and frequent interactions with students. Faculty should clarify in their syllabi and course policies the nature of planned interaction, feedback timelines (like grading or email turnaround), as well as appropriate modes of communication (e-mail, phone, fax, chat, or discussion board.) Faculty should ensure clear responses to students, within a student-friendly timeframe. Complete and detailed feedback should be provided via the discussion board, individual email or other appropriate means. Office hours shall be held in compliance with the Faculty Handbook. Depending on the nature of the course, some may want to provide synchronous office hours when students know faculty can be reached by methods such as VoIP (Voice Over Internet Protocol), telephone or email. The instructor is expected to comply with all privacy laws in conducting online and hybrid courses.

E. Faculty Responsibility

1. The instructor is responsible for presenting course content, instruction, and evaluating student progress in online learning courses, as well as for campus-based courses. Rapid changes in technology may require faculty to reevaluate online course resources frequently.

F. Accessibility (ADA):

1. All online learning is conducted in regard to and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. See: www.wcsu.edu/diversity/americans-with-disabilities-act-ada-university-statement/

G. Intellectual Property and Third Party Providers

1. Distance learning courses are frequently designed and disseminated by other colleges, universities, corporations or non-profit organizations. In the event that WCSU wishes to purchase or lease modules or entire courses from a Third Party, such courses or modules must be evaluated by the appropriate curricular committees to ensure that the materials meet all quality criteria set forth by the appropriate curricular committees before any legal agreements are signed between parties.

H. University Honesty Policy

1. Online, hybrid and on-site course instruction follow the same campus-wide policy on Academic Honesty. WCSU affirms its commitment to enforcing the Academic Honesty Policy and to supporting faculty and students in the handling of academic integrity matters. WCSU is committed to making information on academic integrity easy to find on the campus Web sites and within online courses. Departments offering online courses and degrees should include ethics instruction within the relevant course and/or core curricula. WCSU encourages faculty to report every suspected violation of the Academic Honesty Policy and act upon it. (See Academic Honesty Policy.)

I. Copyright Compliance

1. The University acts in accordance with Section 403 of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act. See <http://www.copyright.gov/legislation/sec403.pdf>

J. Testing Policies: Verifying the Identify of The Student Submitting Work Online

1. WCSU verifies the identity of students in online classes in accordance with current educational standards. WCSU provides secure student logins and password to access online courses and related resources, discussions, assignments and assessments. Students are provided instruction on maintaining the security of their logins and passwords. WCSU must have processes that establish that the student who registers in a distance or correspondence education course or program is the same student who participates in and completes the program and receives academic credit. Verification methods are determined by the institution and may include but are not limited to secure login and password protocols, proctored examinations, and new or other technologies and practices.

III. FACULTY

A. Faculty Qualifications

1. Faculty members who teach online learning courses must meet the same qualifications as faculty who teach campus-based courses at Western Connecticut State University. They will be selected in accordance with the WCSU Faculty Collective Bargaining Agreement.

B. Faculty Training

1. WCSU provides a variety of training workshops and individual training for faculty in the use of all relevant courseware and/or software. Training will be provided as needed to ensure that faculty remain current in the use of the technology. WCSU's Center for Excellence Learning and Teaching (CELT) should offer professional development opportunities for faculty to learn best practices for effective online communication with students
2. In addition to training and professional development for faculty related to teaching in distance learning formats, the faculty meets periodically to share information and discuss ideas to enhance effectiveness of courses and quality of courses being taught.

C. Faculty Evaluation

1. Procedures to be followed for the evaluation of faculty-administration of Student Opinion Surveys and Peer Observations--should follow the guidelines set forth in the CBA, the Faculty Handbook and Departmental Bylaws in as close to the same manner as is possible in online and on- campus courses. The individual DEC's and Department Chairs should be permitted access to online classes in a manner that is comparable to the observation of faculty teaching on-campus classes. Additionally, department curriculum and assessment committees should be permitted access on a limited basis to courses to ensure course quality. Departments should identify assessment procedures for online learning that are consistent with their mission. On site and online courses should be comparable experiences and each department will need to periodically review its courses to assure that approved course learning outcomes are addressed.

D. Faculty Teaching Load:

1. Faculty members teaching distance-learning courses receive the same workload credit as faculty who teach campus-based courses.

IV. STUDENT SUPPORT SERVICES

A. Student Services

1. All policies covering on-campus classes shall also apply to distance learning classes. This includes matriculation, financial aid, and registration. The WCSU website shall provide information about distance learning orientation sessions as well as all other services online (e.g., financial aid, career development, tutoring services, counseling and academic advising). Students should consult an academic advisor before registering for an online learning class, as well as campus-based courses. Special attention should be paid to a student's ability to work independently and to perform all or most course work by reading and writing. Students should plan their schedules wisely making sure they have sufficient time to complete an online class within the allotted time. Students must ensure that they will have adequate access to a computer and the internet to complete the class.

B. Student Training

1. It is recommended that all students must complete an orientation to online learning course before registering for their first course. This training will familiarize the student with the instructional software and well as acquaint them with the principles and practices of being a good online student. New student orientation sessions should include training on the university's current-web-based learning management system, as provided by Information Technology & Innovation.

C. Student Complaints/Grievance Procedure

1. All student concerns about grading and other academic concerns should follow established University procedures as set forth in the Student Handbook, the Undergraduate or Graduate Catalog and the Faculty Handbook.

D. Library Resources

1. WCSU Libraries ensure that the distance learning community has access to library materials equivalent to those provided in traditional settings. The Libraries provide convenient, direct access to library materials in appropriate formats that are of sufficient quality, depth, number, scope, and currency to:
 - a. meet students' needs in fulfilling course assignments; enrich the academic programs;
 - b. meet teaching and research needs; support curricular needs
 - c. promote the acquisition of lifelong learning skills;
 - d. accommodate students with varying levels of technological access (i.e., low bandwidth); and accommodate other informational needs of the distance learning community as appropriate.

2. Library services offered to the distance learning community are designed to meet a wide range of informational, instructional, and user needs. Services include virtual reference and research assistance (via chat, e-mail, phone, text); online library instruction and informational services (including information literacy instruction); reliable, rapid, secure access to online resources; access to electronic reserve materials, interlibrary loan and document delivery services; and adequate service hours. Library services to the distance learning community will be promoted through variety of channels, including the Library's mobile-enhanced website, and will include documented and updated policies and procedures.

E. University Bookstore

1. The WCSU website provides a link to the WCSU Bookstore (which provides information for both distance learning students and traditional students.) All students may make bookstore purchases using the online service. The bookstore will mail the requested materials to the student.

V. DISTANCE LEARNING FACILITIES AND SUPPORT SERVICES

A. Distance Learning Equipment and Facilities

1. Western Connecticut State University provides the necessary equipment and facilities to effectively deliver scheduled synchronous and asynchronous courses at a distance. Video conferencing rooms are available to fully deliver courses. Computers with Internet access are available on campus for students who may need to use campus facilities for distance learning purposes. All courses that require laboratories and clinical site visits, which cannot be completed via technology-based distance learning, are handled with special arrangements made by the faculty member in consultation with the Dean and IT.

B. Funding for Distance Learning:

1. Sufficient funds for the operation of online/distance learning programs have been allocated to maintain instructional offerings. The annual University budget provides for the maintenance of equipment and networks the WCSU CIO is responsible for this budget.

C. Institutional Technology Responsibility:

1. Information Technology & Innovation provides the technical expertise necessary for maintaining equipment and networks, so that the delivery of online/distance learning programs may occur. A System Administrator addresses student and faculty concerns with the delivery of distance learning and an online Helpdesk is available for equipment problems. In addition, IT&I provides training of faculty and staff. IT&I schedules several training modules for professional development during each year and or as needed. IT&I provides orientation and training modules available online for students.

VI. PLANNING AND EVALUATION

A. Institutional Planning

1. The viability of distance learning programs is included in the planning process. Distance learning is planned to meet the University mission, strategic initiatives, goals and objectives, and is consistent with the University long-range planning document. Distance learning is designed and evaluated according to the same guidelines used for on-campus programs. The effectiveness of distance learning is assessed as discussed in this document. Finally, the results of the assessment are used to make appropriate changes to the long-range plan and to the program. Departments offering online courses or programs track the effectiveness of such program through their assessment process.

B. Educational Effectiveness

1. Distance learning is designed and evaluated according to the same guidelines used to assess on-campus courses, programs, and departments. The effectiveness of distance learning is assessed based on the accreditation policies described by NEASC and other national and regional accrediting bodies related to specific program areas across the University.

Recommendations

Date: July 2, 2012

With respect to the proposed Distance Education Policy, we make the following recommendations.

For online and hybrid instruction to be effective here at WCSU it is recommended that CELT become the faculty-driven catalyst for addressing technology and learning. Purpose: in order to perform this function CELT's profile and resources need to be augmented and strengthened. Specifically, the Senate Distance Education Committee, in cooperation with Information Technology & Innovation, create a series of faculty workshops focusing on the development and maintenance of online courses. The committee should also create a best practices document to assist faculty in the creation and evaluation of their online offerings.

That Information Technology & Innovation modify the university's installation of its current course management software (CMS) to require all new users--faculty and students--to complete an online tutorial before being able to use said system. Purpose: to ensure that new users demonstrate minimum standards for using the CMS.

That Information Technology & Innovation create and make available to each academic department an anonymous online version of the student opinion survey instrument with content identical to that ordinarily in use by the department or one that has been designed or approved by the department specifically for online use in accordance with Article 4.11.8 of the CSU-AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement. The procedure for administering the survey shall also be subject to approval by the department as provided for in Article 4.11.8.

That Information Technology & Innovation modify its course registration system such that hybrid courses receive two room assignments, one physical and one

"ONLINE." Purpose: to provide a simple mechanism for identifying hybrid courses in online course listings.

That the procedure for scheduling an online course be no more difficult than for onsite classes, requiring the same sequence of approvals and paperwork.

Department Chairs must remain cognizant of any substantive changes to a program as the percentage of online courses expands, as per NECHE guidelines.

Purpose: to foster and facilitate the creation of online courses as a regular component of a term's offerings.

Creative Activity, Professional Development Opportunities, and Research Protocols

The Connecticut State University Research Foundation

The Connecticut State University Research foundation was established by the Connecticut General Assembly under Public Act 79-202 for the purpose of facilitating and promoting research activities among the four institutions that comprise the CSU system.

The Research Foundation operates on each CSU campus under the direction of the campus President in accordance with the regulations of the Foundation and all other relevant general University and State regulations.

Each campus has a Research Foundation Advisory Council, which, at Western, is the Research and Development Committee. The function of the Advisory Council is to advise the campus President on the operation of the Foundation, as well as the conduct of research and public service activities on each campus.

Definition of Faculty Scholarship

Although a university may be committed to the idea of being a “teaching institution,” that concept cannot be fulfilled apart from a similar commitment to scholarly activity. Scholarly activity has three components--research, scholarship, and creative endeavor--whose principal foci are oriented toward the academic program of the university and are carried out by individual faculty.

These activities are vital to the university and to its academic program and have an impact on the student as a learner. They are a very real part of the instructional process. In progress through undergraduate studies, the student is constantly moving toward more and more independent learning and learns that research and creative endeavor are necessary elements in the learning process. Students must have models of ongoing scholarly activity in which they can see the possibilities for their own creative talents. Faculty engaged in scholarly activity provide those models. In this sense, scholarly activity is an integral part of teaching. Research, creative endeavor, and scholarship are also intimately involved in the professional development of individual faculty members. Through the process of sharing the outcomes of professional efforts with colleagues both on and off the campus, validation of progress in developing as a scholar in a discipline is received. Reviewing and critiquing the work of others provides opportunities for faculty to test ideas and concepts developed in their own work. Often, sharing scholarly activity with colleagues on the campus functions as a stimulus to fellow faculty. Since professional development is a lifelong task, sustained effort in this area of involvement is needed. A detailed description of the three components of scholarly activity follows:

Research for the purposes of this discussion will be categorized as discipline, applied, and pedagogical. The first orients toward new knowledge, the second toward the utilization of that new knowledge, and the third toward methods of teaching and learning. Discipline research is that activity which is carried out with the deliberate intent of extending the frontiers of knowledge in a particular academic discipline. Little attention is given to the applicability or practical use of possible discoveries. Applied research is activity that is carried out with the deliberate intent of solving a specific problem in an immediate time frame. The focus of the activity is the applicability of the research to a well-defined, real-life need. Pedagogical research is activity which explores the merits of one educational approach to instruction over another approach, under what conditions students learn best, how educational material may be organized to enhance the learning process, investigations of the degree to which curricula meet the requirements they have designed to meet, etc. The sharing of the results of research, as outlined later in this paper, is an integral part of the research process. The responsibility to communicate the results of research to assist colleagues, as well as to validate findings, is the task of the faculty member. The responsibility to support and facilitate research efforts on the part of the faculty is the task of the academic administrator.

Scholarship is an activity that refers to updating and extending an area of study within the professional life of the faculty member. University professors must be constantly alert to new and innovative directions in their disciplines if their leadership in the classroom is to be truly effective. It is this kind of activity that frequently spells the difference between professors who are inspiring and creative in the role as teacher and those who only continue to use notes on aging yellow pages. Faculty engaged in scholarship are those who take advantage of the opportunities to remain viable and active in their particular areas of specialty. The development and sharing of ideas; the conception and implementation of new and creative instructional materials; participation in conferences, conventions, workshops, professional meetings; and the publication of articles and monographs in areas other than research are samples of such activities.

Creative endeavor refers to the result of the production of creative work by faculty. Creative endeavor is most easily identified when associated with the performing arts (theatre, music, dance) and the fine arts (two- and three-dimensional art, writing). It is also most appropriate to apply it in the area of applied arts (architecture, graphics and printing, design, decorating). Creative endeavor involves not only the creation of a tangible product, but the subjection of that creative piece to judgment by public and peers through the vehicle of performance, show publication, display, or exhibit. There is some overlap area of scholarship. For example, an article dealing with the impact of carbon steel by its inventor could be classified as creative endeavor.

Faculty Retraining Grants

Faculty retraining grants may be used for tuition, books, travel and related expenses. Retraining must be in areas deemed useful to the University as determined by departments or administration. All grants must be approved by the University President or his designee and the CSU-AAUP. Although retraining monies cannot be used to support salaries or reassigned time, they may be used in conjunction with a sabbatical or professional leave applied for separately.

All full-time members of the faculty, as defined by the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the American Association of University Professors and the Connecticut State University, are eligible to apply.

Applications for grants (in the appendix: Faculty retraining grant) to be used in connection with an academic leave must be submitted to the Chair of the Academic Leave Committee by November 1st. Other applications will be processed by the committee as they are submitted. Proposals will be judged as highly recommended, recommended, or not recommended. Applicants will receive a copy of the recommendation as transmitted to the President. Following this transmittal, the faculty member should contact the Academic Vice President to negotiate the actual level of funding.

In preparing the application, the following points should be included:

1. The academic or administrative area in which the retraining is expected to be used.
2. The specific departmental or administrative need at Western Connecticut State University to be met by the new skills and knowledge.
3. The reason the proposed activities are appropriate for meeting the needs as stated in No. 2 above.
4. If possible, previous experience in the new area and/or evidence of the likelihood of success in the new field.

Faculty Development Funds

Under the terms of the CSU-AAUP contract, Article 9.6 and 12.10.1, a specified amount of money must be allocated annually for faculty development, "which shall be construed broadly to mean activities by and for members that enhance their ability to be productive and innovative professionals." In view of other funding sources for research (CSU/AAUP research grants) faculty development fund applications should not directly relate to the carrying out of research, nor be for the purpose of purchasing materials. AAUP Travel Funds for faculty members are also available from the Deans of the Schools, and should be seen as a first source for conference attendance and professional presentations. Such requests will be considered for Faculty Development Funds, after Travel Funds are depleted, but will receive lower priority.

I. Notification

Notification of available funds shall be published by the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs on the Academic Planning Calendar. Application forms are in the appendices to this handbook. .

II. Application

Funding is available for all members of the AAUP/CSU faculty bargaining unit as defined in the contract; this includes 10% of the funds being allocated for part-time faculty. Priority will be given to activities which support the spirit of learning and enhance teaching expertise.

A maximum of $1,200 may be granted to any individual full-time faculty member and $750 to any individual part-time faculty member. The Faculty Development and Recognition Committee believes that funds should be available to many individuals, so prior use of the Fund as well as merit of activity will be considered. In cases where the dollar total for approved applications exceeds available funds in a given funding period, preference will be given to applicants who have not been awarded full funding in the previous fiscal year." Applications for "in-house" workshops do not have a specified maximum funding level, but will be reviewed on the basis of merit and numbers of individuals across the University community who will benefit from the workshops. Proposals from AAUP members may be cosponsored with non-members.

Applications will be accepted and reviewed in the following time frame:

Application Deadline	Planned Activity
First Friday in September	October 1- Dec. 31
Third Friday in November	January 1-March 31
Fourth Friday in February	April 1- June 30
Third Friday in April	July 1-Sept. 30

Exact dates are posted annually in the Academic Planning Calendar.

Applications submitted after these deadline dates will not be considered. Applications for funds are to be made on the prescribed form, included in the appendix to this handbook. An electronic PDF copy is to be submitted to the Faculty Development and Recognition Committee, c/o the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs.

III. Committee Actions

The Faculty Development and Recognition Committee will review all proposals received and make recommendations concerning the allocation of funds to the Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs based on consideration of the above factors, the expected benefit to the University community, and the amount of money available. The Committee will inform each applicant of the recommendation made in regard to each proposal.

The application for Faculty Development Funds is in the appendices to this handbook.

Reassigned Time for Research or Creative Activity

Under terms of the CSU-AAUP contract specified minimum credit hours of faculty load must be reassigned for research for each semester. All members of the bargaining unit are eligible to apply. No individual may be awarded more than six (6) credit hours of reassigned time for one semester. The term "research" is intended to be broadly interpreted. (See definition of Faculty Scholarship under University Policy and Procedures in Faculty Handbook).

I. NOTIFICATION

Notification of the deadline for submission of applications for either or both semesters of the following academic year will be published on the Academic Planning Calendar by the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs at the beginning of the Fall term.

II. APPLICATION

Application deadline is November 6. Faculty members may apply for reassigned time by using the prescribed application form, a copy of which follows. The applicants may request reassigned time for more than one semester. Please print, sign, scan, and submit an electronic copy of this application and all related materials to the Committee on Reassigned Time for Research or Creative Activity, c/o the Administrative Assistant to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs (cunninghamj@wcsu.edu) by close of business on November 6. The chair of your department should be copied on this email. Late applications cannot be accepted. You must use the application form found in the current Faculty Handbook, which is available through the WCSU webpage at <http://www.wcsu.edu/facultystaff/handbook>. Outdated application forms will not be accepted.

III. COMMITTEE ACTIONS

The Committee on Reassigned Time for Research or Creative Activity will review the applications received and make recommendations using the following criteria:

- A. The nature of the research question, the premise of the creative work, or the rationale for the instructional or curricular research project, which must be clearly stated.
- B. The applicant should give evidence of specific knowledge and skills necessary to execute the project, and indicate how the project will contribute to the body of research, creative or pedagogical knowledge in the applicant's discipline.
- C. The applicant should indicate that the facilities and resources necessary to complete the project are available, and provide a work plan for how the project will be executed in the time requested
- D. The applicant should detail the plans for reporting on this work, focusing on the impact of the project on applicant's research and discipline or area of teaching and student involvement.
- E. The Committee on Reassigned Time for Research or Creative Activity
 - 1. Requires a current curriculum vitae which includes publications and/or presentations as well as a listing of previously University-funded projects.
 - 2. Will submit its recommendations to the University provost or his/her designee.
 - 3. Will inform each applicant of the recommendation made in regard to his/her application.

IV. ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION

The University Provost or his/her designee will notify successful applicants regarding reassigned time awarded.

V. REPORT(S)

A summary of the results of a reassigned time award shall be submitted to the Committee on Reassigned Time for Research or Creative Activity by the end of the first week in September after the reassigned time was awarded. Submission of a final report is required for consideration of future Reassigned Time For Research awards.

Summer Curriculum-Related Activities

The Collective Bargaining Agreement provides for stipends during the summer for curriculum-related activities. Individuals should address their requests to the Dean. Faculty deadline is March 1. The Dean must submit requests to the Academic Vice President by March 6. An advisory group composed of up to three members from CUCAS and up to three members from the Graduate Council, with at least one representative from each school, will then review the proposals. Faculty who are awarded stipends for summer curriculum-related activities must submit a brief report to the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards and the Graduate Council in the Fall semester following completion of activities.

The basic guidelines used by the Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum and Academic Standards in reviewing summer curriculum-related activities shall include: (1) the proposals should be for curriculum development (development of courses and programs) and not for training, assessment, or promotion of programs; (2) funds can go only to full-time members of the AAUP Collective Bargaining Unit in accordance with that agreement (Article 9.11); (3) preference is given to new curriculum development over revising existing courses; (4) preference is given to those who had not received funds in recent years over those who had recently received funds; and (5) faculty who fail to file a report will not be considered for funding until such report is filed.

Policy on Scientific Misconduct in Research

In accordance with regulations outlined by the National Science Foundation at 45 CFR 689 and Public Health Service regulations at 42 CFR Park 50, Subpart A, which took effect on June 25, 1995, Western Connecticut State University has adopted a Policy on Scientific Misconduct in Research.* This policy complies with the mandate that requires grant applications and recipients of research, research-training, or research-related grants or cooperative agreements must have established administrative policies for responding to allegations or research misconduct and certifies that the institution will comply with these policies.

A copy of the WCSU Policy on Scientific Misconduct in Research is available from the office of the Director of Grant Programs.

Adopted by University Senate: May 10, 1995 (R-95-5-1)

Policy on Conflict of Interest Pertaining To Sponsored Projects

In accordance with regulations outlined by the National Science Foundation and Public Health Service Regulations (42 CFR, Part 50), which took effect on June 25, 1995, Western Connecticut State University has adopted a Policy on Conflict of Interest Pertaining to Sponsored Projects.* This policy mandates that an institution which receives or applies for an NSF and/or PHS research, research training, or research-related grant or cooperative arrangement must have an established institutional policy to avoid actual or potential conflicts of interest between faculty members' outside interests and Federally funded research by those agencies.

Human Subjects and Vertebrate Animals

All research and instructional activities that involve human subjects and/or vertebrate animals must have prior review by the appropriate review panel on campus. Western Connecticut State University has adopted the policies and guidelines of the Office for the Protection from Research Risks of the Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Public Health Service.

Human Subjects

The Institutional Review Board (formerly the Human Subjects Review Committee) is the designated Institutional Review Board for instructional activities and research projects—unfunded as well as sponsored—that involve the participation of humans as research subjects. The requirement to adhere to procedures to protect human subjects extends to students as well as faculty and non-instructional personnel.

Certain categories of research may be declared exempt from the regulations, or may be eligible for expedited review by the Committee. Both exempt and expedited categories of research require the completion of a research protocol and a completed WCSU HUM-1 form. Approval to conduct research and/or instructional activities in the exempt or expedited categories will be decided by the Chairperson of the IRB or his/her designee(s) and the Director of the Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services.

Claims for exemption may be requested for such types of activities as normal educational practices (comparison of instructional techniques), educational tests (aptitude, achievement), survey or interview procedures (questionnaires with no identifying information requested), observation of public behavior, and collection of existing data (records, pathological specimens).

Student Projects

Projects that are carried out by students as class assignments in the exempt category only may be reviewed by the instructor and department chair on a one-page abbreviated form.

Students who assist a faculty member with his/her research projects should not use this form. This form should be forwarded to the Director of the Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services for information purposes.

Vertebrate Animals

University policy requires prior approval by the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) of all research, training, and biological testing-whether funded or unfunded-using vertebrate animals, whether conducted at the University or at another institution as the result of subcontracting.

Information and forms to request permission to use human subjects and/or vertebrate animals may be obtained from the Director of Grant Programs, the Chairperson of the Institutional Review Board, or the Chairperson of the IACUC. They are also contained in the Faculty Handbook.

Procedures for Research with Human Subjects (Institutional Review Board)

Procedures for filing an application for human subjects approval with the WCSU Institutional Review Board (IRB) can be found updated at the IRB website, <http://www.wcsu.edu/irb/>

The WCSU IRB Research Application Guide contains complete instructions for submitting a Research Application. All necessary documents can be found on the website, including:

- IRB Proposal forms for Exempt, Expedited or Full Review
- The WCSU Informed Consent Guidelines
- Approval Form for Undergraduate Student Research Involving Human Subjects
- Information on available Human Subjects Training through the CITI program List of Frequently Asked Questions
- Protocol Termination Reports

Institutional Review Board External Adverse Events

An adverse event is an undesirable and unintended, although not necessarily unexpected, result of therapy or other intervention. Unanticipated Problems that Affect Risks to Subjects (from "Guidelines for Researchers," 11). If adverse consequences or unanticipated side effects are encountered in the course of a study, or new information becomes available that could change the perception of a favorable risk/benefit ratio, the principal investigator is responsible for informing the Committee PROMPTLY. A copy of every adverse event report, letter, or form submitted to an outside agency (e.g., a federal agency) should also be forwarded to the WCSU IRB in care of the Office of Grant Programs, University Hall, 3rd Floor, within seven working days after discovery. The WCSU IRB will make the final determination regarding protocol changes required due to adverse event reports.

Use of Human Subjects in Research Memorandum

To: All Members of the Faculty

From: Institutional Review Board (formerly Human Subjects Review Committee) and Director of Grant Programs

DATE:

SUBJECT: Use of Human Subjects in Research

We attach hereto an abstract of the University's Multiple Project Assurance, in accordance with the guidelines published by the Office of Protection against Research Risks of the National Institutes of Health of the Department of Health and Human Services. Please keep this copy for reference. Copies of the Code of Federal Regulations (45CFR36-Revised 3/8/83) are available in the Office of Grant Programs.

The Institutional Review Board (formerly the Human Subjects Review Committee) has responsibility for monitoring all research involving human subjects, whether funded or not. The IRB has adopted the following plan to assure maintenance of records of experiments involving humans. The purpose of these records is to provide written assurance that the rights of the subjects are respected and that the risk of physical, social and psychological injury is minimal. Reiteration of the following procedures at this time does not signify dissatisfaction with present treatment of human subjects, but rather the perception of the need for a written record which will substantiate the facts and, at the same time, avoid unnecessary paperwork.

Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee Review of Research Involving Vertebrate Animals

University policy requires prior approval of all research protocols involving animals. The policy applies to the use of live vertebrate animals in research, research training, or biological testing-whether funded or unfunded-conducted at this University or at another institution as a result of subcontracting or other type of collaboration.

The following plan has been adopted to assure maintenance of records which provide written assurance that all animal facilities, as well as research and training procedures, are beyond reproach and are in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and guidelines.

- Procedures
 - FUNDED RESEARCH: Submit FORM IACUC-1 to the Director of Sponsored Research Administrative Services well before the anticipated deadline.
 - Non-funded Research: Includes both faculty projects and student research and instructional activities. Major advisor and departments chairs must sign for student research. Review will be prompt, and a report will be provided for the principal investigator. In certain instances, modification may be requested by the full Committee, and any changes requested must be incorporated into the final proposal.
 - Cooperative Research: When a project requires collaboration with another institution, e.g., hospital, the Committee must have the approval of both institutions' Animal Care and Use Committees.
 - Teaching: Protocols must be filed as above.

Please use the form IACUC-1

Individual faculty are responsible for the adherence to these regulations by staff and students under their supervision.

Declaration on the Use of Animals in Research*

Biomedical science faces increasingly hostile and outspoken campaigning aimed at the abolition of animal experimentation. Statements of support for the responsible use of animals in research have been made to the AAAS, the AMA, the BAAS, and the 41st World Medical Assembly and many other medical and scientific organizations. Whereas this attack on biomedical science not only threatens the progress of medicine but also challenges the principles of scientific inquiry, we make the following declaration.

Experiments on animals have made an important contribution to advances in medicine and surgery which have brought major improvements in the health of human beings and animals.

While alternatives to the use of animals are actively sought and eagerly adopted as soon as they are provide to be reliable, continued research involving animals is essential for the conquest of many unsolved medical problems such as cancer, AIDS, other infectious diseases, and genetic, developmental, neurological and psychiatric conditions.

The use of animals continues to be essential in basic research that furthers the understanding of biological processes and which provides the essential foundation for improvements in medical and veterinary knowledge, education and practice.

It is unethical to expose human beings to products and processes which have not been adequately tested for safety. Such testing in some cases requires the use of animals.

The scientific and medical community has a duty to explain the aims and methods of its research and to disseminate information about the benefits derived from animal experimentation.

All legislation and regulations governing the use of animals in scientific procedures must be strictly adhered to. Those involved must respect animal life, using animals only when essential and as humanely as possible.

Freedom of opinion and discussion on this subject must be safeguarded, but violent attacks on property, hostile campaigns against individual scientists and associated personnel and the use of distorted, inaccurate or misleading evidence should be publicly condemned.

Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services

The Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services reports to the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs and provides assistance to faculty who wish to obtain external support for educational and research activities, through the following services: Identification of funding sources, liaison with outside agencies; assistance with internal review; editing; budget preparation; and similar grant-related matters.

See also grant application procedures and Bylaws of the Research and Development Committee.

External Grant Proposals and Applications

The Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services (OSRAS) provides pre-award through post-award administrative management for all sponsored projects at Western Connecticut State University (WCSU). The office assists in identifying funding sources, preparing and submitting proposals, and managing post-award activities and requirements. The director also serves as a liaison with funding agencies.

All grant applications and proposals for external funding that involve WCSU as the lead organizational applicant or as a collaborating partner must go through the university's process for reviewing and authorizing them prior to submission. If your proposal involves the hiring of personnel or staff, you also will need the approval of the Chief Human Resources Officer. For grant applications that require the applicant to be a 501(c)(3) organization, the development and submission of the proposal must be coordinated with the Western Connecticut State University Foundation. The OSRAS director will assist you in this process.

If your project involves research with human subjects or with vertebrate animals, you will need to get the approval of WCSU's Institutional Review Board (IRB) or the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC). The IRB form and instructions are available online at <http://www.wcsu.edu/irb/>. The IACUC form is available online at https://www.wcsu.edu/faculty-handbook/wp-content/uploads/sites/201/2022/03/WCSU_IACUC_form_May2021-002-1.pdf

The Proposal Process

It is highly recommended that you submit your proposal/application for internal review at least one week prior to the submission deadline to allow sufficient time for the internal review and approval process. To initiate this process, complete the Internal Administrative _____ Approval Form, available at <https://www.wcsu.edu/grants/internal-administrative-approval-form-for-external-grant-proposals/>; attach copies of the proposal narrative and budget to the form where indicated; and click the submit button at the end of the form. This will distribute the form and the attachments to all the internal reviewers including your department chair and dean, the Provost, the Associate Vice President for Finance and Administration, the Controller and Director of Fiscal Affairs, Director of OSRAS, and the Chief Human Resource Officer, if required. The application may be submitted following receipt of all the reviewers' approval to do so. This final step is very important since WCSU may refuse an award for an application or proposal submitted without administrative approvals.

Indirect Cost Distribution

Please check with the Director of OSRAS for WCSU's current negotiated indirect cost rate. Indirect reimbursements from grant awards are distributed as follows:

- Principal Investigator (PI) or Project Director receives 25% of indirect costs;
- PI's/Project Director's Department receives 10% of indirect costs;
- PI's/Project Director's School or Division receives 5% of indirect costs;
- Office of Sponsored Research Administrative Services receives 20% of indirect costs; and
- University's General Reserve receives 40% of indirect costs.

Human Resource Policies

President's Affirmative Action Policy Statement

Western Connecticut State University ("WCSU" or "University") is grounded on a sound Affirmative Action foundation. To that end, as President of WCSU, I am fully committed to the University's philosophy of the intellectual and moral leadership responsibility to carry out this well-established philosophy, as well as the responsibility of the University leadership to advance social justice and equity by exercising Affirmative Action to remove all discriminatory barriers to equal employment opportunity and upward mobility. Accordingly, the University, through its Plan of Affirmative Action will, with conviction and effort, continue to undertake positive action to overcome the present effects of past practices, policies or barriers to equal employment opportunity, and to achieve the full and fair participation of African Americans/Blacks, Hispanic/Latinos, Whites, Asians/Pacific Islanders, American Indians/Alaskan Aleuts and/or those who self-identify in two or more races, found to be underutilized in the workforce. The University through its Plan of Affirmative Action, with conviction and effort, will also continue to undertake positive action for the full and fair participation of the above groups and any other protected group found to be adversely impacted by University policies or practices.

Under the Provisions of Sections 46a-60(b), 46a-80(b) or 86a-81(b) of the Connecticut General Statutes, equal opportunity, a distinctly different matter, is employment of individuals without consideration of age, color, religious creed, age, gender/sex, marital status, race, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information (Section 46a-60(a)(11) of the Connecticut General Statutes, national origin, ancestry, intellectual disability (learning disability), past or present history of mental disability, physical disability (including but not limited to blindness, deafness, prosthetic use, etc.), veteran status, or criminal record, unless the provisions of Sections 46a-60(b), 46a-80(b) or 86a-81(b) of excluding persons in one or more of the above protected groups. Equal employment opportunity is the purpose and goal of affirmative action.

WCSU's Affirmative Action Plan incorporates and lists all of the noted federal and state constitutional provisions, law regulations, guidelines and executive orders prohibiting or outlawing discrimination, identifying classes of persons protected based on race, color, religious creed, age, sex (including pregnancy and/or workplace exposure and hazard to a person's reproductive system), marital status, sexual orientation, national origin, ancestry, mental disability, genetic information, intellectual disability, physical disability, learning disability, gender identity or expression, veteran status, and criminal record, except for bona fide occupational qualifications.

The University outlines its employment process as one of recruitment, selection, assignment, compensation, promotion and upgrading, training, educational assistance, transfers, terminations, layoffs and recall, and all other terms, conditions and privileges of employment. Affirmative Action is an integral consideration throughout the entire employment process. Either (or both) the Chief Diversity Officer and/or the Chief Human Resources Officer (or an assigned designee from the Human Resources Department) are responsible for ensuring that affirmative action remains in the forefront of each step of the employment process. An affirmative action discussion occurs throughout the employment process continuum. All facets of the employment process are linked to affirmative action.

Clearly, affirmative action and equal employment opportunity are immediate and necessary agency objectives for WCSU. We shall affirmatively provide services and programs in a fair and impartial manner. We also recognize the hiring difficulties experienced by individuals who are physically disabled and many older persons and will undertake measures to overcome the present effects of past discrimination, if any, to achieve the full and fair utilization of such persons in the work force. The procedures for adding or refilling any unclassified faculty position are outlined in the current Faculty Handbook.

The Department Chairperson must obtain approval from the School's Dean, who obtains final approval from the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs to advertise for an open position. Then the Department Chairperson, or Department members acting together, prepare(s) the university search plan and drafted position announcement, which is first reviewed and approved by the appropriate School Dean. The Chief Diversity Officer and/or an assigned designee from the Human Resources Department reviews the university search plan and drafted position announcement. After the Search Committee is established, the Chief Diversity Officer and/or an assigned designee from the Human Resources Department will routinely meet with and instruct its membership regarding the University's recruitment policy and related institutional goals to diversify the pool of applicants/candidates with respect to ethnicity, race, and gender. Through ongoing monitoring, the Chief Diversity Officer advises the Search Committee as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the composition of the pool of applicants/candidates for the purpose of achieving the hiring and promotional goals of diversity.

Before the Search Committee prepares and recommends a document known as the University Finalist Memorandum, to identify a list of the finalists, the Chief Diversity Officer and the Chairperson of the Search Committee will consult regarding good faith efforts made to obtain diversity, (if possible) obtain a goal candidate, and determine whether the finalist is a goal candidate, and the completion of relevant documentation. Prior to the offering of a position to a candidate, the corresponding hiring authority will request that the Chief Diversity Officer approve the candidate(s) recommended for hire.

The Program Goals as set forth in the Affirmative Action Plan further detail the University's Affirmative Action requirements for the hiring process of all positions. As President of WCSU, I am committed to the University adhering to and meeting the program goals and timetables as set forth in the plan. The University is well positioned to continue Affirmative Action progress, and I will continue to exercise leadership and commitment to achieve all of the goals and timetables as set forth in the WCSU Affirmative Action Plan.

This policy statement is not limited to employment practices, but extends to services and programs provided by the University. All executive, administrative, and supervisory personnel are expected to discharge their affirmative action responsibilities, in word and deed, consistent with the University's objective to establish and implement affirmative action and equal employment opportunity for all qualified persons.

As President of Western Connecticut State University, I pledge to make every good faith effort to realize all of the goals and timetables as set forth in the WCSU Affirmative Action Plan, and as required by pertinent state and federal legislation as set forth in the Affirmative Action Plan. Electronic copies of the Affirmative Action Plan will be made available (and disseminated) online at www.wcsu.edu/diversity.

During the 2022 reporting period, Ms. Jesenia Minier ("Ms. Minier") has served as the appointed Chief Diversity Officer. Ms. Minier is responsible for overseeing the Office of Diversity and Equity and to monitor and execute the Affirmative Action and Equal Employment Opportunity programs at the University. Ms. Minier is the University's full-time Affirmative Action Officer, ADA and Title IX Coordinator. To this end, the Chief Diversity Officer shall be concerned with equitable treatment to all in the university community. Ms. Minier is located at the Midtown Campus, University Hall, Room 202B, 181 White Street, Danbury, Connecticut, 06810, and can be reached by telephone at (203) 837-8444 or by email at minierj@wcsu.edu. Employees and others who wish to file a complaint of discrimination pertaining to academic and/or employment disparities in policies and practices at WCSU may do so by contacting Ms. Minier.

Discrimination Grievance Procedure

The Affirmative Action Regulations by State Government require that Western Connecticut State University establish a system to process and resolve employee allegations of discrimination consistent with Chapters 67 and 68 of the Connecticut General Statutes. This requirement further stipulates that this system provide for the expeditious resolution of grievances, to assure that legal options for filing complaints with enforcement agencies are not foreclosed. The parameters for what this grievance procedure should include are also set forth in the Regulations and are incorporated into the University's discrimination grievance procedure. The University's discrimination grievance procedure has been approved by the Commission as meeting compliance with the Regulations.

In accordance with the Regulations, where informal allegations have resulted in complaints to enforcement agencies, the Plan shall provide information on the number of such complaints, investigating agency, whether such matter is currently pending, or the outcome thereof. The University does not unilaterally suspend or terminate an investigation or processing of internal complaints when the complaining party files a complaint with the CHRO and/or the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

All records relevant to employee grievances filed under Section 46a-68-46 of the Affirmative Action Regulations by State Government shall be maintained by the University for examination by the Commission. All records of grievances and dispositions thereof, shall be maintained and reviewed on a regular basis by the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs to detect any patterns in the nature of the grievances. In accordance with the Regulations, records so retained shall be confidential except where disclosure is required by law. Access shall include, but not be limited to, all documents presented or considered by the panel, should a panel be convened.

University employees regularly receive notice of the University's grievance procedure on an annual basis. Distribution takes place as an inclusion with the employee's paycheck, which ensure that all employees have been reached. In addition, all new employees receive notification of the grievance procedure as part of the initial Affirmative Action orientation process.

Protection from Adverse Actions

All employees shall be free from all restraint, interference, coercion, or reprisal on the part of their associates, supervisors and all others in making any complaint or appeal, in serving as a representative for a complaint, in appearing as a witness, or in seeking information. The above principles apply with equal force after a complaint has been adjudicated. Should these principles be violated, the facts shall be brought to the attention of the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs by the aggrieved party, his/her representative or any person affected. The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs shall bring all such situations to the attention of the President and Associate Vice President for Human Resources for confidential discussion, review, the potential for early proactive intervention and appropriate action.

Filing a Complaint

A complaint may be filed by any employee, applicant, student, or other person who believes that an employment/service practice at Western Connecticut State University has or will result in discrimination against him/her. A complaint of general discriminatory employment may also be filed. The complainant and respondent shall have the right to representation and shall be afforded due process. All complaints received are initially assessed for 90-day filing timeliness from the alleged occurrence of the act of discrimination, and jurisdiction of the Affirmative Action Office to initiate an investigation of discrimination.

The respondent shall receive a copy of the written complaint when it is filed and the complainant shall receive a copy of the written response, if any. The time frame for such notifications shall not exceed five working days. Also, the complainant and the respondent, to the extent required by law, shall be notified of the outcome of the complaint.

The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs may be contacted for confidential counseling regarding a particular matter, will provide confidential counseling as requested and necessary during the complaint process and ensure prompt consideration of complaints filed.

All complaints are to be filed with the Chief Diversity Officer by contacting: Ms. Jesenia Minier-Delgado, Office of Diversity and Equity, Western Connecticut State University, University Hall 214, 181 White Street, Danbury, CT 06810. minierdelgadoj@wcsu.edu- Initial contact may also be made by calling (203) 837-8277.

Any person not able to file a complaint in the above manner because of a disability may use whatever method that is accommodating to him/her.

Individuals are advised of their legal options to file complaints with the Connecticut Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities, United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, United States Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Division and any other agencies, state, federal or local that enforces laws concerning discrimination in employment.

All complaints received that may subject an employee to disciplinary action must be reported to the Associate Vice President of Human Resources by the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer and investigated, incorporating University personnel procedures into the investigation process. Any contested disciplinary action shall be pursued through the appropriate contract article or other external means of choice.

The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer shall personally investigate and/or oversee all discrimination complaints filed with the University.

The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer is required by law to investigate all discrimination complaints filed against the University. As part of the investigation process mediation may take place at the supervisory or department head level under the guidance of and with occurrence from the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer, who will oversee the investigation process and who may also elect to mediate a complaint. The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs shall have full access to University records, resources, and staff in mediation, investigation, and resolution of complaints.

If, after investigation of a complaint, the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer Programs has reasonable cause to believe that an act of discrimination may have taken place, or has the potential to take place, such findings shall be brought to the attention of the President and Associate Vice President of Human Resources for review and corrective action, as appropriate. The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer is charged, in this regard, to conciliate and/or bring closure to the matter in a manner that eliminates the discriminatory act in question.

If, after investigation of a complaint, the Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer does not have reasonable cause to believe an act of discrimination may have taken place or has the potential to take place, the complainant shall be advised of this finding, in writing, and provided advisement again of his/her right to legal options to file complaints.

After investigation, the procedure provides for a hearing by a panel which is comprised of an individual who is not a constituent of either party and a constituent of each party, who will make recommendations to the President. If the President accepts a recommendation, the recommendation shall be implemented as soon as practical. The Executive Assistant to the President/Chief Diversity Officer is responsible for following up to ensure that the recommendation is implemented. Training shall be provided for those who serve on the panel. Time frames shall not exceed 90 days for filing, processing and resolution of such matters, time frames that are consistent with the Regulations for Affirmative Action by State Government.

Connecticut University System Sexual Harassment Policy

SECTION 1. Purpose

The Connecticut State University System reaffirms and emphasizes its commitment to maintain a workplace and educational environment free from sexual and other forms of illegal harassment. Sexual and other harassment is reprehensible and subverts the mission of the university and will not be tolerated at the Connecticut State University System. It threatens the careers of employees, faculty and staff, and the educational experience of our students. The purpose of this policy is to prevent sexual harassment and to offer students and employees who believe they have been sexually harassed a means to redress any such claim with the goal of ending the harassment and providing an environment conducive to learning and working. Retaliation against an individual who complains about sexual harassment or who cooperates with an investigation of a complaint is unlawful and, if found to have occurred, will not be tolerated.

SECTION 2. Statutory Authority

Sexual harassment is prohibited by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 46a-60 of the General Statutes of Connecticut and University policy. Harassment based on other protected classes covered by state or federal law is also prohibited. It is the intention of the CSU to take whatever appropriate action may be needed to prevent, correct, and if necessary, discipline behavior that violates this policy.

SECTION 3. Policy Statement

All members of the CSU community shall conduct themselves in an appropriate manner with concern, dignity and respect for others. The CSU community includes students, employees, and non-employees when they conduct business on CSU property. Sexual and other illegal harassment may occur between staff and staff, staff and student, student and student. Complaints of sexual and other illegal harassment within the Connecticut State University System will be taken seriously and investigated. Any member of the CSU community who violates this policy is subject to the full range of disciplinary action. While there is a difference between illegal conduct and unprofessional or inappropriate conduct in the CSU community sexual or other harassment in some instances need not be intentional to violate this policy. In the event of a charge of sexual harassment, a defense based upon consent will be given little weight when the facts establish an employee/student or supervisor/employee relationship existed. Since any significant power differential between members of the CSU community makes voluntary consent questionable, members of the faculty and staff are expected to be aware of their professional responsibilities and avoid apparent or actual conflict of interest.

An individual with a complaint concerning sexual harassment has a right to be heard. By means of these procedures, the CSU ensures an opportunity for an individual (Complainant), without fear of retaliation, to express a complaint and to seek a prompt and equitable resolution while protecting the rights of the person against whom the complaint has been filed (Respondent). These procedures shall be available to any person who, at the time of the act complained of, was an employee, student, or applicant for employment or admission to the Connecticut State University System.

SECTION 4. Definition of Sexual Harassment

"Any unwelcome sexual advance or requests for sexual favors or any conduct of a sexual nature when (1) submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment, (2) submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting such individual, or (3) such conduct has the purpose or effect of substantially interfering with an individual's work or academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or environment". In an academic setting sexual harassment would also include any unwelcome sexual advances or requests for sexual favors or any conduct of a sexual nature when submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual might affect academic or personal decisions that are subject to the influence of the person making the proposal.

The law currently recognizes two various forms of sexual or other harassment:

1. Quid Pro Quo.

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- a. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's academic work or employment; or
- b. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis of employment or academic decisions affecting such individuals; and

2. Hostile Environment

a. Such contact affects or interferes with an individual's work or academic performance or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive academic or working environment. Hostile environment sexual harassment involves speech or conduct that is directed at someone because of their gender and/or is conduct of a sexual nature. Such speech or conduct includes, but is not limited to, unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.

b. Such speech or conduct is reasonably regarded as offensive and substantially impairs the academic or work opportunity of students, colleagues or co-workers. This policy shall not be interpreted so as to constitute interference with academic freedom.

3. Gender Harassment.

Gender harassment is a form of sexual harassment, which consists of discriminatory behavior towards an individual based on gender. It includes the use of sexist language, illustrations, examples and gestures that demonstrate discriminatory behavior. Sexually related conduct forms the basis of a sexual harassment claim if a reasonable person of the same gender would consider the actions sufficient to interfere unreasonably with the academic and/or employment performance of the Complainant.

4. Other Harassment.

Harassment against any other protected class member covered by state or federal law.

SECTION 5. Examples of Sexual Harassment

While it is not possible to list all conduct which may constitute sexual harassment, the following are some examples of conduct which may constitute sexual harassment depending upon the totality of the circumstances, including the severity of the conduct and its pervasiveness. Examples of sexual harassment may include but are not limited to:

1. Direct unwanted proposition of a sexual nature.
2. Direct or implied threats that submission to sexual advances is a condition of employment, promotion, or advancement in grades, letters of recommendation, scholarships, or any related matter.

3. A pattern of conduct intentionally intended and/or which has the effect of humiliating another that includes examples of the following: comments of a sexual nature; sexually explicit statements, questions, anecdotes, jokes, pictures, or other written materials;
4. A pattern of conduct that would humiliate another (using the reasonable person standard) which would include the following: unnecessary touching, patting, hugging, or brushing against another's body, remarks of a sexual nature about a person's clothing or body, or remarks about sexual activity or speculations about sexual experiences.

SECTION 6. Confidentiality

The Connecticut State University System is committed to take corrective action when it becomes aware of a problem involving sexual or other harassment. Individuals who feel that they have been subjected to any instance of sexual or other harassment or instances of a pattern of sexual or other harassment are strongly encouraged to come forward with complaints regarding sexual harassment and to seek assistance from CSU officials. The CSU cannot insure confidentiality upon receipt of a complaint of sexual harassment; however, dissemination of information relating to the case should be limited, in order that the privacy of all individuals involved is safeguarded as fully as possible to the extent permitted by law. The CSU will enforce compliance with the non-retaliation provision of this policy. The CSU may proceed to investigate a complaint without the consent of the individual who originally filed the complaint.

SECTION 7. Complaint Procedures

The Connecticut State University System is committed to take reasonable care to prevent and correct any sexually or other harassing behavior or other forms of unlawful discrimination at the System Office and on its four university campuses. Complaints alleging a violation of this policy shall be addressed through established discrimination and sexual harassment procedures at each university. Procedures for the handling of complaints involving claims of discrimination or sexual harassment are available through the Affirmative Action Officer at the university. These procedures will allow for an informal resolution of the complaint. If the informal process is unsuccessful or if the Complainant wishes to bypass the informal process, he/she may file a formal complaint. Complaints should be lodged as soon as possible after the alleged incident, but no later than 180 days after said incident.

Students alleging a violation of this policy may file a sexual or other harassment complaint following established procedures noted in their University's Student Handbook.

SECTION 8. Alternative Legal Remedies

Nothing contained in the Policy is intended to deny any member of the Connecticut State University community the right to pursue other avenues of recourse in the event he/she believes that he/she has experienced sexual harassment. Such recourse may include filing charges with a state or federal enforcement agency, or initiating civil or criminal action under state and federal law. Complaints must be filed within 180 days with the Connecticut Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities, 21 Grand Street, Hartford, CT 06106, Telephone 860-477-5737.

SECTION 9. Dissemination of Policy

This Policy shall be conspicuously posted in the System Office. The System Office and each university shall conform to statutory requirements for posting. In addition, each university shall ensure its dissemination in accordance with established practice. This policy shall appear in the student handbook and faculty handbook and shall be reviewed periodically for compliance with state and federal law.

For further information about this policy or information regarding the process for filing a complaint, contact the affirmative action director. Students should consult their university student handbook for further information regarding the process for filing a complaint.

CSU-BR#99-42 June 11, 1999

Policies for Promotion, Tenure, and Evaluation

The following recommendations apply to the evaluations of all WCSU AAUP members. In the case of librarians, counselors, athletic coaches, and athletic trainers, the word "director" shall be substituted for "dean" wherever appropriate.

1. Department Evaluation Committees should be elected by the departments, except in "hardship" cases. (Note: "hardship" is defined in the CSU-AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement)
2. A department may allow its DEC the use of an outside peer evaluator. Such peer evaluator should have demonstrated expertise in the area of the candidate's responsibilities. If an outside peer evaluator is used, his/her evaluation should be available to the DEC, the Dean, and the Promotion and Tenure Committee. A candidate may introduce evaluation from an outside peer evaluator for the consideration of the DEC, the Dean, the Promotion and Tenure Committee, and the President.
3. All persons in a department who are eligible to serve on its DEC have the responsibility to serve.
4. It is the responsibility of the chairperson of the department to see to it that the DEC's are constituted appropriately and in a timely manner.

If a member of a department believes that the composition of the DEC is inappropriate or not timely, appeal may be made to the Vice President for Human Resources. DEC members, peer evaluators, department chairs, and all others who write evaluations or recommendations should be clearly identified in the evaluations/ recommendations.
5. It is recommended that a faculty member be notified at least one (1) year in advance by the department chairperson of his/her evaluation and its requirements. However, this does not change the contractual requirements as enumerated in 4.11.3 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
6. The DEC report should contain the material on which the DEC's evaluation was based (except the material that already exists in the personnel file). Summaries of student evaluations may be placed in the personnel file instead of the student evaluations. However, if student comments are included in the DEC report, then all the raw student evaluations should be placed in a supplemental file. Such a supplemental file should remain in the Human Resources Office until the conclusion of the current evaluation process (President's action).
7. The CSU-AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement establishes five categories for evaluating faculty members. The Collective Bargaining Agreement also allows special conditions under article 4.7 in letters of appointment. Quality is the criterion in each category or condition. Departments, through their bylaws, shall articulate the expectations by which quality of performance in each of the five categories (except #5, rank) is to be judged. This information should be made available to the Dean, the Promotion and Tenure Committee, and the President.
8. A department chairperson's evaluation of a candidate should be submitted to the DEC for its deliberations prior to the writing of the DEC report (unless the chairperson is a DEC member). The candidate shall be provided a copy of the chairperson's evaluation at the same time as it is given to the DEC.
9. It is the responsibility of the candidate to provide evidence for claims of accomplishments. In the absence of such evidence the claims should be ignored.

Candidates should remove duplicate material from their personnel files with the consent of the Human Resources Office or put such material in a sub file clearly marked "duplicates."

10. DEC's and Deans should cite appropriate documentation in the candidate's personnel file to support their evaluations where such documentation exists. This does not preclude the use of other evaluative material or assessments and records of disciplinary action which may be used by the DEC or the Dean (refer to 4.14.1 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement).
11. A Dean should meet with a candidate if the candidate so requests at the time of the evaluation. Similarly, a candidate should meet with the Dean if the Dean so requests. Either the Dean or the candidate (or both) has the right to have a representative present.
12. Student evaluations should be done for most of the courses taught by the faculty member for at least one year prior to his/her evaluation.

However, all the courses taught by the faculty member during the year should be listed in the DEC report. A department may, through its bylaws, require student evaluations for a longer period than one year. All student evaluations should be conducted with department- approved instruments. The course number and the total number of students enrolled in the course at the time the evaluation is conducted should be identified. All required student evaluations, as well as those submitted by the candidate, should be considered by the DEC, the Dean, and the P & T Committee.

13. Since the Deans and the P & T Committee are to take the student evaluations into account when faculty members are evaluated, some commonality in the student evaluation instruments is necessary. In addition, the P & T Committee should not have to judge the comparative merits of the instruments. In order for the student evaluations to be useful to the P & T Committee, they should, at a minimum, contain information on the following:
 - a. Quality of teaching
 - b. Course content
 - c. Clear criteria for grading
 - e. Grading fairness
 - f. Accessibility of the instructor outside the classroom
 - g. Clarity in the presentation of the subject matter
 - h. Frequency of class cancellations
14. When the annual list of eligible candidates is sent to department chairpersons and Deans (usually done by the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs) a copy of the above recommendations, as accepted by the Senate and approved by the President, shall also be sent with the list.

The relevant forms can be found on the HR Website. There are also copies in the appendix to this handbook.

Forms for the Suggested chairperson's memorandum are in the appendix to this handbook. Chairs Memo for AAUP Teaching Faculty is in the appendix to this handbook.

Local and Contract Procedures Concerning Professional Assessment

I. Contract Procedures

- A. Each tenured member shall receive one Professional Assessment every six (6) years unless: (a) the DEC, in an effort to assist, schedules the next Assessment in less than six (6) years; or (b) the affected member requests more frequent Assessment. The purpose of this assessment shall be to measure the member's teaching effectiveness, and/or primary professional function, service to the department and university, scholarship, and professional activity in order to further the member's professional growth.
- B. In making its Assessment, the DEC shall seek and use student and peer assessments as indicated by Article 4.11.7 of the CSU-AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement. (See also Article 4.12) Peer evaluation (classroom observation) in the form of a written report and data from a written student survey instrument are required components of a Professional Assessment of members whose workload includes classroom teaching. All Assessments completed by the DEC will be reviewed by the appropriate Academic Dean and Academic Vice President, as referred to them by department chairpersons, before transmitting a copy of the Assessment to the President.
- C. The original DEC Professional Assessment shall be placed in the member's personnel file.

II. Local Procedures Developed by The University Senate

- A. The DEC shall inform each member to be assessed in writing of:
 - 1. the opportunity to submit information to the DEC.
 - 2. the fact and purpose of the assessment.
 - 3. the opportunity to appear before the DEC
- B. Each Assessment shall be signed by all members of the DEC.
- C. A copy of the assessment shall be:
 - 1. sent to the affected member upon issuance.
 - 2. placed in the member's personnel file.
 - 3. sent to the appropriate dean or director.
- D. The Professional Assessment form which must be used follows this page and should be placed in the member's file by February 1 of the appropriate academic year.

The most recent version of the DEC forms are located on the HR website and in the appendix to this handbook.

Procedures for Promotion, Tenure, Professional Assessment and Annual Evaluation for Teaching Faculty Members, Librarians, Athletic Coaches, and Non-Instructional Athletic Trainers

I. Departmental Evaluation Committee (DEC) Responsibilities

- A. Evaluation of non-tenured teaching faculty members, librarians, athletic coaches, and non-instructional athletic trainers.
- B. Evaluation of teaching faculty members, and librarians for tenure.
- C. Evaluation of teaching faculty members, including librarians, athletic coaches, and non-instructional athletic trainers for promotion.
- D. Within the limits of the CSU-AAUP contract and legal limits, maintenance of complete and absolute confidentiality about all data and deliberations.

II. Departmental Evaluation Committee Membership

Departments may set their own rules regarding rank and number of members of the DEC provided that all members are tenured and that the committee consists of at least three people.

- A. The membership of the DEC shall include only tenured members of the department.
- B. In no case shall persons under consideration for promotion serve on any DEC during any deliberations for promotion.
- C. If, in the judgment of the University President, these provisions work a hardship on a department, the department shall develop and approve a list of tenured members from allied disciplines and shall seek members from that list in forming the DEC. If the department requests, the School Dean (or Director) will assist in the formation of the DEC. Such DEC's shall follow the procedure set by the department involved.
- D. Departmental procedures for DEC's must be consistent with the current CSU-AAUP contract and this document.
- E. Tenured department chairpersons may be members of the DEC. In no case, however, shall a department chairperson being considered for promotion participate in the promotion evaluation process as a member of the DEC.

III. Evaluation Procedures and Considerations

- A. The DEC Chairperson shall inform each member being evaluated in writing of (a) the fact and purpose of the evaluation; (b) the opportunity to submit material to the DEC, and (c) the opportunity to appear personally before the DEC prior to the DEC recommendation. (Refer to current Collective Bargaining Agreement and Department Bylaws.) A suggested memorandum that may be used by the DEC Chairperson has been attached to these procedures.
- B. By October 1 of each year the DEC shall send a list of the members being evaluated for promotion and tenure (with their present rank) to the appropriate Dean or Director, the University Promotion and Tenure Committee, and the Associate Vice President for Human Resources for informational purposes only.
- C. In accordance with the due dates established in the AAUP Collective Bargaining Agreement, the member being evaluated should prepare and submit all relevant material to be considered for evaluative purposes directly to the DEC. Each page of the material submitted should be numbered and the total number of pages

- submitted must be provided. If the member provides other supporting material such as books, art portfolios, etc., then the member should prepare a table of contents listing all the material presented for consideration.
- D. In making its annual evaluations and its promotion and tenure evaluations, the DEC shall make peer evaluations and shall obtain and use written student evaluations and consider materials supplied by the candidate.
 - E. The University President or his designee shall make available to the DEC and the Promotion and Tenure Committee (when a member is being considered for promotion and/or tenure) the personnel file of those members being evaluated. It is understood that the appropriate Dean or Director, Provost/V.P. for Academic Affairs and other administrators may access a personnel file for operational needs of the University. The member must understand that it is his/her responsibility to make sure that the file contains, in addition to the current curriculum vitae any official documents such as legal transcripts.
 - F. The DEC shall make a written evaluation and recommendation with supporting reasons which is signed and dated by all members of the DEC. The DEC shall issue their written evaluation and recommendation on the form titled "Department Evaluation Committee Written Evaluation and Recommendation Report." Separate evaluation forms have been developed for teaching faculty members, librarians, athletic coaches, and non-instructional athletic trainers.
 - G. Department chairpersons who are not members of the DEC shall submit at least one calendar week prior to the due date for the DEC evaluation and recommendation, a separate signed and dated evaluation to the DEC for its consideration. This evaluation will be attached to the DEC recommendation. Health, Safety, and Security

State of Connecticut Drug-Free Workplace Policy for Western Connecticut State University

The State of Connecticut and Western Connecticut State University (hereafter referred to as the "University") are committed to winning the battle against substance abuse. Substance abuse jeopardizes a stable family structure, increases crime, impacts worker productivity, and presents a continuing and growing drain of government funds. For our youth, substance abuse is an especially serious threat. Drugs destroy their hopes and dreams and, all too often, their very lives.

The workplace is not immune to the influence of substance abuse. Worker safety, health and efficiency are adversely affected. Therefore, in harmony with Connecticut's three-pronged strategy of education, treatment and enforcement to combat substance abuse and in accordance with federal legislation, this Drug-Free Workplace Policy has been adopted.

Effective March 18, 1989, the federal government enacted the "Drug-Free Workplace Act", (41 U.S. Code §§701 et seq.). This act requires that any employer receiving federal funding must certify that it will maintain a drug-free workplace. Among other things, the act requires that a policy be published notifying employees that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, possession, or use of controlled substances is prohibited in the workplace. It also requires that certain actions be taken if this policy is broken.

General Policies

It is the policy of the State of Connecticut that each employee has a right to come to work and perform his or her job in an environment that is free from the illegal use of drugs. It is also in the interest of the State and the public that employees be able to perform their duties safely and efficiently. The State is firmly committed to promoting high standards of health, safety, and efficient service. Thus, our goal is to maintain a work environment free from the effects of drug abuse.

It is the policy of the State of Connecticut that employees shall not unlawfully manufacture, distribute, dispense, possess or use a controlled substance while on the job or in the workplace, or be under the influence of a controlled substance, not prescribed for him/her by a physician, while on the job or in the workplace. Any employee violating this policy will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

It is the policy of the State of Connecticut that employees with substance abuse problems are encouraged to participate in a counseling or rehabilitation program prior to being in a disciplinary situation. Employees should be advised of the Employees Assistance Program provided by the agency and any available drug counseling or rehabilitation programs (1).

Employee Requirements

Employees shall not unlawfully use, possess, distribute, dispense or manufacture controlled substances or be under the influence of a controlled substance while on the job or in the workplace. Any employee violating this policy will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

"Controlled substances" are specifically defined in federal law and consist of two classes of drugs: (1) those commonly thought of as "illegal" drugs; and (2) certain medications if not being taken under a physician's prescription or according to a physician's orders, which the federal government has determined have a potential for abuse, or are potentially physically or psychologically addictive.

Employees must give notification in writing to Mr. Fred Cratty, Associate V.P. for Human Resources, within five (5) calendar days of any conviction for violation of a criminal drug statute if the violation occurred in the workplace. A conviction means a finding of guilt (including a plea of nolo contendere) and/or the imposition of a sentence by a judge or jury in any federal or state court. This reporting requirement is in addition to any agency work rules that require notice of arrests and/or convictions. An employee who is so convicted or who fails to report such a conviction is subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

“Workplace” includes any locations owned, operated or controlled by the State, whether the employee is on or off duty, and any other locations while on duty where State business is conducted, including traveling on State time to or from such work locations.

The agency must notify the appropriate federal agency in writing, as well as the Office of Labor Relations, within ten (10) calendar days of receiving notice that one of its employees funded under a federal grant or contract has been convicted for a violation of a state or federal drug statute occurring in the workplace.

Employees who have substance abuse problems are encouraged to participate in a rehabilitation program and should be notified of the Employee Assistance Program and available drug counseling or rehabilitation programs. The federal act requires that an employer take action within 30 calendar days of receiving notice of a workplace drug conviction to impose discipline upon and/or to require satisfactory participation in a substance abuse rehabilitation program by the convicted employee.

Since it is a federal certification requirement that employees be notified of this policy, each employee will receive a copy of it. The policy will also be available at Human Resource Department bulletin board in University Hall at 181 White Street, Danbury Connecticut 06810.

Information regarding Western Connecticut State University's Employee Assistance Program can be obtained at the University's Human Resources Department or from the Human Resource website -- www.wcsu.edu/hr

Emergency Weather Closing Procedures

Closings & Delays

Using information regarding conditions of local roads, campus walkways and grounds, the Associate Chief Facilities Officer/AVP for Campus Planning and the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs consult on the possibility of a modified University schedule that may affect classes and other university activities and functions. The modified schedule may include delayed opening, early closing, or full closing of the University.

The Chief Facilities Officer/AVP for Campus Planning informs the police and the Director of University & Community Relations of the decision, and they in turn, will post an announcement on the university homepage at www.wcsu.edu and a message will be sent via Everbridge (the university emergency notification system.) Delays and closings will also be posted on the university's Facebook and Twitter feeds and some area radio and television stations.

When the university announces a delayed opening, classes will begin and offices will open at the time given in the announcement. This applies even when classes are normally scheduled to begin earlier than the announced opening. For example, if a class begins at 9:45 a.m. and the university opens at 10:00 am, students and faculty will report to the class when we open at 10:00 am. When the university closes early, all offices will close and all classes must end at the announced time.

Parking Restrictions

On the Midtown Campus there is no overnight parking (11:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m.) in any of the surface lots (Faculty/Staff Lot off Fifth Avenue, White Hall Lot, University Hall Lot, and Newbury Lot). There is no overnight parking on the roof level of either Midtown garage. On the Westside Campus there is no parking on University Boulevard or on the roof of the Westside garage.

WESTCONNECT Office Access Authorization Policy (Building/Room Access)

Overview

The WESTCONNECT Office is responsible for coordination of the physical security of the university's facilities. This includes all locksmith services functions (locksets, door closers and keys) as well as electronic security systems (card access systems and CCTV systems).

The WESTCONNECT Team strives to make facility security as convenient as possible to the end-user without compromising security. Keys, alarm codes and access to restricted areas are all provided by the WESTCONNECT Office upon the approval of Deans, department chairs, directors or club advisors. Keys and codes may be picked up at the WESTCONNECT Office in Old Main. Please bring proper photo identification, a WESTCONNECT card or driver's license when picking up keys or codes. Items will not be issued without proper authorization and identification.

Relevant Access Forms

Everything you need is right here. <http://www.wcsu.edu/westconnect/access-requests/>

Facility Security on Campus

The university utilizes a variety of physical security methods to ensure a safe academic environment. Locksets and physical keys, alarm systems, stand-alone electronic locksets, on-line access control systems and closed-circuit television (CCTV) systems are utilized to provide the most effective security based on the type of facility. Facilities include:

- Residence halls Academic Buildings Administrative Buildings Garages
- Other Support Facilities

- Request Access

It is required that Department or Division heads approve all requests for access to secured areas. Each department is responsible for maintaining records of their access requests. In situations where the specific area requested is outside of the department's area of responsibility, then authorization from the appropriate managing department will be requested.

All keys are inventoried through a computerized key inventory system maintained by the university locksmiths. Each key issued is assigned to an individual who is responsible for its use/misuse. Please do not loan your keys to others, or provide unauthorized access to restricted areas by unlocking doors for others. Please do not "swap" keys with others as you are still responsible for the keys issued to you through the key inventory system. Keys must not be exchanged from one person to another. If there is a need to reassign keys please contact the WESTCONNECT Card Office staff.

All individuals granted card or key access agree to the WESTCONNECT Access Receipt and Responsibility Statement.

Types of Access

Individual Access

All individual requests for access should be submitted on the Semester Access Request Form. Only forms with authorization from the appropriate Department or Division Heads or Deans in the form of a signature or inclusion on an e-mailed form will be accepted.

Departmental Access Requests:

Departments may submit a Semester Access Request Form at the start of any given semester for all their faculty, staff, assistants and students.

Key Box Access

In lieu of issuing master keys to individuals, the university has deployed electronic key boxes for use in various buildings. The key boxes are operational via the WESTCONNECT card, and release only the assigned key tag. Keys are to be used and promptly returned to the same key box, as tags are shared by multiple users. Key tags are not to leave the building to which they have been assigned.

Access Policies

Access Expiration

- Unless otherwise indicated, all student and part time/adjunct access is terminated at the end of the semester. New requests for access must be submitted each semester.
- Full time faculty and staff retain given access unless otherwise indicated.

Card Access Control Policy

The university utilizes card access in a variety of areas on campus. All areas on the card access system are monitored by the University Police Department.

Security is a cooperative effort by all parties; systems administrators, system monitors and end-users. All individuals must take responsibility for assisting with both personal security as well as protection of assets. To that end, all policies and procedures must be read, understood, adhered to and enforced.

Cards are issued to a specific individual and must not be passed between individuals. It is important to understand that the card access system provides audit capability by date, time, location and individual cardholder information.

Some areas require the use of a 4-digit PIN. The PIN is chosen by the cardholder and may be any 4-digit combination. Do not provide anyone with your PIN, do not write your PIN on your card or keep your PIN written in any location near your CARD.

Except in cases of open building/normal business hours or conducting classroom or lab hours, all access control areas must remain locked. When card access areas are found unlocked and unattended, an investigation will be conducted and may result in the removal of access privileges or further disciplinary action.

When areas are secured, authorized card holders should not provide access to other unauthorized individuals. For example, when working in a lab, doors should not be opened to allow others access, anyone with approved access will have their own card for access. Providing access to an unauthorized individual may result in removal of access privileges. Please refer anyone requesting access to the WESTCONNECT Office, or for after-hours access, contact the University Police Department.

Professors who are leaving a card access classroom must lock the door before turning the room over to the next professor. This allows for an electronic "Turning over" of responsibility for the room and its assets, and provides accurate audit trail capability.

Lost cards must be reported immediately to the WESTCONNECT Office so that access may be removed or temporarily suspended until such time as a new card is issued or the original card is located. After-hours lost cards may be reported to the University Police Department. Unless lost cards are reported and deactivated, someone who finds the card and attempts to use it, may be able to gain access to secured areas.

Return of Keys

Department heads are responsible to ensure that when an employee, including student worker, turnover occurs within their respective units, that they retrieve all means of access from those individuals who are no longer required to have access to the facility.

All keys must be returned to the WESTCONNECT Card Office. All returned keys will be removed from the individual's key inventory records. A receipt for proof of return of keys will be provided at the time of return.

Duplicating Keys

The university utilizes a patented, high-security keying system that prevents its keys from being duplicated by outside sources. All keys for the university must be cut by the university locksmiths. All keys are inventoried and maintained by the university locksmiths.

Miscellaneous keys that are not inventoried include, but are not limited to: file cabinets, desk locks, tool boxes, panel keys, lockers, freezers, and storage cabinets.

WESTCONNECT Access Receipt and Responsibility Statement

The key/code is the property of Western Connecticut State University and is on loan to me. Use of this key/code is intended solely for my person use and safeguarding and will not be given to anyone or duplicated. In the event this key or code is lost, stolen, misplaced or compromised in any way, I will notify the WESTCONNECT Office.

I understand that should I lose this key, I will have to pay the appropriate replacement charges as determined by the WESTCONNECT Office according to the fair market value of replacement.

It is my full responsibility to return this property to the WESTCONNECT Card Office in the event that I leave WCSU employment and should I fail to do so, the university may take the appropriate legal action to recover its cost.

Report an Access Problem

Work Order Request

This includes problems with any regular locks, card access locations, or key boxes.

Please put in your request using the Internet through the University's computerized, Internet-based SCHOOLDUE work order system.

1. Enter the address www.school dude.com and select client login.
2. Sign on. If you do not have an ID in the SCHOOLDUE system, please contact your department secretary, resident director of William McDevitt in the Maintenance trades area.
3. Select the product we use from the drop down list below the sign on (Maintenance Direct)
4. Use the web interface to log your request.

We strongly recommend you "save to favorites", the account log-in screen on your internet browser so you don't forget the address and you will always know where/how to get in and make requests.

Please note that you can mark a request as an emergency, however we also ask you to contact the WestConnect Office at 837-9311 during regular hours or Campus Security at 837-9300 for emergency services.

Report a Lost Key/Card

Lost keys and/or cards should be reported immediately to the WESTCONNECT Card Office during normal business hours. After-hours, lost keys and cards may be reported to the University Police Department.

Lost keys may result in an area being re-keyed. Costs for re-keying an area may be charged back to the department.

Residence Hall Access

The university's residence halls are secured at all times. All residents' cards are programmed for access to their assigned buildings. A WESTCONNECT Card must be presented in order to enter the building; at no time should anyone hold open a door to allow another person to enter the building without using a card. If you are visiting someone in the residence hall, please use the courtesy phone by the main entrance to call the person whom you are visiting.

Access to individual residence rooms is managed by the Residence Life staff.

Lost cards should be reported immediately to the Resident Director so that the card access may be deactivated. Temporary cards are available from the Resident Directors until a replacement card may be obtained at the WESTCONNECT Card Office during the next business day.

Contractor Access

All authorizations for contractors must be coordinated through the university's Planning and Engineering office (203-837-8679). Contractors will not be issued keys or access cards directly, but rather may obtain the required access medium upon check-in at the University Police Department. It is required that contractors check-in and check-out with the University Police Department each day they are working on the campus.

It is mandatory that the company provide a contact name and telephone number for the primary person responsible for the use of the keys, i.e. that all keys/cards are used properly and returned to the University Police Department. All cards and keys must be returned to the University Police Department daily. All subcontractor information must be submitted as well. Subcontractors are subject to the same access procedures as the general contractor.

The university's receipt and responsibility statement is applicable to contractor personnel. An issued key must remain in the possession of the person authorized to sign for them at all times, until returned to the University Police Department. Contractors should be instructed to bring a valid form of photo identification and proof of employment to the University Police Department when signing out keys.

PIN Code

All university community members must choose a 4-digit PIN to be utilized with their card for door security purposes. In order to establish a PIN, please visit the WESTCONNECT Card Office.

CCTV

Closed Circuit Television is in use in various public areas on both campuses. Areas include the parking garages, lobbies of residence halls, 24- hour computer labs, and exteriors of buildings. All cameras are recording and may be monitored. Retrieval of video may be conducted by the University Police Department as it related to criminal investigation.

Access Request Form

Form can be found at: www.wcsu.edu/westconnect

Card Access Instructions

The WESTCONNECT card provides access to certain areas, simply by presenting your card to a reader, there is no need to "swipe" the card. The read range for the card is approximately 4 inches, cards can typically be read through wallets, backpacks, etc.

With the amount of money invested in technology classrooms, it is critical that each instructor secure the door before the next class begins. Each instructor must have their own WESTCONNECT card.

Exterior Doors to Buildings

The exterior doors to all academic buildings will be on a time schedule, and will remain unlocked during normal business/class hours. Any after-hour access will now be available through the use of the identification card. When the doors are locked, simply present your card to the reader and enter your 4-digit PIN, you will hear a beep. Open the door and enter the building, the door will automatically lock behind you. If you hold the door open longer than 30 seconds, an alarm will sound.

Interior Technology Classrooms

Interior technology classrooms currently have flat, black card readers with an indicator light in the upper, left-hand corner. The readers are mounted to either the right or left of the outside of the door. The card reader must be used when you enter or secure the classroom.

- To enter a classroom, present your card to the reader. The door should remain closed, however it will remain unlocked to allow people to enter/exit freely.
- When leaving the room, you must close all doors and present your card to the reader again. The reader will beep and you will see the light change from green to red. The light will stay red, this means the door is secure and ready for use by the next instructor.

Multi-Station Technology Classrooms

To enter the classroom, present your card to the reader and immediately enter your 4-digit PIN. (Helpful hint: Hold your card in one hand and enter your PIN with the other.) You must open the door immediately after entering your PIN. The alarm will be deactivated and the door will remain unlocked.

To secure the classroom, make sure all doors are closed. Present your card to the reader and immediately enter your 4-digit PIN. The door will re-lock and the alarm will be re-set.

What to Do If Your Card Is Rejected

First, confirm that you have access to the room, 837-9311. If you know you have access to the room, but the door did not unlock/lock as expected, wait 15 seconds and then try again. If you attempt to use your card in quick succession, you will always be denied access, the system needs time to re-set before accepting a new entry.

What to Do If an Alarm Sounds

If an alarm sounds, present your card to the reader to silence the local alarm. The police are notified immediately upon an alarm activation. Please stay in the area, an officer will respond.

If you have any questions, please contact the WESTCONNECT Office at 837-9311.

Parking Permits (WCSU Police Department Parking Office)

All full-time and part-time employees who park a motor vehicle on university property must obtain and display a permit.

Parking permits are now available from the WCSU Police Department Parking Office located at the Westside Classroom Building, Room 247D, Telephone: 203-837-3289, Fax: 203-837-3290. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Permits for full-time faculty and staff do not have an expiration date. Adjunct faculty, part-time staff and all contract employees will receive permits that expire at the end of each semester. The permits will be sent to your department secretary via interoffice mail prior to the start of each semester. Upon termination of employment with the university, the permit will be required to be turned in to the parking office or the police department.

Please check the website at www.wcsu.edu/parking for the most up-to-date information. If you forget your hangtag, you must call the Police Department or Parking Office immediately with the license plate number and make/model of your vehicle. If you lose your hangtag, you must call the parking office as soon as possible with your Banner Identification number to obtain a replacement. Any vehicle parked in a faculty/staff parking lot without a valid university hangtag will be ticketed.

Classroom Technology and E-Learning

Nearly all classrooms throughout the Midtown and Westside campuses are equipped with instructor computers, projectors and wired/wireless Internet access, with the exception of a few rooms in which implementation of such equipment is impossible.

Over two dozen classrooms are also equipped with student computer stations, including discipline-specific computer labs which support programs in Art, Music, Theatre, Journalism, Writing, Communication, Mathematics, Biology, Education, MIS and Nursing.

Western uses Blackboard Learn for course management, providing a state-of-the-art teaching and learning environment that allows faculty to supplement their on-ground course with on-line components.

Guidelines and Policies for Computer Use

Information Technology & Innovation offers computing services on various computer systems at no charge to all members of the University community (i.e., faculty, students, and staff). The following delineates the current policies on software ownership, software copying, and gaining access to the computer facilities as well as a set of guidelines and responsibilities for the users of these resources.

The general principles underlying these policies and guidelines are that the computing facilities are a resource made available to the WCSU community for educational and research purposes. Users must assume responsibility for trying to minimize costs and be responsible in their use of these facilities.

The guidelines are not intended to be an exhaustive list of rules. Rather, these guidelines establish the spirit in which the facilities should be used.

WCSU Computer Policy

I. General Policies

- A. Software Ownership
- B. (This section represents policy adopted in February, 1985 along with January, 1987 revisions by the board of Governors for Higher Education.)
 - 1. Software Conversion. It shall be the policy of the state system of higher education that the end product of any work done by a student from any of the state's public colleges or universities to convert, modify or update state-owned software shall be owned by the state.
 - 2. Software Creation (state-owned). If a student from any college or university, receives monetary remuneration from the state for creating software, including source code and/or documentation, it shall belong to the state.
 - 3. Software Creation (student-owned and state-licensed). Software belongs to the student but shall be licensed gratis to the state for use/or modification under the following conditions:
 - a. The state, at the inception of the project, informs the student in writing of the state's intention to use the software; and/or
 - b. The student uses state computer resources to create software. The State shall not have any other rights to such software.
 - 4. Software Creation (student-owned). Any software developed by a student, unless it is covered under policy statements 1, 2, or 3 above, or is produced under the provisions of a grant or an agreement with an outside funding agent, is owned by the student.

5. Software Copying. Each constituent unit in the state system of higher education shall have policies in place regarding the use and copying of software and/or documentation to protect against lawsuits by vendors.

C. Software Copying.

1. All software and manuals are copyright protected by the software vendor. Any user attempting to copy the software shall be subject to prosecution by the software vendor.
2. Any person who has been authorized to use the computing resources shall be expected to regard all copyrighted or proprietary information which may thereby become available to him/her as confidential, unless he/she obtains from the appropriate person written permission to copy, modify, or otherwise use any part of it.
3. Users shall not copy system files nor shall they attempt to access or modify such files or software components or computer management programs and data, except for specifically approved purposes.

II. General Guidelines

- A. The computer facilities are available for academic university work only. No commercial work is allowed.
- B. A user's programs and data should be treated as his/her private property. Users must not attempt to access or make use of any other user's programs or data without the permission of the user concerned.
- C. The granting of access to Western's computer systems presupposes that the user is knowledgeable in the use of the existing computer facilities. Users should realize that the Computer Center Staff is limited in the amount of time they can spend assisting them with extensive problems.
- D. Printer output represents very real, measurable costs to the Computer Center. Users should be careful to avoid wasting these resources.
- E. Responsibility for a computer account belongs to the person to whom the account was issued (the account owner). No account owner shall furnish any other person(s) with the password to their account. Unless otherwise authorized by the Executive Officer for Information Technology, only the person to whom an account was issued should be using the account.
- F. Any computer user who knowingly or continually violates the policies governing the use of accounts, equipment and resources will have his/her account withdrawn and such misuse may result in disciplinary and/or legal action.

III. Account Policies & Guidelines.

- A. Policies.
 1. For classification purposes, there shall be two types of accounts available to members of the WCSU community.
 - a. Student Accounts.

- b. Students must request accounts from the Computer Center. Requests must be made in person.
 - c. A Faculty Account.
 - d. Faculty members must request accounts from the Computer Center. Requests must be submitted, in writing, to the Director of Information Technology or Technology Service Manager. Applications must be filed a week in advance. A written response will be forwarded to the applicant.
 - B. Guidelines.
 - 1. Users have the right to expect that their work will remain secure and private. The Computer Center cannot readily determine if the use of an account by another individual is appropriate, so users should only use their own accounts. Account owners can assist in assuring privacy of their work by using a password that is not obviously a nickname or initials.
 - 2. The Computer Center reserves the right to access users' data and programs for appropriate management purposes (e.g., making back up copies and to ensure system integrity).
- IV. Microcomputer Policies & Guidelines
- A. Policies
 - B. Any person that has been issued a valid WCSU identification card is authorized to use the WCSU computer facilities.

CSU Computer Policy-Student

Connecticut State University System Policy Statement on Student Use of University Computer Systems and Networks

University computer systems and networks are provided for student use as a part of the University academic program. Students are encouraged to become proficient in the use of computers as a means of enhancing their educational experience. However, widespread student use also necessitates certain rules of computer conduct. Computer misconduct can result in restrictions on or revocation of computer access privileges.

University computer systems and networks constitute an expensive and valuable resource. The capacity of this resource to fulfill all the legitimate academic and administrative needs of students, faculty, and staff is limited.

Student users have a responsibility to use University computer resources in an efficient, ethical, and lawful manner.

The University has a right and a duty to protect its valuable computer resources and to restrict student access to uses that are strictly related to the students' university related programs as well as reasonably limited in time. The University reserves the right to define unauthorized student uses.

The Chief Computer Administrator or designee(s) at each University in the CSU System and at the System Office may monitor student user accounts, files and/or log-in sessions for appropriate management purposes. Such purposes include but are not limited to performing archival and recovery procedures, evaluating system performance, and ensuring system integrity and security.

Upon identifying a violation of the policy which constitutes an immediate, clear danger to the University computer systems or networks the Chief Computer Administrator or designee(s) at each University and in the System Office may immediately limit or suspend a student's access to University computer resources with immediate notification of charges and actions to the appropriate Chief Student Affairs Administrator or designee(s). This emergency suspension of computer use will then follow the student judicial procedures for "Interim Suspension" as provided in the CSU Student Rights and Responsibilities and Judicial Procedures document.

Violations of University computer policy which do not constitute an immediate, clear danger to the University computer systems or networks will be referred to the regular student disciplinary process.

- I. Student computer offenses, which are included as number 25 in the Appendix of Punishable Offenses in the CSU Student Rights and Responsibilities and Judicial Procedures document are as follows:
 - A. Unauthorized use of University computers and/or peripheral systems and networks;
 - B. Unauthorized access to University computer programs or files;
 - C. Unauthorized alteration or duplication of University computer programs or files;
 - D. Any deliberate action to disrupt the operation of University computer systems which serve other members of the University community, including all networks to which University computers are connected;
 - E. Use of University computer systems and networks for committing crimes, violating civil laws, or violating University rules
- II. UNAUTHORIZED USES for students include but are not limited to the following:
 - A. Computer games which are not assigned course work;
 - B. Development or transmitting of chain letters;
 - C. Entering or transmitting of commercial advertisements or solicitations;
 - D. Entering or transmitting of political campaign material relating to elections to be held outside the University;
 - E. Entering or transmitting of obscene material;
 - F. Sexual harassment or other forms of harassment aimed at others or otherwise threatening others;
 - G. Sharing one's own computer account with others or using another person's accounts;
 - H. Violation of copyright laws or using or copying software in ways that violate the terms of the license;
 - I. Entering or transmitting computer viruses or any form of intentionally destructive programs;
 - J. Intentional disruption of network services;
 - K. Connecting any device to the network without permission;
 - L. Copying, modifying, replacing, or deleting any other user's account or any software used for system management;

- M. Harming University computer equipment;
- N. Uses which violate rules developed at each University which are necessitated by facilities limitations or other circumstances unique to each University.

CSU Electronic Monitoring Policy

Electronic Monitoring Notice

The Connecticut State University System deems it necessary and advisable and in the best interest of the university communities of Eastern, Central, Southern and Western Connecticut State Universities and the System Office, to again raise awareness and re-emphasize legal considerations concerning information technology devices in use throughout the system.

There are several information technology devices in use in the CSU System. These devices are the property of the State of Connecticut and use thereof by the user is restricted to the performance of official State business or activities approved through the collective bargaining process. Information related to usage and utilization of these devices and the overall CSU technological environment is constantly being collected.

The Connecticut State University System information technology infrastructure includes a telephone system, a communications network, Internet access, computer servers and computer workstations. Information related to the usage of this infrastructure is collected and logged. All users of these devices are hereby advised and notified that these devices produce data and reports related to information stored, sent and retrieved for the purposes of recording usage and utilization. While system personnel do not review the contents of this material except when necessary in the course of the discharge of official duties and as permitted by law, each user should know and is hereby notified that all such information is subject to subpoena, discovery, the Connecticut Freedom of Information Act and such other disclosure processes as may be authorized by law.

This notice is issued pursuant to the provisions of Public Act 98-142.

Request for a Faculty Computer Account

All University accounts (Windows, Banner, etc.) and access to university managed computer systems and administrative applications may be obtained by contacting Information Technology & Innovation at 203-837-8467 or by sending an e-mail RequestIT@wcsu.edu.

Software and Hardware Request Form

Requests for software and hardware are typically funded through the academic department, grant funds, and/or by request through the appropriate school technology committee to the Information Technology Committee (ITC).

Hardware and software purchases from departmental or grant funds must be reviewed by the Chief Information Officer and/or his/her designee. Information Technology & Innovation should be consulted for hardware and software purchases as well as special pricing that may be available to the university.

For information on how hardware and software requests to the ITC are processed, please consult the technology committee for the appropriate school. For the types of funding available, please consult the Information Technology Committee Bylaws found in this document.

Inventory/Property Policies and Procedures

The care and safeguarding of all Western Connecticut State University property is the responsibility of every member of the University. The following policies are mandated by the State and administered by WCSU's Property Management Office.

Inventory that is tagged with a bar-coded inventory label is maintained on The University's inventory system. Departments are responsible for the property that is assigned to that department. Departments are required to report any changes of location in property in their department, including artwork. It is recommended that a department liaison be established to provide a point of contact for the Property Management Office.

A full physical inventory of the University will be performed at least once per year. The results of the inventory will be reconciled at the department level and reported to the offices of the President and Vice President, State Comptroller and the Auditors of Public Accounts.

Disposal of Surplus Property, Obsolete/Nonfunctional Equipment

The disposal of surplus property must be authorized by the property control office and be properly recorded in the inventory system. The Property Management Office will arrange all disposal options for equipment that is no longer of use to departments.

Please submit and request in writing or via e-mail to the Property Management Office indicating barcode number and description of the item to be removed from your department and Reason for removal. The department head will be issued a Request for Disposition Form to be signed and returned to the Property Management Office before property can be removed from the department.

Used office furniture and some other surplus items may be requested through the Property Management Office.

Theft, Vandalism or Damage of Property/Funds

The Department Head, loan holder or department property liaison shall report all lost or damaged property immediately to the University Police and Property Management.

Relocation of Property/Equipment

The relocation or transfer of property must be reported to the Property Management Office via interdepartmental mail or e-mail. This must include barcode number and description of the item. If no barcode is found a serial number must be recorded.

To a different building/room--list the new building/room location. To a different department--list new department, building and room.

Relocation, Trade -Ins and Returns of Property/Equipment Under Warranty Etc.

The relocation or transfer of property must be reported to the Property Management Office via interdepartmental mail or e-mail. This must include barcode number and description of the item. If no barcode is found a serial number must be recorded.

To a different building/room--list the new building/room location. To a different department--list new department, building and room. When property is traded in, returned or replaced by a vendor, both the purchasing department and Property Management Office must be notified. Included in the notification must be barcode, description and purchase order number.

Report changes immediately so property records can be updated to meet State Requirements

Equipment on Loan Policy

Equipment owned by the State may be removed from its assigned location only with prior written permission from the appropriate agency head. State equipment is not intended to be used for personal reasons. Loan permission is to be granted only in order to conduct State business.

The equipment may be loaned if the agency head is convinced that the removal of such equipment will not:

1. Interfere with the normal operation of the agency
2. Cause unreasonable wear and tear on the equipment
3. Cause expense to be incurred by the agency
4. Provide for profit-making activities

It is necessary to have control over equipment that leaves State premises. An individual who has been authorized to use State equipment on loan must sign the "Record of Equipment on Loan Form"--WCSU-EOL-1. The individual will be responsible for theft or other cause and/or any damage to the equipment. They will provide due care and security for the equipment until it is returned to the agency. In the event of a theft, it must be reported immediately to The Police Department and Property Management Office. It will be necessary to provide a Police report to Property Management Office.

The WCSU EOL-1 form must be completed in triplicate. One copy is retained by the department loaning the equipment, one copy is to be sent to the Property Management Office and the final copy should be given to the individual authorized to use the equipment.

Equipment on Loan forms must be renewed no more than one year from date of issue or the equipment must be returned to the loaning department. It is WCSU policy that all laptops issued to faculty and staff have an Equipment on Loan Form issued for it.

Property management along with the issuing department should maintain a logbook to hold the forms. If the equipment has not been returned/renewed by the expected date indicated, procedures shall include making direct contact by letter or phone on a weekly basis with the individual until the equipment is returned. Equipment should not be loaned for extended periods of time and all equipment should be returned to the agency during the annual physical inventory.

For questions, please contact Kevin Koschel, Property Manager at 7-3933.

Policy Statement on Photocopying of Copyrighted Materials for Classroom and Research Use

Faculty members should be aware of the legal limitations on duplicating copyrighted materials for research and classroom use. The Western Connecticut State University policy follows, and compliance is expected.

I. The Copyright Act and Photocopying

From time to time, the faculty and staff of this University may use photocopied materials to supplement research and teaching. In many cases, photocopying can facilitate the University's mission; that is, the development and transmission of information. However, the photocopying of copyrighted materials is a right granted under the copyright law's doctrine of "fair use" which must not be abused. This report will explain the University's policy concerning the photocopying of copyrighted materials by faculty and library staff. Please note that this policy does not address other library photocopying which may be permitted under other sections of the copyright law, e.g., 17 U.S.C. par. 108.

Copyright is a constitutionally conceived property right, which is designed to promote the progress of science and the useful arts by securing for an author the benefits of his or her original work of authorship for a limited time. (U.S. Constitution, Art. 1, Sec. 8.) The Copyright statute, 17

U.S.C. par 101, et seq., implements this policy by balancing the author's interest against the public interest in the dissemination of information affecting areas of universal concern such as art, science, history, and business. The grand design of this delicate balance is to foster the creation and dissemination of intellectual works for the general public.

The Copyright Act defines the rights of a copyright holder and how they may be enforced against an infringer. Included within the Copyright Act is the "fair use" doctrine, which allows, under certain conditions, the copying of copyrighted material. While the Act lists general factors under the heading of "fair use", it provides little in the way of specific directions for what constitutes fair use. The law states:

U.S.C. par. 107, Limitations on exclusive rights: Fair use. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 106, the fair use of a copyrighted work, including such use by reproduction in copies or phono-records or by any other means specified by that section, for purposes such as criticism, comment, new reporting, teaching (including multiple copies for classroom use), scholarship, or research is not an infringement of copyright. In determining whether the use made of a work in any particular case is a fair use, the factors to be considered shall include:

1. Purpose and character of the use, including whether such use is of a commercial nature or is for nonprofit educational purposes.
2. Nature of the copyrighted work.
3. Amount and substantiality of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole.
4. Effect of the use upon the potential market for or value of the copyrighted work.

The purpose of this report is to provide you, the faculty and staff of this University, with an explanation of when the photocopying of copyrighted material in our opinion is permitted under the fair use doctrine. Where possible, common examples of research, classroom, and library reserve photocopying have been included to illustrate what we believe to be the reach and limits of fair use.

Please note that the copyright law applies to all forms of photocopying, whether it is undertaken at a commercial copying center, at the University's central or departmental copying facilities, or at a self-service machine. While you are free to use the services of a commercial establishment, you should be prepared to provide documentation of permission from the publisher (if such permission is necessary under this policy), since many commercial copiers will require such proof.

We hope this report will give you an appreciation of the factors, which weigh in favor of fair use and those factors, which weigh against fair use, but faculty members must determine for themselves which works will be photocopied. This University does not condone a policy of photocopying instead of purchasing copyrighted works where such photocopying would constitute an infringement under the copyright law, but it does encourage faculty members to exercise good judgment in serving the best interests of students in an efficient manner. This University and its faculty and staff will make a conscientious effort to comply with these guidelines.

Instructions for securing permission to photocopy copyrighted works when such copying is beyond the limits of fair use appear at the end of this report. It is the policy of this University that the user (faculty, staff, or librarian) secure such permission whenever it is legally necessary.

II. Unrestricted Photocopying

A. Un-copyrighted Published Works

Writings published before January 1, 1978, which have been copyrighted may be photocopied without restriction. Copies of works protected by copyright must bear a copyright notice, which consists of the letter "c" in a circle, or the word "Copyright" or the abbreviation "Copr." plus a year of first publication, plus the name of the copyright owner (17 U.S.C. par. 401). As to works published before January 1, 1978, in the case of a book, the notice must be placed on the title page of the reverse side of the title page. In the case of a periodical, the notice must be placed either on the title page, the first page of text, or in the masthead. A pre-1978 failure to comply with the notice requirements resulted in the work being injected into the public domain, i.e., unprotected. Copyright notice requirements have been relaxed since 1978 so that the absence of notice on copies of a work published after January 1, 1978, does not necessarily mean the work is in the public domain (17 U.S.C. par 405 [a] and [c]). However, you will not be liable for damages for copyright infringement of works published after that date, if after normal inspection, you photocopy a work on which you cannot find a copyright symbol and you have not received actual notice of the fact the work is copyrighted (17 U.S.C. par. 405 [b]). However, a copyright owner who found out about your photocopying would have the right to prevent further distribution of the copies if in fact the work were copyrighted and the copies infringing (17 U.S.C. par. 405 [b]).

B. Published Works with Expired Copyrights

Writings with expired copyrights may be photocopied without restriction. All prior to 1906 have expired. (17 U.S.C. par. 304 [b]). Copyrights granted after 1906 may have been renewed; however, the writing will probably not contain notice of the renewal. Therefore, it should be assumed all writings dated 1906 or later are covered by a valid copyright, unless information to the contrary is obtained from the owner or the U.S. Copyright Office (see Copyright Office Circular 15t).

Copyright Office Circular R22 explains how to investigate the copyright status of a work. One way is to use the Catalog of Copyright Entries published by the Copyright Office and available in six Connecticut libraries. Alternatively, you may request the Copyright Office to conduct a search of its registration and/or assignment records. The Office charges an hourly fee for this service. You will need to submit as much information as you have concerning the work in which you are interested, such as the title, author, approximate date of publication, the type of work or any available copyright data. The Copyright Office does caution that its searches are not conclusive; for instance, if a work obtained a copyright less than 28 years ago, it may be fully protected although there has been no registration or deposit.

C. Unpublished Works

Unpublished works, such as theses and dissertations, may be protected by a copyright. If such a work was created before January 1, 1978, and has not been copyrighted or published without copyright notice, the work is protected under the new Act for the life of the author plus fifty years, 17 U.S.C. par. 303, but in no case earlier than December 31, 2001. If such a work is published on or before that date, the copyright will not expire before December 31, 2027. Works created after January 1, 1978, and not published enjoy copyright protection for the life of the author plus fifty years (17 U.S.C. par. 302).

D. U.S. Government Publications

All U.S. Government publications with the possible exception of some National Technical Information Service Publications less than 5 years old may be photocopied without restrictions, except to the extent that they contain copyrighted materials from other sources. 17 U.S.C. par. 105. U.S. Government publications are documents prepared by an official or employee of the government in an official capacity. 17 U.S.C. par. 101. Government publications include the opinions of courts in legal cases, Congressional Reports on proposed bills, testimony offered at Congressional hearings and the works of government employees in their official capacities. Works prepared by outside authors on contract to the government may or may not be protected by copyright, depending on the specifics of the contract. In the absence of copyright notice on such works, it would be reasonable to assume they are government works in the public domain. It should be noted that state government works may be protected by copyright. (See, 17 U.S.C. par.105.) However, the opinions of state courts are not protected.

III. Permissible Photocopying of Copyrighted Works

The Copyright Act allows anyone to photocopy copyrighted works without securing permission from the copyright owner when the photocopying amounts to a "fair use" of the material (17 U.S.C. par. 107). The guidelines in this report discuss the boundaries for fair use of photocopied material used in research or the classroom or in a library reserve operation. Fair use cannot always be expressed in numbers – either the number of pages copied or the number of copies distributed.

Therefore, you should weigh the various factors listed in the Act and judge whether the intended use of photocopied, copyrighted material is within the spirit of the fair use doctrine. Any serious questions concerning whether a particular photocopying constitutes fair use should be directed to the University Library Director.

A. Research Uses

At the very least, instructors may make a single copy of any of the following for scholarly research or use in teaching or preparing to teach a class.

1. Chapter from a book.
2. Article from a periodical or newspaper.
3. Short story, short essay, or short poem, whether or not from a collective work.
4. Chart, diagram, graph, drawing, cartoon or picture from a book, periodical, or newspaper.

These examples reflect the most conservative guidelines for fair use. They do not represent inviolate ceilings for the amount of copyrighted materials which can be photocopied within the boundaries of fair use. When exceeding these minimum levels, however, you again should consider the four factors listed in Section 107 of the Copyright Act to make sure that any additional photocopying is justified. The following demonstrate situations where increased levels of photocopying would continue to remain within the ambit of fair use.

1. Inability to obtain another copy of the work because it is not available from another library or source or cannot be obtained within your time constraints.
2. Intention to photocopy the material only once and not to distribute the material to others.
3. Ability to keep the amount of material photocopied within a reasonable proportion to the entire work (the larger the work, the greater amount of material which may be photocopied).
4. Most single-copy photocopying for your personal use in research--even when it involves a substantial portion of a work--may well constitute fair use.

B. Classroom Uses

Primary and secondary school educators have, with publishers, developed the following guidelines, which allow a teacher to distribute photocopied material to students in a class without the publisher's prior permission, under the following conditions.

1. Distribution of the same photocopied material does not occur every semester.
2. Only one copy is distributed for each student, which copy must become the student's property.
3. The material includes a copyright notice on the first page of the portion of material photocopied.
4. The students are not assessed any fee beyond the actual cost of the photocopying.

In addition, the educators agreed that the amount of material distributed should not exceed certain brevity standards. Under those guidelines, a prose work may be reproduced in its entirety if it is less than 2500 words in length.

If the work exceeds such length, the excerpt reproduced may not exceed 1000 words, or 10% of the work, whichever is less. In the case of poetry, 250 words is the maximum permitted.

These minimum standards normally would not be realistic in the University setting. Faculty members needing to exceed these limits for college education should not feel hampered by these guidelines, although they should attempt a "selective and sparing" use of photocopied, copyrighted material.

The photocopying practices of an instructor should not have a significant detrimental impact on the market for the copyrighted work. 17 U.S.C. par. 107(4). To guard against this effect, you should restrict use of an item of photocopied material to one course and you should not repeatedly photocopy excerpts from one periodical or author without the permission of the copyright owner.

C. Library Reserve Uses

At the request of a faculty member, a library may photocopy and place on reserve excerpts from copyrighted works in its collection in accordance with guidelines similar to those governing formal classroom distribution for face-to-face teaching discussed above. This University believes that these guidelines apply to the library reserve shelf to the extent it functions as an extension of classroom readings or reflects an individual student's right to photocopy for his personal scholastic use under the doctrine of fair use. In general, librarians may photocopy materials for reserve room use for the convenience of students both in preparing class assignments and in pursuing informal educational activities which higher education require, such as advanced independent study and research.

If the request calls for only one copy to be placed on reserve, an entire article may be photocopied, or an entire chapter from a book, or an entire poem. Request for multiple copies on reserve should meet the following guidelines.

1. The amount of material should be reasonable in relation to the total amount of material assigned for one term of a course taking into account the nature of the course, its subject matter and level, 17 U.S.C. par. 107(1) and (3).
2. The number of copies should be reasonable in light of the number of students enrolled, the difficulty and timing of assignments, and the number of other courses which may assign the same material, 17 U.S.C. par. 107 (1) and (3).
3. The material should contain a notice of copyright, see, 17 U.S.C. par. 401.
4. The effect of photocopying the material should not be detrimental to the market for the work. (In general, the library should own at least one copy of the work (17 U.S.C. par. 107[4])).

For example, a professor may place on reserve as a supplement to the course textbook a reasonable number of copies of articles from academic journals or chapters from trade books. A reasonable number of copies will in most instances be less than six, but, factors such as the length or difficulty of the assignment, the number of enrolled students and the length of time allowed for completion of the assignment may permit more in unusual circumstances.

In addition, a faculty member may also request that multiple copies of photocopied, copyrighted material be placed on the reserve shelf if there is insufficient time to obtain permission from the copyright owner. For example, a professor may place on reserve several photocopies of an entire article from a recent issue of Time magazine or the New York Times in lieu of distributing a copy to each member of the class. If you are in doubt as to whether a particular instance of photocopying is fair use in the reserve reading room, you should seek the publisher's permission. Most publishers will be cooperative and waive the fee for such a use.

D. Uses of Photocopies Material Requiring Permission

1. Repetitive copying: The classroom or reserve use of photocopied materials in multiple courses or successive years will normally require advance permission from the owner of copyright (17 U.S.C. par. 107[3]).
2. Copying for profit: Faculty should not charge students more than the actual cost of photocopying the material (17 U.S.C. par. 107[1]).
3. Consumable works: The duplication of works that are consumed in the classroom, such as standardized tests, exercises, and workbooks, normally requires permission from the copyright owner (17 U.S.C. par. 107[4]).
4. Creation of anthologies as basic text material for a course: Creation of a collective work on anthology by photocopying a number of copyrighted articles and excerpts to be purchased and used together as the basic text for a course will in most instances require the permission of the copyright owners. Such photocopying is more likely to be considered as a substitute for purchase of a book and thus less likely to be deemed fair use (17 U.S.C. par. 107[4]).

E. How to Obtain Permission of Copyright Owner

When a use of photocopied material requires that you request permission, you should communicate complete and accurate information to the copyright owner. The American Association of Publishers suggests that the following information be included in a permission request letter in order to expedite the process:

1. Title, author and/or editor, and edition of materials to be duplicated.
2. Exact material to be used, giving amount, page numbers, chapters and, if possible, a photocopy of the material.
3. Number of copies to be made.
4. Use to be made of duplicated materials.
5. Form of distribution (classroom, newsletter, etc.).
6. Whether or not the material is to be sold. Type of reprint (ditto, photography, offset, typeset).
7. Type of reprint (ditto, photography, offset, typeset).

The request should be sent, together with a self-addressed return envelope, to the permissions department of the publisher in question. If the address of the publisher does not appear at the front of the material, it may be readily obtained in a publication entitled The Literary Marketplace, published by the R.R. Bowker Company, and available in all libraries.

The process of granting permission requires time for the publisher to check the status of the copyright and to evaluate the nature of the request. It is advisable, therefore, to allow enough lead time to obtain permission before the materials are needed. In some instances, the publisher may assess a fee for the permission. It is not inappropriate to pass this fee on to the students who receive copies of the photocopied material.

The Copyright Clearance Center also has the right to grant permission and collect fees for photocopying rights for certain publications. Libraries may copy from any journal which is registered with the CCC and report the copying beyond fair use to CCC and pay the set fee. A list of publications for which the CCC handles fees and permissions is available from the CCC, 310 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10017.

F. Infringement

Courts and legal scholars alike have commented that the fair use provisions in the Copyright Act are among the most vague and difficult that can be found anywhere in the law. In amending the Copyright Act in 1976, Congress anticipated the problem this would pose for users of copyrighted materials who wished to stay under the umbrella of protection offered by fair use. For this reason, the Copyright Act contains specific provisions which grant additional rights to libraries and insulate employees of a non-profit educational institution, library, or archives from statutory damages for infringement where the infringer believed or had reasonable grounds to believe the photocopying was a fair use of the material (17 U.S.C. par. 504 [c] [2]).

Normally, an infringer is liable to the copyright owner for the actual losses sustained because of the photocopying and any additional profits of the infringer (17 U.S.C par. 504[a][1] and [b]). Where the monetary losses are nominal, the copyright owner usually will claim statutory damages instead of the actual losses (17 U.S.C. par. 504 [a][2] and [c]). The statutory damages may reach as high as $10,000 (or up to $50,000 if the infringement is willful). In addition to suing for money damages, a copyright owner can usually prevent future infringement through a court injunction (17 U.S.C. par. 502).

The Copyright Act specifically exempts from statutory damages any employee of a non-profit educational institution, library, or archives, who "believed and had reasonable grounds for believing that his or her use of the copyrighted work was a fair use under Section 107" (17 U.S.C. par. 504[c] [2]). While the fair use provisions are admittedly ambiguous, any employee who attempts to stay within the guidelines contained in this report should have an adequate good faith defense in the case of an innocently committed infringement.

If the criteria contained in this report are followed, it is our view that no copyright infringement will occur and that there will be no adverse effect on the market for copyrighted works.

Library Information and Procedures

Ruth A. Haas Library (Midtown) and Robert S. Young Library (Westside)

I. Faculty Use of the Library

- A. A current Western Connecticut State University I.D. Or other photo I.D. must be presented to check out circulating library materials.
- B. All circulating books may be borrowed for an entire semester. These items may be renewed by telephone, online, or at the circulation desk. Long-term use of circulating materials should be discussed with the Access Services Librarian at the Haas Library (203-837-9102), with the Circulation Desk Supervisor on duty at the Haas Library, or with the Business Librarian at the Young Library (203-837-9138).
- C. Videos, CDs and DVDs circulate for two weeks, with limited renewals. All DVD material is also available in streaming format on the university media server. There are no overdue fines charged for any WCSU Library circulating material.
- D. Arrangements for faculty use of non-circulating material (such as periodicals, reference books, government documents, archives, special collections, etc.) should be discussed with the librarian responsible for those materials.
- E. Intra-Library Loan Requests facilitate borrowing library materials from the other CSCU libraries. These are initiated by using the "Request" feature in WestSearch. Faculty use their Windows account authentication to complete the request. Books are held at the circulation desk at either library for pick up for seven days.
- F. Faculty may make arrangements in advance for access to the libraries during non-scheduled periods by calling the Access Services Librarian (203-837-9102) at the Haas Library or the Business Librarian (203-837-9138) at the Young Library.

II. Reserved Materials for Course Use

- A. Materials to be put on reserve must be listed on "Reserve Request" forms that are available on the Library's homepage and also at the Circulation desks at both libraries. Please indicate the category of in-house reserve materials:
 - 1. Closed Reserve (to be used in the library)
 - 2. Overnight Reserve (to be used in the library or to be signed out one hour before the library closes and returned within one hour after the library opens the following day)
 - 3. 3-Day Reserve (to be checked out for a 3-day period)
 - 4. 7-Day Reserve (to be checked out for a 7-day period)
- B. Faculty should place all materials on reserve at least two weeks before the items are needed to allow staff the time needed to process the materials. Whenever possible, reserve requests should be submitted well in advance of the beginning of the semester.
- C. Materials will remain on reserve for one semester only, unless other arrangements are made.

- D. Arrangements to place periodicals, reference titles, and government documents on reserve should be discussed with the librarian responsible for those materials. Faculty may copy journal articles and place them on reserve, or link to full-text articles available electronically through Blackboard. Due to copyright restrictions, however, only one photocopy of a journal article or book chapter will be placed on reserve without permission of the copyright owner. (See "Western Connecticut State University Policy on the use of Copyrighted Material".)
- E. Faculty-owned items may be placed in the Reserve Collection. All materials placed on reserve should be brought to the Circulation/Reserve area two weeks prior to the beginning of the semester. Personal copies must be retrieved at the end of each semester.
- F. Faculty are asked to inform their students of procedures to obtain reserve items. Students must be currently enrolled to use reserve items and must present their WCSU I.D. card or other photo I.D. at the Haas or RSYL Circulation desk to check out the items. Both Library owned materials and Faculty owned materials are listed on WestSearch by instructor and course.

III. Liaison Program

- A. The faculty of each department are assigned a librarian who acts as their liaison to facilitate the ordering of resources, provide library services; and generally to establish an ongoing partnership with teaching faculty and enhance faculty-library communication. A current list of liaisons is available on the library's website.

IV. Requesting Materials to Be Added To The Library's Collection

- A. Requests for printed books, e-books, and other library materials should be submitted to the library liaison assigned to each academic department. To expedite ordering, as much information as possible should be given e.g., the author's full name, complete title, publisher, date of publication and price (if known.) Requests may be sent by campus mail or e-mail.

V. Interlibrary Loan (ILL) And the ILLiad System

- A. Items found in the WestSearch online catalog, but located at another CSCU library or the state library, may be requested directly online from the owning library. If a needed item is not found within the CSCU library system, our auxiliary interlibrary loan service—ILLiad—should be used.
- B. First time users may register for ILLiad from the library web page. Once established, an ILLiad account is used to place orders for all articles, and books that are not available in the CSCU system. A link to ILLiad is available from within most of the library's online databases by clicking on "Request interlibrary loan" under availability options.
- C. The average time it takes to receive a book requested through ILLiad is 7-10 days. Articles requested and received over the internet will usually arrive in just a few days and can be delivered electronically to the requester's ILLiad account. A notification of arrival is sent by email to the requester which contains a link to his/her ILLiad account and the article itself.
- D. Other information about ILL is available from the Library's homepage or at the Reference and Circulation desks at both the Haas and Young Libraries.

VI. Digital Repository

- A. The library hosts a digital repository, WestCollections, which showcases the intellectual output of the university community at <http://repository.wcsu.edu>. Faculty may submit scholarly work such as journal articles, working papers, book reviews, books and/or book chapters, conference or other professional/academic presentations, technical papers, educational materials, images, and video/audio files. Students may submit dissertations and theses, capstone projects, and other faculty approved research. Further information may be obtained about WestCollections from the Public Services Librarian (203-837-9141).

VII. Reference & Electronic Database Search Services

- A. Reference librarians are available to assist and instruct users in identifying and obtaining appropriate information. Access to over one hundred electronic databases and the Internet is available from the Library's homepage. Wireless access is available throughout the libraries.

VIII. Library Instruction

- A. The library faculty welcomes requests for class instruction designed to help students understand how to research specific topics through the use of Library resources and materials. Presentations utilize a variety of print and electronic sources of information. Each class is tailored to the specific needs of the faculty member's assignment. Sessions are conducted by the department's library liaison and may be held in the faculty member's classroom or in one of the libraries' classrooms. Hands-on practice in a computer-equipped laboratory setting is available upon request. Scheduling is on a first-come-first-served basis. The Library faculty asks that classroom faculty request library instruction at least two weeks in advance of the proposed date of instruction.

IX. Collections

- A. Online databases, indexes and reference sources are available via any networked computer on campus or the internet. You gain access to restricted databases by entering your windows account information.
- B. Collections serving Management, Marketing, Management Information Systems, Finance and Accounting are held in the Robert S. Young Business Library on the Westside campus. All other collections are housed in the Ruth Haas Library on the Midtown campus.

X. Curriculum Collection

- A. The Curriculum Collection makes available for review and analysis a current collection of high quality preK-12 instructional materials. This collection supports the education curriculum of WCSU, and serves education students & faculty, pre-and in-service teachers and the greater university community. Access and effective use are promoted through information dissemination, collection management, user education, and outreach activities.
- B. Circulating print volumes can be checked out for a period of 28 days. DVDs, VHS videos, and CDs circulate for 14 days; teaching kits can be checked out for 7 days. Reference materials such as encyclopedias are for use in the Library. Certain items, such as assessment tools and selected kits, have been placed on reserve in the Circulation Department. All circulating kits containing multiple loose parts are stored behind the Circulation Desk of Haas Library.

Event Planning

Whether it is a meeting, picnic, presentation, concert, or any other event, this office will help you properly reserve the space to best fit your needs, as well as assist you with other related requests such as maintenance and police personnel, set up, and media equipment.

Review the guidelines below before calling or stopping by, as it will assist in preparing you for any questions we may ask you. You can check the website at www.wcsu.edu and click on "News and Event Calendars" in the lower right hand corner of Western's homepage.

Then, click on "Reservations and Campus Programs" under WCSU Calendars for a listing of daily campus events. This page is updated daily and is a great way to know what's going on here at Western Connecticut State University.

I. Starting the Process

To expedite the process, the following information is needed when booking your event:

- A. The name and address of your organization, if your group is not a department or recognized organization of the University.
- B. The date(s) you would like to do your program and the alternative dates that would work for you.
- C. The time the program will occur (including setup and cleanup).
- D. The nature of the event you wish to do (dance, concert, conference, etc.)
- E. The number of people you expect to attend.
- F. The name of the person who will be in charge of the program arrangements (and on-site coordination if that is a different person). Please have their address and phone number.
- G. If you are an off campus organization, bring the name of your liability insurance company and your non-profit certification if that applies.
- H. Whether handicapped individuals need access to your event.

II. Planning Timetable

A simple meeting may take but a few minutes to arrange for, however, larger events can take considerable time. Food orders, personnel scheduling, and arranging for equipment are just some of the items that need to be done in advance in order to have your event occur. As we are committed to providing you the highest quality service, we ask that you adhere to the timetables that are established for your program. In general, these timetables are set up based on the following guidelines.

- A. To make a reservation, we must know the exact nature and scope of your program (i.e., lecture, concert, meeting, conference) and the number of people you expect. We will HOLD an available date on your behalf for 4-6 weeks prior to the event date depending on the venue.
- B. You will be sent a Room Reservation Form to be completed and returned to the University Events Office. Once the form has the appropriate approvals/signatures your event will be CONFIRMED. A copy of the approved Room Reservation Form will be sent to you with a confirmation. Your event is not confirmed until you receive it back from our office.
- C. Requests for simple meetings, by campus organizations, that do not require any extensive set up must be made at least 2 weeks in advance of the meeting.

- D. All food services for groups of 25 or more must be provided by the University dining service. You must place your food order at least 2 weeks in advance so we can coordinate deliveries.

We realize that last minute needs arise, and we will do everything we can to try to meet them for you. However, because of equipment and personnel availability, we cannot guarantee we will be able to do so. Please assist us by planning well in advance and adhering to these deadlines. With your help, we will be better able to meet your needs and have your event be the best it can be.

III. Priorities for Facility Reservations

As the University's first commitment is to the education of our students, we must make activities that are part of that mission our first priority. Off campus groups and governmental agencies are invited to use facilities once those needs are met.

Consequently, we schedule using the following priorities:

- A. Classes and other academic programs
- B. University departments and recognized organizations
- C. Off campus organizations both nonprofit and corporate

IV. General Policies to Remember

To better serve you, we ask that you adhere to the following policies related to your use of University facilities.

- A. SMOKING is NOT permitted in any facility of the University. Organizations are required to inform participants and ensure that no smoking occurs within buildings of the University. Organizations are responsible for supervising the use of the facilities they have reserved and accept liability for any damage or extensive cleaning that might result from their program. Maintenance may be required for certain high volume events. Charges may also be assessed after the event for vandalism or if excessive cleanup is required.

Guidelines¹ for Forums and Public Demonstrations²

Preamble

Western Connecticut State University is committed to providing an educational community that disseminates knowledge by means of teaching, research, and service. To fulfill these functions, a free exchange of ideas is encouraged both within its walls and between the University and the outside world. Western is committed to doing everything possible to insure the greatest degree of intellectual freedom. These rights apply to all members of the Western community. Few institutions in our society have this same vital purpose; accordingly, few assign such high priority to the freedom of expression.

Western Connecticut State University is committed to maintaining an environment where the free expression of ideas and open, vigorous debate and speech can occur. Every member of the campus community has an obligation to promote and respect free expression in the university. No member shall prevent such expression.

As a member of this academic community, your rights as a citizen are neither increased nor lessened by your status as a member of the University community. However, you do have added responsibilities. These added responsibilities include the exercise of civility and honesty and a respect for the dignity, diversity, equality and freedom of others.

The University also has the equal and simultaneous obligation to protect the rights and freedoms of protestors and also the rights of those who choose not to participate in a given protest or demonstration. The University has an obligation to protect its property and to assure continuation of the activities of students, faculty, staff and guests on campus.

The following guidelines are in accordance with the CSU Board of Trustees' Policy Resolution on Campus Freedom and Order, dated August 7, 1970.

Guidelines for Public Forums and Events

The guidelines, which apply to all public forums and events at Western Connecticut State University, are intended to protect the right of free expression and the safety and integrity of the forum in which this right is exercised.

Right to Dissent

The right to dissent is the complement of the right to speak, but a speaker is entitled to communicate a message to the audience during an allotted time, and the audience is entitled to hear the message and see the speaker during that time.

Force or Violence

Using force or violence or threatening imminent physical force or violence is prohibited.

The Audience's Responsibility

The audience, like the host and the speaker, must respect the right to dissent.

Guidelines for Demonstrations

A broad range of speech will be tolerated at Western Connecticut State University, subject to consideration of the health, welfare, and safety of all students, faculty, staff and guests and the functioning of the University.

Demonstrations may be held anywhere on campus so long as they do not unreasonably disrupt the normal operation of the University or infringe on the rights of other members of the University community.

Demonstrators shall not physically interfere with the operation of the University or the rights of others. Such actions include, but are not limited to:

- Physically obstructing or disrupting teaching, research, or administration
- Interfering with the safe operation of the residence halls
- Causing or threatening to cause, injury or harm to persons or property Obstructing vehicular, pedestrian or other traffic lanes
- Obstructing entrances or exits to buildings
- Interfering with educational, residential, theatrical performance, or co-curricular activities inside or outside any building
- Precluding a scheduled speaker from being heard
- Damaging property, including lawns, shrubs or trees
- Failing to comply with reasonable orders or directives of University officials, police, or any other law enforcement officers acting within the scope of their duties.

The University may place reasonable restraints on demonstrations with regard to time, place, and manner to protect property and person and to maintain the orderly conduct of the University.

To secure assistance in planning and obtaining university facilities to ensure that other activities are not adversely affected, and to protect the rights of all members of the University community, sponsors of demonstrations or marches are encouraged to meet with the Vice President of Student Affairs and/or the Director of Student Center/Student Life, together with the Director of the University Police Department, or designee, to discuss the details of the demonstration and/or march. During this meeting, The Vice President for Student Affairs or designee shall discuss with the organizers of the demonstration or protest the parameters of the demonstration. This will include issues of time, place, manner, including sound amplification, and arrangements for proper security to insure the rights of all members of the university community.

Senate Approved R-02-03-04Administrative Approval May 10, 2002

General Education Course Approval Application
The Committee on General Education reviews courses to insure that there is a reasonable connection between the course outline and the competency. The effectiveness of the diversity of courses representing each competency will be determined through routine assessment of student work selected by faculty teaching the course. Faculty teaching the course will determine the best approach to helping students reach the general education learning outcomes. All competency courses will be assessed on a rotating basis. Faculty teaching these courses should identify an artifact (papers, tests, video recordings, portfolios, etc.) that represents the student's ability to demonstrate the outcomes described. The form of the artifact is entirely up to the person teaching the course, but faculty teaching general education courses should be prepared to supply samples of student work when the particular competency is being assessed.

F) Pain or distress category and consideration of alternatives

Species (common name)	Category* A, B, C or D	Number of animals used each year			3-year total number of animals
		Year 1	Year 2	Year 3
Total number of animals (should equal total from Section 2):

Category A: Animals being bred, conditioned, or held for use in teaching, testing, experiments, research, or surgery, but not yet used for such purposes.

Examples: Breeding colonies (includes parents and offspring). Animals held under proper captive conditions or wild animals that are being observed.

Category B: Animals upon which teaching, research, experiments, or tests will be conducted involving no pain, distress, or use of pain-relieving drugs.

Examples: Administration of fluids, administration of oral medication, blood collection from a common peripheral vein per standard veterinary practice or catheterization of same, standard radiography, parenteral injections of non-irritating substances, restrictions of food/water intake for less than equivalent to periods of abstinence in nature. Euthanasia performed following the recommendations of the most recent AVMA Panel on Euthanasia. Manual restraint that is no longer than would be required for a simple exam.

Category C: Animals upon which experiments, teaching, research, surgery, or tests will be conducted involving accompanying pain or distress to the animals and for which appropriate anesthetic, analgesic, or tranquilizing drugs will be used.

Examples: Surgical procedures conducted by trained personnel in accordance with standard veterinary practice such as biopsies, gonadectomy, implantations. Blood collection by more invasive routes such as intracardiac or periorbital collection from species without a true orbital sinus such as rats and guinea pigs. Administration of drugs, chemicals, toxins, or organisms that would be expected to produce pain or distress but which will be alleviated by analgesics.

Category D: Animals upon which teaching, experiments, research, surgery, or tests will be conducted involving accompanying pain or distress to the animals and for which the use of appropriate anesthetic, analgesic, or tranquilizing drugs will adversely affect the procedures, results, or interpretation of the teaching, research, experiments, surgery, or tests.

Examples: Procedures producing pain or distress unrelieved by analgesics such as toxicity studies, microbial virulence testing, radiation sickness, and research on stress or pain. Surgical and postsurgical sequella from invasion of body cavities, orthopedic procedures, dentistry or other hard or soft tissue damage that produces unrelieved pain or distress. Negative conditioning via electric shocks that would cause pain in humans.

Note Regarding Category D: An explanation of the procedures producing pain or distress in these animals and the justification for not using anesthetic, analgesic or tranquilizing drugs must be provided in the text box below. For USDA (Animal Welfare Act) AWA-covered animals, this information is required to be reported to the USDA, will be available from USDA under the Freedom of Information Act.

Category D justification/explanation

G) Consideration of Alternatives.

The principal investigator must provide written assurance that the proposed activities do not unnecessarily duplicate previous experiments, and that no alternative could be found for procedures that cause more than momentary pain or distress (pain categories C or D). Alternatives include methods that (1) refine existing tests by minimizing animal distress, (2) reduce the number of animals necessary for an experiment, or (3) replace whole-animal use with in vitro or other tests, or the use of invertebrate species.

This narrative should include adequate information for the IACUC to assess that a reasonable and good faith effort was made to determine the availability of alternatives or alternative methods. Describe the methods and sources used in the search: the database used (2 or more), the date of the search (must be less than 3 months prior to the protocol submission), the time period covered by the search, and the keywords used. If the database search or other source identifies a bonafide alternative method (one that could be used to accomplish the goals of the animal use proposal), the written narrative should justify why this alternative was not used.

H) Anesthesia, analgesia, tranquilization:

For animals indicated in Section F, Category C or D, specify the anesthetics, analgesics, sedatives or tranquilizers that are to be used. Include the name of the agent(s), the dosage, route and frequency of administration. Describe tracking and security of controlled substances (DEA requirements).

Anesthesia, analgesia, tranquilization

I) Method of euthanasia or disposition of animals at end of project

What will happen to the animals at the conclusion of the experiment or demonstration? Techniques for euthanasia must follow the guidelines established by the latest report by the AVMA Panel on Euthanasia. Deviations must be justified for scientific reasons and approved by the IACUC. If euthanasia will be used, provide details: the proposed method, and if a chemical agent is used, specify the dosage and route of administration.

- ☐ Anesthetic injection overdose (state drug/dose per body weight/route of administration of drug).
- ☐ Exsanguination under anesthesia (state name/dose (per body weight)/route of administration).
- ☐ Inhalation of carbon dioxide from a compressed gas cylinder.
- ☐ Cervical dislocation
- ☐ Decapitation
- ☐ Other. Describe: _____

Note: In some animals exposed to gas, heartbeat can be maintained after visible respiration has ceased, and the animal might eventually recover. A thoracotomy or other physical method is recommended to assure death of animals after gas exposure. At minimum, check for both respiratory and cardiac arrest prior to discarding the carcass.

J) Hazardous agents in animals

Use of hazardous agents requires the approval of the institutional biosafety specialist. Registration documents for the use of recombinant DNA or potential human pathogens may be required at the discretion of the IACUC.

	YES	NO	List Agents & Registration Document # (if applicable)
Radionuclides
Biological Agents
Hazardous Chemicals or Drugs
Recombinant DNA

Project conducted at Biosafety Level:

Describe the practices and procedures required for the safe handling and disposal of contaminated animals and material associated with this project. Also describe methods for removal of radioactive waste and, if applicable, the monitoring of radioactivity, and additional safety considerations.

Hazardous agents details:

K) Biological material/animal products for use in animals (cell lines, antiserum, etc.): ___ Yes ___ No

Specify Material: _____

Source : _____ Material Sterile or Attenuated ___ Yes ___ No

If derived from rodents, has the material been MAP/RAP/HAP tested?

___ Yes (Attach copy of results) ___ No

I certify that the MAP/RAP/HAP tested materials to be used have not been passed through rodent species outside of the animal facility in question and/or the material is derived from the original MAP tested sample. To the best of my knowledge the material remains uncontaminated with rodent pathogens.

_____Initials of Principal Investigator/Project Director.

L) Transgenic and knockout animals: Describe any phenotypic consequences of the genetic manipulations to the animals. Describe any special care or monitoring that the animals will require.

M) Field studies and wild caught animals: If animals in the wild will be used, describe how they will be observed, any interactions with the animals, whether the animals will be disturbed or affected, and any special procedures anticipated. Indicate if Federal and/or state permits are required and whether they have been obtained.

N) Personnel:

List the name(s), title(s) and qualifications for each research person working with animals, and the procedures to be performed by each. Include the number of years of experience working with the species listed in Section 2. If the person needs to be trained, indicate who will do the training.
